Soviets Say Rumor Of Khrushchev Ouster 'Nonsense'

LONDON (UPI) — An obscure Austrian with some second-hand "inside information" today fired off a rumor heard round the world that Nikita S. Khrushchev had been deposed and arrested by his Stalinist enemies. Soviet officials said it was all "nonsense."

The White House heard it. Diplomats at the United Nations in New York buzzed with "have you heard" that Khrushchev had been arrested and replaced as premier by Georgi Malenkov, a Kremlin has-been.

Headlines blossomed from New York to Helsinki.

In Soviet embassies there were shouts of derisive laughter and denials.

In Moscow, UPI correspondent Henry Shapiro cabled that the streets were hung with flags and portraits of Khrushchev in preparation for the Bolshevik celebration and Communist summit conference opening next week.

Khrushchev was sunning himself at the Black Sea resort of Sukhumi and was expected back in Moscow tomorrow, Shapiro said.

The rumor started when the Austrian who identified himself as a teleprinter operator for the Soviet Embassy—but could not produce papers to prove it—made the rounds of newspaper offices to tell his startling tale.

The Austrian said:

Khrushchev had been toppled by members of the "anti-party" group he had disgraced in 1957.

Malenkov, forced out as premier in 1955, had come back and was to be the new premier. Lazar Kaganovich, former first deputy premier and Stalin's brother-in-law, was to become "state president."

Further, Gen. Andrei A. Grechko was to be commander-in-chief of armed forces. Dmitri Shepilov, ousted as foreign minister for being "anti-party" would be minister of interior and Marshal Georgi Zhukov, fired as defense minister by Khrushchev, would be Moscow Military District commander.

The Austrian claimed he had, through an "indiscretion" by someone else, learned of the story in a coded message to the embassy.

(Associated Press made no mention of the unidentified Austrian in its story of the rumor. AP said there were two versions of how the story started:

(1. An unidentified man telephoned local news offices with the report.

(2. A code clerk in the Soviet Embassy broke the news to an Austrian friend.

(AP said "neither version could be traced authoritatively.")

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin laughed at the report. Said the ambassador at Bonn in West Germany: "Stuff and nonsense."

Nixon Lambastes Kennedy's 'Police State' Farm Policy

Demo Nominee Asks Virginia To Rejoin Party

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, urging Virginians to return to the Democratic Party fold—today hit at the administration's spending programs and pledged to maintain "a sound fiscal policy in the sixties" if elected president next Tuesday.

Speaking before a crowd at the Roanoke airport, Kennedy also kept up the derisive attack he has been leveling at his campaign foe, Vice president Richard M. Nixon.

In Roanoke, and at Norfolk, earlier, Kennedy said he could not believe that the state which Thomas Jefferson called home and which is known as "the mother of presidents" could vote for Nixon for president.

The state went for the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket in 1952 and 1956.

From Roanoke, Kennedy flew to Toledo, Ohio, where he said in a prepared speech that the United States "must become the workshop of freedom . . . to win and to hold the faith and friendship of the undeveloped countries now coming into their own in Asia, in Latin America and Africa."

And he said "the next Democratic administration . . . will free the economy of all the short-sighted policies artificially imposed by the Republican administration."

To his Roanoke and Norfolk audience, the candidate said:

"I can't believe Virginia, which began this party, which gave it growth, which gave it intellectual conviction . . . can vote for a Republican of the stripe of Richard Nixon."

Vice President Campaigns In Wyoming Storms

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon campaigned westward today in heavy snows which failed to cool the heat of his charges that Sen. John F. Kennedy's farm plan embraced "police-state-type controls."

The GOP presidential candidate began his campaign day in Fort Worth, Tex., and despite snows of eight to 10 inches, he made a behind-schedule stop in Wyoming, the 49th state he has visited during the campaign. Nixon will be in California tomorrow. He will fly into San Jose at 9:10 a.m. and then will motorcade to Hayward for an 11 a.m. speech and to Oakland at noon.

The continuing snow and low visibility forced his chartered American Airlines jet transport to circle Casper for nearly a half hour before landing.

Before the Casper audience of about 2,000 persons, the Republican standard bearer continued his running battle with Kennedy over proposed farm programs for 1961. Yesterday in Amarillo, Tex., Kennedy accused Nixon of using "the blackmailer's tactics" in forecasting a 25 per cent rise in food prices if the Democratic farm program became effective.

"My opponent has obviously decided to bury his own fantastic farm program and, instead, to fill the air with ominous-sounding counter charges."

He said Kennedy would, through his farm plan, bring about "police-state-type" control.

Admiral Fined $15,000 In Liquor Case

Retired Rear Adm. William L. Erdmann, 58, of Kentfield, was ordered to pay $15,000 for $4,300 worth of liquor by a federal judge in San Francisco today.

He was given the maximum fine for failure to pay import tax on 504 bottles of liquor brought from Guam aboard an aircraft carrier.

'FLAGRANT VIOLATION'

"I'm going to deal with you in the way you dealt with the government," Judge Oliver J. Carter told the ramrod straight, stern faced, Annapolis graduate. "This was a substantial and flagrant violation in the area of non-commercial smuggling."

The admiral, who lives at 13 Arroyo Drive, Kentfield, told the judge:

"Naturally I know much better now. I regret the deed. I particularly regret any reflection on the fine military service in which I have spent 40 years, and I deeply regret the embarrassment given to my family."

HADN'T PAID DUTY

Erdmann was accused of bringing 42 cases of Scotch, bourbon, gin and assorted liqueurs into the country on the carrier Bon Homme Richard last May. The duty of $1,173 had not been paid.

The liquor was found in a 3,651-pound box labeled "household effects" in Erdmann's home July 1 by Treasury and Customs agents.

"This is not a court-martial," Judge Carter emphasized. "I'm going to leave any naval disciplinary proceedings to naval authorities."

The judge said Erdmann, as a high Navy officer, was required to do a lot of entertaining, and that he used this method of getting the liquor to

Marin Doctors Will Offer Medical Plan

Society Announces Pre-Paid Proposal At Annual Session

A pre-paid medical plan will be offered by the Marin County Medical Society as the result of a year and a half of study and a poll of its members.

By vote of 128 to 23, the members approved formation of an organization which will offer medical, surgical and hospital care to Marin residents, first in groups and eventually to individuals, on a pre-paid basis but with freedom of selection of physicians.

RESULTS OF BALLOTING

The Marin Medical Plan, as it is being called, will initially provide "high quality insurance coverage to employee groups in the county at rates substantially lower than can be obtained elsewhere for the same coverage," according to Dr. Duval Jaros, chairman of the committee which drew up the plan.

Until it has had time to develop, enrollment will be limited to legally defined employee groups. At least one labor union is waiting for necessary incorporation of the plan to negotiate for its first contract, Dr. Jaros said.

DETAILS COMING

Details of just what will be offered in the way of coverage must await formation of the corporation and determination of its board of directors, he went on. However, present thinking is that it would provide full coverage for all medical, surgical and hospital costs or a co-insurance plan whereby the patient would pay, for example, 20 per cent and the plan 80 per cent of all costs. Dr. Jaros said this type was receiving considerable backing be-

Absentee Ballots Asked By 4,068

A record number of 4,068 voters applied for absentee ballots by yesterday's deadline, County Clerk George S. Jones reported today.

The previous record was the 2,437 absentee applications made in 1952 when Dwight Eisenhower ran for president. In 1956, only 1,481 applied for absentee ballots.

Supplies for the 306 polling places for next Tuesday's election began rolling out of the clerk's office at 8 a.m. today.

Marin County has a total registration of 71,905 voters. Of this total, 36,633 are Republicans and 32,619 Democrats.

Soviets Backtrack, Agree To Delay U.N. Demand

Shakeup Ultimatum Put Off For Year

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The Soviet Union, in a reversal of policy prompted by Afro-Asian hostility, agreed today to postpone for at least a year Premier Nikita Khrushchev's ultimatum for a "radical" reorganization of the United Nations.

Soviet Delegate Alexei A. Roschin, speaking in the General Assembly's budget committee, announced the Soviet pullback by saying Russia would leave its sweeping reorganization demands in the hands of a "committee of experts."

The committee, already selected by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to review problems of the U.N. secretariat, is not due to issue its first full report until the 16th assembly session next year.

They included the demand that the office of the secretary-general be eliminated and replaced by a three man Soviet-style presidium representing the so-called western, socialist and neutralist blocs, and also the call for "more equitable" regional representation in the secretariat.

A third key point was Russia's demand that the U.N. budget —estimated at about 17.5 million dollars for 1961— be "stabilized" at only 50 million dollars and all appropriations over that be put into a series of "special budgets" supported only by the nations immediately concerned.

Roschin's sudden announcement that these points would be postponed gave strength to reports the Soviet bloc also may reverse its decision not to pay its share of the multi-million-dollar U.N. Congo operation.

Grand Jury Asks More Pay For D.A., Auditor

The Marin County Grand Jury last night recommended raising the salaries of the district attorney and county auditor, and adjusting the salaries of county supervisors.

The jurors also recommended that supervisors be elected by vote of the entire county, although they should continue to be residents of their respective districts. They suggested that some step be taken so that at least one supervisor will be available at the county courthouse each work day in case the public wants to contact the board.

The district attorney's pay should be raised from $13,700 to $15,500. The jurors pointed out that the position is a symbol of respect and dignity, and the caliber of the district attorney should be the best obtainable. The pay should be commensurate with the importance of the office, they held.

The auditor's pay should be raised by 5 per cent.

Inequities exist in the pay of supervisors. Under present laws, Supervisors Walter R. Castro and William Gnoss will be getting $400 per month next year, while the three elected

COMBINED AP & UPI

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The United Nations today published a hitherto secret cable from Congo President Joseph Kasavubu assailing the U.N. role in the troubled African country. He accused the U.N. command of encouraging the supporters of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba by blocking his arrest and prosecution.

Kasavubu's charges were made to Ambassador Frederick H. Boland, president of the General Assembly, in a message dated Oct. 13. In other cables to Boland, the Congo president protested proposals now pending to have the assembly seat a delegation representing Lumumba.

In Leopoldville, Col. Joseph Mobutu's council of high commissioners today appealed to the Congolese population to rally behind the army and fight against what it called a U.N. plot to establish a "colonial regime."

In a statement broadcast by radio the populace was warned that "tomorrow maybe our republic will be invaded by Ghanaian, Guinean and Moroccan troops under U.N. command."

The statement took sharp issue with U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's report yesterday placing most of the blame for the Congo chaos on Mobutu.

Five Perish As Plane Hits Freeway, Cars

ONTARIO, San Bernardino County (AP)—A small plane piloted by a Los Angeles businessman fought for more than an hour to stay aloft in a rainstorm, then plunged onto a crowded freeway and exploded last night.

Authorities said at least five persons were killed. The plane, piloted by wealthy auto dealer Robert A. Yeakel, 41, burst into countless small fragments near the east city limits of Ontario.

Four cars were struck by the hurtling wreckage, three of them demolished, according to witnesses. One motorist was fatally injured. All four persons on the plane were killed.

Yeakel, who tagged himself "The Lucky Dutchman" early in his business career, was a familiar figure on television which he used extensively for automobile advertising. He also was a desert land developer, and in 1957 made an unsuccessful bid to become mayor of Los Angeles.

The plane plummeted from the rainswept sky "like a shooting star," one witness said. It crashed on the shoulder of the San Bernardino Freeway, the main traffic artery from Los Angeles to inland cities to the east.

The crash scene was 25 miles east of Los Angeles.

Authorities said the victims, in addition to Yeakel, were his sons, Kenneth, 23, and Robert Jr., 14, and business associate Joseph Taylor, 41, of Newport Beach.

Yeakel's Piper Comanche apparently had been in trouble for some time. An hour and six minutes earlier, authorities said, it clipped power lines on the outskirts of Pomona, darkening a large area.

731 Newspapers Support Nixon 208 For Kennedy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Editor and Publisher magazine, in its final tabulation of newspaper support in the presidential campaign, reported yesterday that 731 papers were supporting Vice President Richard M. Nixon and 208 endorsing Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The magazine said Kennedy had received the backing of the largest number of English-language dailies to support a Democratic candidate since the E & P poll was begun in 1932.

Four years ago, Adlai E. Stevenson had 180 newspapers behind him, while President Eisenhower had 740—the largest number ever to support a Republican candidate. In 1956, there were 270 independent papers, and 571 of the nation's 1,770 dailies then publishing did not participate in the poll.

U.N. Congo Report Held Too Sweeping

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top administration officials are reported unhappy at a United Nations report which says Belgians returning to the Congo have hindered efforts to restore order in the tension-ridden African country.

In their view, the U.N. report is too sweeping and unnecessarily harsh in its denunciation of Belgian efforts to help the regime of army Col. Joseph Mobutu.

SEE COLLAPSE

Without some Belgian technicians, these officials believe, the Congo would have collapsed in new bloodshed and possibly civil war, despite U.N. efforts to keep the peace.

KEEPS SILENT

The State Department kept silent officially concerning the report submitted yesterday by Indian diplomat Rajeshwar Dayal, special U.N. representative leading U.N. peace units in the Congo. Top State Department officials were reported conferring on what to say publicly about the report, including an appeal that warring Congo factions unite in a government of conciliation.

The State Department was believed to favor some sort of coalition to restore orderly government, including a revival of the Congo Parliament. But there was obvious concern over the prospect that the pro-Communist elements in the Congo might gain power, opening the way for the return of Soviet-bloc technicians whom Mobutu ousted when he took temporary control.

There appeared to be a realization, however, that some new leader might have to emerge in the Congo to block Lumumba's return and to replace Mobutu's apparently unsatisfactory regime.

Authorities familiar with the swift flow of Congo events showed no tendency from a hand in the continuing chaos.

Some Belgians, it was felt, undoubtedly have returned illegally to stir up trouble. Officials said many Belgian technicians, however, are performing constructive roles in helping to revive the machinery of government.

Marines Hit Guantanamo; Mock Attack

GUATANAMO BAY, Cuba (UPI)—U.S. Marines masquerading as "aggressors" launched a mock attack today on the American Naval Base here in a 24-hour maneuver with tank and jet fighter support.

A three-minute blast of the base sirens routed Marine and Navy personnel into action to "repel" the attackers.

The opening hours of the maneuver saw "enemy" patrols breaking through the fence surrounding the base and seizing a number of sentry posts bordering Cuban territory, as could happen should Premier Fidel Castro put his militiamen on the warpath.

Other marines led by Col. Merritt Adelman, commander of the base's ground defense, were grouped to repel the attackers.

Jet fighters and bombers from the base's two airfields were called on for tactical support for the maneuver forces. Umpires supervising the war game will publish a critique at its conclusion. Adelman said there would be no flat decision as to whether or not defense had been successful.

Congress Unit May Probe Nixon Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee may investigate charges of possible conflict of interest growing out of a Hughes Tool Co. loan to a brother of Vice President Richard N. Nixon four years ago.

Chairman Jack Brooks (D.-Tex.), said yesterday he has serious allegations that decisions of the Civil Aeronautics Board were influenced. He said he will ask his government activities subcommittee "for approval to conduct a thorough investigation at the earliest opportunity."

CALLED SMEAR

Nixon's campaign manager, Robert Finch, has called the charges a smear brought up to hurt Nixon's election chances. He said Nixon knew nothing of the loan until later.

Howard Hughes heads both the Hughes Tool Co. and Trans World Airlines, which is under CAB jurisdiction. The tool company has been identified as the maker of a $205,000 loan in December, 1956, to F. Donald Nixon, a brother of the vice president.

Brooks did not name the source of the allegations that the CAB was influenced.

"GRANTED ROUTE"

"It has been reported that following this loan in December, 1956,TWA was granted a route from St. Louis, Mo., to Miami, Fla., that TWA's Far Eastern route was extended to Manila, that TWA was given a passenger fare increase and that the 12-year restriction imposed by the CAB on commercial transactions between the Hughes Tool Co. and TWA was lifted after the granting of this $205,000 loan," Brooks said.

Columnist Drew Pearson raised the subject of the loan last week in a story which said Hughes' problems "got better treatment after the loan."

Ex-Student Faces Book Theft Quiz

The volume had been donated to the university by Elmer Robinson, former mayor of San Francisco.

A high level courtroom official said "the jury is hung 9-3 in favor of convicting both of them." Labor Group Threatens Split In U.K.

LONDON (AP)—Left-wing Labor Party rebels who want Britain to scrap nuclear weapons and its NATO alliance today sought new strategy to continue the fight after failing to shelve Hugh Gaitskell as party leader.

Gaitskell, a supporter of the Conservative government's general defense policy, kept the top party post by a 2-to-1 majority over left-winger Harold Wilson in balloting by Labor members of Parliament. The 166-81 tally, the result of week-long voting, was announced last night at a party caucus.

NEW MOVES

But even while Gaitskell was having a celebration dinner with his family, Wilson's supporters met to plan new moves.

The conservative Daily Sketch reported that the rebels planned to form a splinter party, which would cut regular Labor strength in Parliament by nearly a third. The paper said the leftwingers would ask parliamentary leaders to treat them in future as a "second opposition."

Such a move was hinted earlier by Emanuel Shinwell, a veteran member of the leftist group.

TALK SUGGESTED

He suggested that Richard A. Butler, Conservative leader in Parliament, discuss arrangements for parliamentary business with representatives of Labor's rank and file rather than with official party leaders.

Shinwell and Sydney Silverman, another leftwinger, led an unsuccessful demand in the House of Commons for debate on a motion condemning the government's decision to provide a base in Scotland for U.S. nuclear Polaris-firing submarines.

'Third Generation' Bomb Revealed By Ex-U.S. Aide

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas E. Murray, former atomic energy commissioner, tells of a "third generation weapon, as radically different from the H-bomb as the H-bomb was from the Hiroshima-type A-bomb."

In an open letter released last night to presidential candidate Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy, in which Murray again urged resumption of nuclear tests the former AEC head said:

"The new weapon will not be a larger and more efficient H-bomb, nor a smaller and more efficient A-bomb. It is primarily anti- personnel in destination and effect. And it need not create suicidal hazards for the country that employs it."

Murray also said: "I take it for granted the Soviet Union is developing nuclear technology along this revolutionary line."

In Washington, some unidentified nuclear physicists speculated that Murray was talking about what has been called a "neutron bomb" — a weapon that would actually be a small, mobile, nuclear reactor and a junior-sized version of reactors already used to propel submarines and to generate electricity.

The AEC refused to comment on the statement by Murray, who headed the commission from 1950 to 1957.

$38 Million Sports Center To Replace Madison Garden

Plans for a 38-million-dollar 25,000-seat sports center were announced yesterday. Adm. John J. Bergen, chairman, and Irving Felt, president of Graham-Paige Corp., which owns the Garden, said the new center probably would be ready by 1964.

Although he did not announce what would become of the Garden after 1964, Ned Irish, the Garden president, said, "Our present facilities are outmoded. The need for a new Garden has long been with us and is imperative if we are to continue a successful operation."

Eisenhower's Brother Quits 2 U.S. Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Milton Eisenhower is stepping out of two advisory posts he has held under the presidential administration of his brother, but is retaining a third he tried to resign.

President Eisenhower accepted yesterday Milton Eisenhower's resignation for health reasons from the President's Advisory Committee on Government Organiaztion and from the National Advisory Committee on Inter-American Affairs.

The president's brother agreed to continue on the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Naval Academy.

Nixon Aide Scoffs At Cuba Report Of Invasion Plan To Aid Election

The State Department declined comment on the forecast by Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa last night at the United Nations.

Nixon's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, said: "I am sure the world will recognize this as just another case of a Castro man sounding off."

Roa also linked President Eisenhower's warning that the United States would defend its naval base at Guantanamo against attack with the American presidential campaign.

The Cuban diplomat charged again that the United States was plotting a provocation against the base as a pretext for "the armed invasion and occupation of Cuba."

Roa said Nixon's election depends on "another 'glorious victory' of North American imperialism in Cuba" and added: "It is logical to presume that this aggression must take place before Nov. 8."

Roa's statement came a few hours before defense maneuvers today at Guantanamo — a regular monthly training exercise that took on added significance from Washington's fears that Castro himself might try to stage an incident at the base and try to pin the blame on the Americans.

Now It's Beatnique In Stuttgart Paper

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—Beatniks achieved a respectability of sorts on the social page of the Stuttgart Daily Ledger.

Ike Says White House Not For Job Training

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — President Eisenhower, slamming hard at Sen. John F. Kennedy, said today the American people must decide next Tuesday whether they want "inflation fired by deficit spending or sticking with sound fiscal policies."

The chief executive flew to this Democratic stronghold and made a strong attack on Kennedy in a new appeal for the election of Vice President Richard M. Nixon to the presidency.

"The White House is one place where we should not depend on one-the-job training of the occupant," the president said in an obvious slap at the Democratic candidate.

He also sarcastically referred to Kennedy as a "young genius" and warned that the Massachusetts senator was making divise appeals to various voting blocs.

He made the attack in remarks prepared for delivery at a rally in Cleveland's public square in a bid to swing Ohio into the GOP column on election day.

The president, in perhaps his strongest slam at Kennedy in this campaign, warned that some candidates were preaching what he called "the false gospel of big government."

Eisenhower said the Democrats promised to launch vast new federal spending programs but do not say how they will pay the bills.

"We can only presume that they intend a return to deficit spending and the resultant runaway inflation, the kind which we slowed down eight years ago and brought to a virtual stop," the chief executive said.

He said that the buying power of persons on pensions and fixed income would be eaten away if inflation struck again.

"My conscious would not let me rest without making it clear to you that this is the choice you will be making next Tuesday—an inflation fired by deficit spending or sticking with the sound fiscal policies of this administration," Eisenhower declared.

$4,000 GIVEN BECAUSE HAIR TURNED WHITE

LONDON (AP) — Horace Ford's black hair turned white after a bus he was driving and a truck collided in 1957.

In awarding Ford $4,130 damages yesterday, the judge said: "He has had all the real enjoyment taken out of his life for the last three years."

Ford's hair was black when he appeared in court, because he dyes it regularly.

"If you go to an employer with a head of white hair and try to get a job, he will say, 'Here's an old fellow who can't do hard work,'" Ford explained.

Ford, now 52, works in a garage.

Enrollment Hike Seen For College

College of Marin trustees last night began to lay plans for an expected enrollment of 2,299 students by the year 1970.

Population figures were given the board by R. S. Kupfer, assistant county superintendent of schools. On the basis of population, high school graduations and building programs throughout the county, Kupfer estimated an enrollment of 61 per cent of local high school graduates each year. Of these, Kupfer's report indicated, 47.8 per cent will complete two years at the college.

"Of course these figures can be affected by many factors, and can be taken only as an estimate," he said. "But on the basis of available knowledge, this should be a fairly accurate picture."

A master plan for improvement of existing facilities and addition of new buildings has been under discussion by the trustees for some months, and several architectural firms have submitted suggestions and ideas.

Appearing before the board last night were representatives of the firm of Falk and Booth, architects and engineers of San Francisco, who presented the trustees with a sample contract as well as photographs, plans and models of jobs they have performed.

Among other things, the spokesmen for the firm advised a "space adequacy" survey which would give the trustees a clear picture of what is needed. The board agreed to meet further with the architects in their San Francisco offices.

Kupfer's report foresaw a growth from the present 838 students to 1,146 next year, 1,641 within five years and 1,994 by 1967.

Costs of building in a junior college plant was estimated by the architects at roughly $2,200 per student, each of which requires 125 square feet.

"We don't have too much time," Trustee Rupert E. Kemp said.

In other action last night, the trustees:

1. Appointed a board committee of Elizabeth M. Deedy and Kempf to study salary schedules and report findings to the Nov. 17 meeting of the board.
2. Appointed a subcommittee of Mrs. Deedy, Kempf and George G. Washburn to meet Nov. 10 at 3:30 p.m. to study business office procedures and operation at the college.
3. Approved warrants totaling $9,186.

Death Confession Called Fantasy

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—A death "murder confession" of an 80-year-old woman who had lived here for years was described by Coroner Paul B. Jensen yesterday as fantasy.

Olive Jean Koempel died Oct. 12 after making a dying statement that she killed a hitchhiker in 1927 and buried him in her backyard.

Trustees Hire Publicist For Marin College

Over the protests of Trustee George G. Washburn, the College of Marin board last night hired a fulltime publicist at a monthly salary of $700.

He is Herbert A. Blanchett of Sausalito, a 30-year-old graduate of the school of journalism at University of Missouri.

Blanchett was chosen from among more than 50 applicants, according to Director Stephen E. Epler.

"It seem to me we have been getting along without such a man pretty well," Washburn said. "I think it is an unnecessary waste of money."

"Up to now the heads of departments have been doing the work we plan for this man to do," Trustee Rupert E. Kemp answered.

The duties of the publicist, who will be officially known as coordinator of publications, will include assisting in the production of all college publications, including the catalog and brochures.

He was expected to begin work within two weeks.

Tomales Phone Switches Over To Dial System

By coincidence, news arrived simultaneously that Dillon Beach is to be made a "special rate area" with improved service and mostly lower charges.

Instead of calling the operator it will henceforth be necessary to dial "TO" and then four numbers.

The California Public Utilities Commission announced permission for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to establish Dillon Beach as a "special rate area."

Dillon Beach is served from the Tomales exchange on a basis of its local rate plus a mileage charge, at present virtually prohibitive for everything except old-fashioned eight-party line service, costing $3.25 a month.

For this same charge, after the new rate area has been made effective the subscriber will receive improved four-party service with only one other "ring" on his line, according to Bill Turner, P.T.&T. manager at Petaluma.

The company is to effect the Dillon Beach change as soon as it can but prior to Sept. 30, 1961, providing three classes of service for residences and two for businesses.

Cost of Dillon Beach service is the basic Tomales cost plus mileage charge in each category. By the newly authorized area rate the extra will be only two quarter-miles.

Basic Tomales charge: One-party business $6.50 a month, residence $4.15; two-party business $5.10, residence $3.35; four-party business not offered, residence $2.75.

Present usual Dillon Beach charge is for eight-party line which is $3.75 residential per month. But current rates mostly work out: One-party business $12.50, residence $10.15 (in this category the quarters are 50 cents each); two-party business $9.30, residence $7.55 (quarters calculated at 35 cents); four-party residence $3.75 (quarters at 25 cents). This assumes a charge of 12 quarters.

New rates proposed by company and accepted by commission, on a basis of two quarters figured at 50 cents each, work out: One-party business, $7.50, residence $5.15; two-party business $5.80, residence $4.05; four-party residence $3.25.

Flower Festival Starts Tomorrow At Ross

"More blooms and of a better quality than anything we have ever offered" is the prospect for this weekend's Fall Flower Festival at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, according to officials of the sponsoring Garden Society of Marin.

Murray R. Mackall of Corte Madera, festival director, said he expects the 1960 edition of the festival opening tomorrow to be "the most artistic and most elaborate" in the 14-year history of the event.

Mackall said there will be nearly a thousand blooms on display and offered in the plant sales booth. Leading amateur and professional growers of the county will exhibit.

More than 500 brilliantly colored chrysanthemums were delivered to the center yesterday for the sales booth. Robert L. Whiteley of San Rafael, assistant director, said that in quality and in range of color and size they are superior to any the Garden Society has heretofore been able to obtain for the event. Proceeds of the sales booth go toward unkeep of the center.

Sasanqua camellias and other fall blooming flowers and shrubs also will be featured.

The festival will be held in and around the Frances Young Gallery on the center grounds. Other features will include a Continental-style outdoor cafe and gardeners' how-to-do-it display.

Judging in the competitive floral arranging and specimen chrysanthemum classes will take place tomorrow morning. The show opens at noon. It will run until 6 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

The Decorations Guild Building at the Center also will be open Saturday and Sunday, according to Mrs. Gordon Zimmer of Mill Valley, Guild president. Handicrafted articles for Thanksgiving and Christmas will be on sale.

Professor Cites Phenomenon Of Population Rise

CHICAGO (UPI)—A California professor yesterday called the population growth in the 20th Century an incredible biological phenomenon.

Dr. Frank C. Baxter said that of all the human beings who ever lived, one out of 20 is alive today.

"The population has doubled in my life time and will double again by the year 2,000," Baxter said.

"Our central historical problem is how this mass can exist—how one can manage to be one's self in the face of such mass rule of conformity . . . we are being forced to likeness," he said.

Baxter, professor of English literature at the University of Southern California, addressed the 13th national conference of the Public Relations Society of America.

Ballot Counters Must Be Legal

SACRAMENTO (AP)—County clerks can put on volunteer workers to help count ballots election night, says the secretary of state, but they won't have legal status unless specially appointed.

The county clerk or registrar of voters must notify the central committees of both parties of the volunteers, as well as inform voters by publishing their names in a newspaper legal notice.

EQUIPMENT LOST 4 YEARS AGO TURNS UP AT OWNER'S DOORSTEP

Four years ago William Davis of San Rafael lost a $315 pneumatic tamper and 50 feet of air hose. Yesterday he found them in front of his business place at 424 Irwin Street.

They were in the back of a pickup truck which drove up to Davis Equipment Co. about 11 a.m. Davis recognized them and questioned the driver. The man said he borrowed them from the Casper Nursery at 3761 Redwood Highway.

Owner Adolph L. Casper of 3 Bayview Terrace, Mill Valley, said he found the equipment on the highway near Strawberry, but hadn't seen anything in the lost and found columns about it. Davis produced the serial numbers and was given back the equipment.

Former Janitor Due To Plea Nov. 10 To Attack Charge

Elven Barrow Jr., 20, of Marin City, accused of attempted statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl on San Rafael Hill Tuesday, yesterday hired attorney Carl Shapiro of Fairfax to defend him.

Barrow, who worked as a janitor at the Independent-Journal building, won a continuance until Nov. 10 to enter his plea. He is also charged with contributing to the girl's delinquency. Barrow is free on $1,050 posted by bail bondsman Joseph Pecora.

Another youth, arrested with Barrow, is charged with drunkenness. He is William John Hendrickson, 18, of 27 Dellwood Court, San Rafael, son of John R. Hendrickson, who is now serving a 25-year federal prison sentence for embezzlement of $3,700,000 from a Long Beach bank. Young Hendrickson also is to enter plea Nov. 10.

Officer Wade Powell of San Rafael police said he caught Barrow attacking the girl, who is from Larkspur, in the woods near Robert Dollar Drive. Lt. Jay Fletcher found Hendrickson lying beside the street, unconscious.

The girl told police she and another girl from Larkspur skipped school Tuesday and took a bus to San Rafael. At a drive-in on Third Street, they met Barrow, Hendrickson, and a 17-year-old boy. They drank beer in the car, then drove up Dollar Drive.

Snakes and fish have ears, but these have no outside openings. They hear mostly through vibrations in the ground or water.

Legion Plans Needy Program

The Bolinas Bay post of the American Legion is making plans to distribute turkeys and other foods to needy families at Thanksgiving, A. C. Pfefferkorn, adjutant, said today.

Pfefferkorn said the post determines the families' needs in the Bolinas, Stinson Beach and Point Reyes areas and then supplies the dinner preparations.

He said the post plans to take part in the veterans day program Nov. 11 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Marin Water Battle Told To Bay Group

Marin County's successful fight to keep ahead of the water needs of a fast-expanding population was described today by three speakers before 35 water experts and supervisors of the 14-county Bay Counties Water Problems Committee at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

William R. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal Water District, said that as of this week the problem has been solved in his district for about 20 years to come — but this means only an immediate start on studies for importing water thereafter.

Jerome B. Gilbert, general manager of North Marin County Water District, said that import of water is already necessary for the 72 square miles of his area. Russian River water is expected next fall.

Completing the Marin story, William B. Desmond, sanitation director for the Marin County Public Health Department, said that ultimately one or the other or both of the water districts must be expanded to take in the rest of the county, now served by many small water systems.

Chairman Walter R. Castro of the Marin County Board of Supervisors welcomed representatives of Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco, Solano, Sacramento, Yolo, San Benito, Santa Cruz, San Joaquin, Sonoma, Napa, San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties. He expressed regret that Supervisor Vert Schultz—"heart and soul in these water problems"—is leaving the board and therefore her committee post.

Similarly regretting that "this is my last appearance," Mrs. Schultz, who had arranged the program, declared that Marin has "a desperate need" for water solutions which sizeable sections of the local community show no wish to help.

"There is a tremendous need for public education," she said.

Seeger said that paradoxically he's been "praying that it won't rain" due to the crash program on the Nicasio Dam.

"This week we're topping out—luck was with us," said he. "I believe now we can get the final rock work done before the rains really hit us.

"Now we have 17½ billion gallons of storage for our 137 square miles, which should take us through to about 1980, of course depending on population trends."

But Seeger said this merely leads to the question, "What happens beyond that?"

The answer, he said, will be to go back again, as after the 1956 $12,700,000 bond issue, into detailed study of sources, this time exploring import possibilities on a basis of feasibility and economics.

"It's a strictly economic matter," said Seeger. "I can't say at this time what will be the cheapest way to develop new supplies. Meanwhile we've just got under the wire again—and I've taken all the chances I ever want to."

Describing work now in progress to serve North Marin with Russian River water, Gilbert said that, starting next fall there will be a guaranteed 10,000 acre feet of water from it annually. But ultimately, he added, this must be enlarged unless it is decided to construct a North Bay aquaduct.

Desmond said "the basic problem in Marin's undeveloped areas is the lack of unified effort on the part of existing small water companies and districts, with about 15 small water systems in West Marin apart from individual supplies as for restaurants.

"If there is to be full development there must be expansion of one or both of the major districts to take in the rest of the county."

Mrs. Schultz introduced the speakers. James Turner, manager of the San Francisco Water Department, presided.

MEDICAL

cause it encourages patients to keep the costs down.

Participating physicians will be those members of the medical society who wish to join the program. It is expected that this figure will be close to 90 per cent of the physicians practicing in Marin County.

SIMILAR PLANS

Plans of a similar nature and design have been undertaken by a large number of county societies in California and throughout the nation.

"The Marin Medical Plan will not take over the role of the insurance company," Dr. Jaros said, "but rather, will be an organization offering three services:

"1. Establishment of minimum standards of coverage for contracts serviced by the plan.

"2. Reviewing of all claims by a committee of participating physicians.

"3. Standardization of forms and the centralization of administration.

'QUALITY INSURANCE'

"The first will guarantee high quality insurance. The second and third will make it available at the lowest possible premium. The net result of the operation of the Marin Medical Plan will be to provide the maximum health insurance per premium dollar."

In application, the participating physician will charge his "usual" fee for each service rendered. This fee will then be approved or disapproved by a review committee of the medical plan. The committee will determine whether or not it approximates the "customary" fee for such a service in the community, and whether or not it is a "reasonable" charge based on the circumstances of the case involved.

Upon approval of the charge, payment will be made directly to the physician by the insurance company.

Treated For Injury

Mrs. Marcella Jones, 41, of 1337 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital late yesterday for a back injury suffered in a fall at her home.

Russian Spy Suspect Goes Free On Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Igor Y. Melekh, United Nations secretariat employee accused of spying for the Soviet Union, went free today on bail—but he is under federal court order to remain in Manhattan.

Melekh, 47, was ordered released yesterday on $50,000 bail. He spent last night in the Federal House of Detention. He is free pending a hearing next Wednesday on proceedings to move him to Chicago, where he was indicted with Willie Hirsch for allegedly seeking military maps and photographs of Chicago for transmission to the Soviet Union.

The government vigorously protested the source of the bail money, which was produced in cash by two Soviet Embassy officials from Washington. The money was handed to Melekh's wife, Irina, who in turn gave it to the court.

Hirsch, 52, a German-born free lance illustrator for medical magazines, remains in custody.

Accused Sex Offender Sees Record

Jaime Sandoval, 29, accused of sex offenses against two orphaned Millbrae boys, appeared briefly at the Marin County courthouse last evening with his attorney to look up his criminal record here.

While serving as hospital orderly in Marin, Sandoval was convicted of morals offense involving a teen-aged boy and served a jail sentence in 1957.

The short, slight Puerto Rican was indicted by the San Mateo County Grand Jury on charges of molesting the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Douglas of Millbrae.

Sandoval said he was with Mrs. Douglas when she fell to her death off a cliff in Puerto Rice. Her body has not been found. A few days later, the body of Douglas was found in Marin. He had apparently committed suicide.

When routed out of his bed in San Francisco yesterday morning on the second grand jury indictment, Sandoval raged, stamping his feet, and declared he would "get Millbrae Police Chief Larry Pickett, according to Millbrae police.

He was free again today on $26,500 bail.

Candy Cane Tour Support Sought

Forerunners of Santa Claus will be ringing doorbells in the Santa Venetia area tonight asking for money.

Members of the Santa Venetia Improvement Club will be asking help to finance their annual Santa Claus Candy Cane tour.

Nitery Closes Briefly As Sheriff Moves In

Irving (Whitey) Litchfield closed his Bermuda Palms restaurant and bar in San Rafael yesterday afternoon when sheriff's deputies arrived to pick up receipts as they came in from patrons.

But he re-opened it for business within a few minutes, in plenty of time for a Republican rally held there last night.

Chief Civil Deputy Floyd Middagh and his men continued their vigil at the cash register today to collect the more than $1,000 which Litchfield's divorced wife claims he owes in back alimony and support. Her attorney, Wallace S. Myers, got a court order for "keepers" to collect the money as it was paid by customers.

Sheriff's deputies said it may be several days before the required sum is collected. Receipts from last night's rally will be included in the keepers' collection.

Litchfield, who yesterday declared he would have to close up if keepers were installed to take the money, put up "closed" signs and turned off the lights when sheriff's deputies arrived. Chief Civil Deputy Middagh said the close-odwn lasted only briefly, however.

Rapid Transit Costs Detailed

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will not only be self-supporting but will make enough income to repay the initial cost plus setting aside a fund for future expansion, Stanton W. Thies, district deputy information director, told members of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club last night.

He said aerial structures used in Marin County to go over roadways would be designed to be graceful and pleasing to the eye.

The club, according to Mrs. Neva Gill, moved to send a letter to the board of supervisors reiterating its stand against rerouting Shoreline Highway on either of the two proposed routes through Tamalpais Valley.

Driver Arrested In Support Case

John L. McLean, 30-year-old truck driver of 67 Martens Boulevard, San Rafael, was booked by San Rafael police last night on a warrant charging failure to provide.

He was wanted by San Leandro Police Chief A. J. Lamoureux.

McLean was released on $525 bail to appear for arraignment at 9:30 a.m. Monday in San Leandro Municipal Court.

Registration Boils Over At Tam High

Too many voters spoil the poll.

This was discovered yesterday at Tamalpais High School when 780 registrants signed to vote in the school's mock presidential election.

Vice Principal John George said so many students registered that the election, scheduled for today, had to be postponed until Monday.

"Students worked until dark typing the registration rolls and they still didn't finish," George said. They were still typing today, he added.

GOP Planning 'Last' Rally

The last public rally before election day will be staged tomorrow afternoon by the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

Complete with bands, refreshments, entertainment, free pony rides and candidates, the rally will be held at Tamalpais Valley junction from 2 to 5 p.m.

Speaking will be State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Congressional candidate Fred G. DuPuis and Assembly candidate William T. Bagley.

Lagunitas School Board To Meet

The meeting of the Lagunitas School District board, announced in yesterday's Independent-Journal as being held last night, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Lagunitas School.

The meeting was postponed from Wednesday.

The board will hear reports on curriculum study and the district building program.

Named To Committee

Tamalpais High School Principal Richard L. Campion has been named chairman of an accreditation committee which will make an extensive study of Miramonte High School in Orinda. The accreditation is under the auspices of the California Assn. of Secondary School Administrators.

Fairfax Woman Hit By Auto, Badly Injured

An elderly woman pedestrian was critically injured when hit by a car as she was crossing Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax in the rain last evening.

Mrs. Evelyn H. McLain, 68, of 47-B Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, suffered fractures of left hip, left leg and two ribs, plus internal injuries, attendants at San Rafael General Hospital reported today.

Driver of the car was 17-year-old Lillian Ann May, daughter of Frank G. May of 27 Piper Lane, Fairfax, reported Police Chief Clifton C. Cordes.

Miss May was returning home from a Fairfax store, the chief said. She reported she was driving about 20 miles per hour in a line of cars when the pedestrian dashed in front of her.

Mrs. McLain was lying about 10 feet west of a pedestrian crosswalk after the accident, Chief Cordes said. Because of the rain, there were no skidmarks and it could not be determined whether she was in the crosswalk when hit.

SALARIES

last June will get $500 per month. Legislation should be introduced so that all five will get the same $500 from next January, the grand jury held. The present law which prohibits changing the salary in mid-term is archaic, the jurors decided.

The grand jury also considered raising the supervisors' salary beyond $500 to make it a "career" job, but turned it down because they do not think such a raise would mean more economy. The grand jury held that supervisors work more for civic pride than for the pay, and are already working at full capacity.

The grand jury did not discuss the current investigation of the efficiency in the various public works departments in the county. This may be discussed at the next meeting, said Heifetz.

help lessen the expense of such entertaining. He said this removed Erdmann from the category of a commercial smuggler.

The admiral had pleaded guilty to two misdemeanor charges, possession of untaxed liquor—which brought him a maximum fine of $5,000, and failure to pay the tax—carrying a maximum fine of $10,000.

The two other counts of the indictment, which were felonies involving smuggling, were dismissed by the court.

Erdmann's attorney, Richard MacLaury of Belvedere, said the admiral had already paid the $1,373 tax.

Sanitation Board Votes Annexation

The resolution approved unanimously by the three-man board will go before the county board of supervisors for their approval.

Bordered by San Pedro and Quarry Roads, the area contains the McNear Beach recreational facilities and the proposed 25-lot Bahia Vista subdivision of Equitec Corp. Sewer lines will be installed by the developers, but maintained by the sanitation district.

First step will be sewers for the 13-acre subdivision. Later they will be installed for the beach facilities.

Debate Canceled

Because of conflicting campaign schedules, the final campaign debate between Assembly candidates William T. Bagley and Everett A. Matzen has been canceled. The debate was scheduled to be held in Cloverdale tonight.

BENNY'S BEAR IS A BIG HIT

Junior Museum To Ask Partial County Support

Marin County supervisors will be asked next Thursday afternoon to provide the salary of the director of the Junior Museum of Marin in a program whereby the assistant to the director would be supported by the county schools.

This proposal received a majority vote of four possibilities put before a recent public meeting. It represents, according to museum president Al Nieri of Kentfield, what museum supporters have concluded to be the most reasonable scheme for extricating the museum from its troubles.

"We shan't ask that the county provide full support—that wouldn't be reasonable," said Nieri.

Fifty-three votes were cast at the recent hearing, and 23, the largest reigstered for any plan, favored the program endorsed by the directors at a subsequent meeting.

Sixteen of those voting favored public subscription as the main support with some aid from schools and county, 14 voted to have the museum become a county agency with housing in the Civic Center, and no backers developed behind the idea of full support by the county schools.

The group scheduled to appear before the supervisors at 3:45 p.m. next Thursday will be headed by Director S. Thompson Walker.

Latest figures on progress of a drive for public support show that donations now total $3,005, Walker said today. The current debt, a three-year accumulation, totals $13,381.

Walker estimates that $12,000 per year is needed for minimum operating budget. Income last year was $10,931.94. The county contribution has been $1,000 each year for the past three years.

Individual solicitation has been halted "until the current problem is resolved," according to Walker, but several projects are under way. A fund drive will be conducted in downtown San Rafael on Nov. 19 by Job's Daughters, the Rainbow Girls and DeMolay Council. An offer of a benefit concert has been received from the Claudio Symphony Orchestra.

Plane Dives To Avoid Collision With Bomber

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — A Northwest Airlines Electra plane with 52 passengers aboard yesterday evening was forced to make a swift dive over Eau Claire, Wis., to avoid collision with an Air Force jet bomber.

Northwest officials said here today some passengers were thrown from their seats. The plane had just reached cruising speed and seat belts had been unfastened.

One passenger, Mrs. Mabel Engen, Fargo, N.D., suffered two broken ribs. She is in "fair" condition in a Minneapolis hospital.

The Northwest pilot, identified as Gordon Lindstam, said the incident occurred at 5:30 p.m. "I took evasive action to avoid a collision," he reported.

HOW WOULD CHILDREN VOTE ON FLUORIDATION?

● They Would Vote YES!

1. Because they don't like aching teeth.
2. Because they don't like having their teeth drilled and they don't like having their teeth pulled.
3. Because girls want a beautiful, shining smile without cavities.
4. Because they don't understand how their parents can deprive them of good teeth because of a fluoride deficient water supply.

HOW DO GROWNUPS VOTE When They Know the Facts?

1. 19 out of 20 people vote yes on Fluoridation when they know the real facts.
2. How can we claim this?
   They would know that the United States Public Health Service which has the health of the people of our nation at heart, urges fluoridation because there is not a possibility of even one person being injured.

   They would know that the American Medical Association and the American Dental Association both urge fluoridation because there is not a possibility of even one person being injured.

   They would know that the same opposition existed against chlorination. The opponents were not concerned when whole populations suffered and died from Typhoid. And today the opponents of fluoridation are just as unconcerned about our health and well-being.

AND WHAT ABOUT THE RIGHTS OF OUR CHILDREN?

1. They don't have the right to vote. And they don't have the right to pick their parents. They depend on us. We have the MORAL OBLIGATION to take enlightened public health measures to give them the strongest bodies possible. They will spend the rest of their lives living with teeth that are vitally affected by the minerals in our water. THEY RELY ON YOUR CONCERN AND YOUR VOTE.

Educators Lash View On Schools

By DOROTHY SIMPERS

A San Francisco State college educator last night sharply criticized the contention that the only function of the schools is to "train the intelligence and inform the mind."

Dr. Fred Wilhelm, speaking at the College of Marin, declared that the eight professors who produced the controversial report on the San Francisco School system "take too narrow a view of the function of the schools."

To "speak sneeringly of education for life in democracy is to substitute a rather supercilious judgment for what has been the eternal commitment of the schools," Wilhelm said.

The professor said he knew of no school system not charged with helping children grow up and educating them for life.

Dr. Wilhelm and Dr. Ted Treutlein, San Francisco State College history teacher, participated in a panel discussion on "what are they saying about the high school" in the fifth of a six-lecture series on "Public Education: Criticisms and Issues."

Dr. Richard Axen, associate professor of education at San Francisco State and moderator for the series, also spoke. All three agreed that the criticisms expressed in the San Francisco report were typical of most secondary schools in the United States.

Dr. Wilhelm said the eight professors (four from the University of California and four from Stanford) did a good job in some ways of pointing up issues and problems. "Then they shot off their mouths about things they knew nothing about," he declared.

He cited reading as an example of one of the problem areas the professors did a good job of selecting. "Then they go on to the most specious argument anyone could invent—phonics—and think of it as the sole and exclusive answer. It is stupid," he added.

Dr. Wilhelm said the report gives very valuable criticisms of the schools, "but if you go on to specify remedies which fly in the face of everything we know, you are not doing us any good." He said there were a number of such cases in the report.

The professor also said he was most critical not of the report itself but of the way it was being handled. He charged there had been a "bottling up of argument" about it.

Dr. Axen said the fundamental criticism of schools was that they were not putting sufficient emphasis on those activities that train the intellect. The critics point out that the road to improving intellectual content is the "avenue of the liberal arts subjects," but the schools have modified these subjects, eliminated them on occasion and provided vocational opportunities as electives in areas such as music and art, he said.

This is where critics claim secondary schools erred—by deviating from liberal arts subjects to provide for a wider group of students, Axen explained.

So they recommend a return to the liberal arts and requiring all students to take at least two years of foreign languages, algebra, some science, more English and a "rather strong dose of history," he said. For the college-bound, the eight professors recommend four years of mathematics, foreign languages, English and social studies, and three years of science.

Axen said the critics would add one more step, and make sure that students achieve a higher degree of excellence. They would do this by putting the administration of high schools in the hands of people with more academic background, insisting on a stronger subject background for teachers and developing a "system of coercion" to make sure students will produce. Among ways to produce excellence, they would insist on a tougher grading system and diplomas identifying the type of work the students did.

In ad iscussion of what to require of all students, Dr. Treutlein said he would favor some kind of "central core" rather than an "individual-centered approach." The idea of a child-centered approach has more chance of weakness than a basic program, he added.

Dr. Wilhelm urged that educators learn to be "uncompromisingly realistic about basic goals and stop being uncompromisingly realistic about ways to reach those goals . . . shy away from anything that says 'minimum essentials.'"

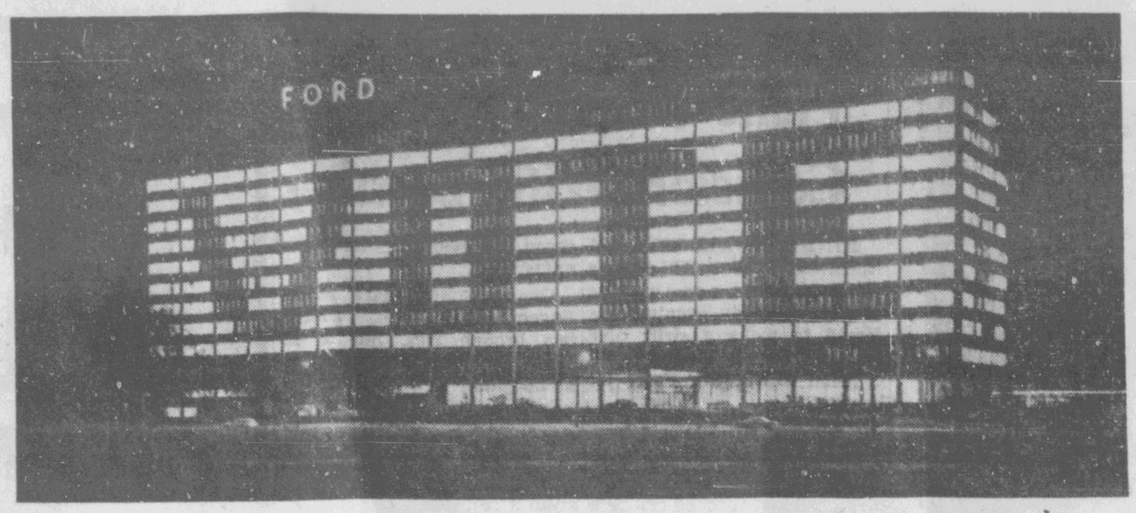
At the final session of the series next Thursday, Robert Smith, chairman of the division of education at San Francisco State, will lead a panel discussion on "who shall control our schools, train our teachers and administer our schools?"

Catholics Urged To Vote Tuesday

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Archbishop Edward D. Howard yesterday called on Roman Catholics of his archdiocese to vote in the general election Tuesday without allowing religious considerations to determine their choice.

Candidates should be weighed on the basis of "training, ability, and the public and civic welfare," he said in a statement published in the Catholic Sentinel, official newspaper of the archdiocese of Portland.

"The past many weeks have not been an easy time for Catholics," he said, "who have been the victims of innuendoes and falsehoods about their beliefs and whose loyalty even has been questioned."



REMINDER OF WHAT TO DO TUESDAY

This may be the largest sign ever set up to remind citizens to vote next Tuesday. Each night workers in the Ford Motor Co. 12-story central office building in Dearborn, Mich., see that the right lights are turned on and that blinds are pulled. A total of 1,140 windows on 10 floors are involved. (AP Wirephoto)

Mill Valley Council Favors Move To Streamline Fiscal Functions

The Mill Valley City Council, in an informal work session last night, voiced favorable opinions on city auditor Warren G. Lefort's recommendations to "streamline" the city's fiscal functions.

Lefort suggested the work be concentrated in the fiscal department and not under the treasurer. He favors new methods to stop duplication of efforts and an ordinance creating the office of finance director.

The council could take no action since it was not meeting as an official body.

The "streamlining" could be done, Lefort said, for about $2,000 and the new system implemented by next July. Lefort said he would agree to do the work.

Lefort, in recommending that treasurer Wiliam G. Rutherford be relieved of many of his duties, said the city would concentrate all the accounting system in the fiscal department. He said assessment district bonds as well as general obligation bonds could be handled by the fiscal department.

Coucilman George D. Monardo, administrator for a San Francisco hospital, put most of the questions to Lefort regarding "streamlining" and the auditor's report. He suggested the city look into the possibility of using services of a company which processes data on electronic computers. "Then all you have to do is collect the money," Monardo said.

John Hoopingarner, present head of the fiscal department but without a title, agreed that more efficency and better internal control could be realized by "streamlining" and said he favors it.

Asked by Mayor Robert D. Huber, "How does this strike you?" Rutherford said "I'm beginning to enjoy the job. I hated it at first. I think that efficiencies can benefit the city . . . I'm for avoiding duplication 100 per cent. I think the change has got to be done in a slow manner and not just jump in overboard."

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said there is an ordinance creating the office of fiscal director. As of now, he said, City Manager A. E. Almcrants is called the chief accounting officer. Nelson said "we ought to get some kind of ordinance which would declare we are creating the office of finance director, and then, in skeleton form, declare his duties."

Huber asked past fiscal director H. A. Tomlinson his views on the matter. Tomlinson said, "I heard this for 21 years. It was done in 1943, busted in 1945. In '47 it came back in, was busted in 1949, was brought back in 1950. What you have is a re-establishment of the original." He said the changes were made due to having three city managers but under the present city manager "we have not been oscillating like this."

Mill Valley Opens Meeting To Public

The Mill Valley City Council reversed itself last night to change a scheduled closed meeting on acquiring land in the small craft harbor to an open one.

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said he originally suggested a closed meeting when he thought "details" would be discussed regarding condemnation proceedings. "In the last couple of days," he said, "I detected there would be nothing coming up tonight but things of a general nature."

The matter before the council, meeting in informal session, was whether to buy .96 of an acre from John Alexander and Associates with provision that the firm have a 50-year lease.

The council unanimously opposed granting an advance lease. Councilmen said it would be premature to consider a lease. The land is south of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substation.

With regard to other properties being sought for the small craft harbor, Nelson said condemnation procedures have been filed. Pre-trial of the suit for land owned by C. I. Dowd and Adolph and Emily Biggio will be in superior court Nov. 14, he reported.

Councilman Michael Wornum suggested the city might indicate "which way it is going to go in the small craft harbor development." Nelson said the city will spend $300,000 and then be in a position to invite bids from anyone who wants to bring in an idea to operate a harbor with all facilities.

City Manager A. E. Almcrants said, "It will take three years to develop and once you start dredging you will hear lots of offers."

Mayor Robert D. Huber said: "We're fighting to hold onto the loan. Almcrants has some applications already from people who want to run things on a private basis but we can't talk terms to them now."

The city is offering prices ranging from $1,400 to $2,100 per acre for the land. The total land involved in condemnation is about 11 acres.

About 17 million of America's workers are covered by some sort of private pension or retirement plan.

Marin Republican Party Workers Meet Their Candidates At Rally

Almost 500 Republican party workers braved showers last night to attend a pep rally in San Rafael's Bermuda Palms.

They met the three candidates from Marin County, Fred G. Dupuis for Congress, State Sen John F. McCarthy for re-election to the 13th state senatorial district and William T. Bagley for the 7th state assembly district.

Joseph Martin Jr. of San Francisco, GOP national committeeman, and former Lt. Gov. Harold J. (Butch) Powers, who recently resigned as deputy administrator of the General Services Administration in Washington, D.C. urged precinct workers to continue to get out the voters.

Martin said the last four days before election could mean the difference between victory and defeat. He said Marin party workers should get at least 97 per cent of the Republicans to vote.

The national committeeman said the newspapers have cast a pall of defeat around the Republicans. "It's not true," he asserted. He declared that Republican polls indicate that it will be Nixon and Lodge on Tuesday.

"The Democratic ticket was plastered together for political expedience" Martin said.

Magazine Smashes Idea Girls Silly

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The popular idea of teen-aged girls as scatterbrains more interested in comics than world affairs is strictly wrong, according to a national poll.

"Teen Magazine reported today its poll of teen-age girls across the country showed that 36.8 per cent of them read the front page and general news first when they pick up a newspaper. Comics were second with 23.3 per cent and, in order, came society, advice columns and entertainment sections.

Powers told the gathering that modern government needs trained men like Dupuis, Bagley and McCarthy.

Also attending the rally was John Krehbiel of Los Angeles, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

David Winslow, chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, related a telephone message to the audience from the office of Vice President Richard M. Nixon praising the job being done by precinct and area workers.

The three candidates from Marin, introduced by master of ceremonies Gordon Ness, endorsed each other and urged continued precinct work during the remaining days.

"It could spell victory for all of us," said McCarthy.

Skits were provided by three of the sponsoring organizations, the Marin Republican Council, Federation of Republican Women and Pro-America.

The Marin County Republican Central Committee was also a sponsor of the rally.

Should the Public Water Supply cease to provide the people with pure and natural water, unadulterated by medical prescriptives?

Throughout the history of mankind the people have been given pure and natural water from the public water supply. During recent years, a new ideology, which seeks to impose medical treatment on all, has been introduced in certain sections of this country whereby the public water supply ceases to provide the people with such pure and natural water. This ideology, which would promote mass medical regimentation, would reverse the order of the ages, so that the public water supply would provide MEDICATED water instead of NATURAL water.

Advocates of Proposition "B", providing for the fluoridation of Marin Municipal water, say that if this measure is enacted, no one will be compelled to drink medicated water; that if one wants NATURAL water, unadulterated by medical prescriptives, one can obtain such natural water elsewhere than from our public water supply. We say that if one wants medicated water, one should be able to obtain SUCH water ELSEWHERE than from the public water supply.

Proponents of fluoridation of the public water supply point out that for many years chlorine has been placed in water, but they do not point out the vital distinction between chlorine and sodium fluoride. That distinction is this: chlorine is placed in water, as a disinfectant, to treat or affect the WATER; whereas sodium fluoride is placed in water as a medicament, to treat or affect a particular part of the HUMAN ANATOMY, children's teeth.

That fluoridation is medicine is admitted by proponents of fluoridation. In their "Argument for Fluoridation Initiation," which officially accompanied our ballots last June, a group, calling itself the "Children's Dental Health Committee of Marin County," which then, as now, is advocating the fluoridation of our public water supply, stated that "Fluoridation is preventive medicine."

That fluoridation constitutes unsolicited and involuntary medical treatment was indicated in a recent St. Louis court decision. According to a United Press release, which appeared in the October 14, 1960 issue of the Independent-Journal (San Rafael), a St. Louis court, "tossing out a law calling for fluoridation, said: 'The County Council cannot compel everyone in the County to submit to dental treatment.'"

If you are opposed to the substitution of medicated water for pure and natural water in our public water supply, you should . . .

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Motel Owner Wraps Up A Neat Plate Of Spaghetti All Around

Dave Bellucci, owner of the Sky Lark Motel opposite Hamilton Field since last December, had seen operators of his coffee shop come and go. It was, he reflected on their passing, no place for a coffee shop but a specialty dinery without counterpart in the county.

And so came into being Bellucci's Spaghetti House last week under his own operation with remarkable initial success, for it seems that people do often like a plate of spaghetti, or spaghetti and meatballs without being sidetracked into other, more costly menu variations.

Dave's menu is simple: Spaghetti served with sauces made from his mother's favorite Italian recipes. There are, of course, soup, salad, toasted cheese and garlic rolls and desserts, but the piece de resistance is semolina, traditional in classic Italian cuisine. Prepared also to go out.

Prices are quite reasonable, the place is neat and clean as a pin. For dining only—4 to 10 p.m. week days and 3 to 10 on Sundays; closed Mondays. Well worth an initial trip; from there on return visits will become automatic.

THE PEACOCK GAP Country Club opens it restaurant, bar and golf facilities to the public beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Schedule is now: Breakfast 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays; lunch 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. every day except Monday; dinner 5:30 to 10 p.m. daily except Monday; bar open 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The location is in the Marin Bay development near China Camp—go out Point San Pedro Road from Third Street, San Rafael and you'll find it.

Add this to your list of deluxe dineries for first class traveling.

KELLY'S ALLEY, an appurtenance to the Cellars, San Rafael, is the new venture of Ken Kelly, one time waiter at the Alta Mira Hotel and more recently proprietor of Kelly's Corners.

Ken has taken over the cocktail lounge of the Cellars for breakfasts, lunches and dinners, accessible either by the Cellars door or from the side alley which suggested its name. He and wife Colleen have set up a nice little menu with reasonable prices and quick service.

Breakfast hours are 2 a.m. to 6 a.m., making it a retreat for night owls and early birds seven days a week; lunches are served 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. all week long, and dinners Tuesdays through Sundays from 6 to 10 p.m. Ken is contemplating carrying breakfasts on to a later hour on Sunday mornings.

IT NEVER RAINS but pours, and the pouring in this case is being done from a wine bottle at El Paseo Restaurant, Mill Valley.

Hard on the heels of recommendations for a Gourmet Guide listing, Mary and Earl Harkins have received an on-sale wine and beer license, believed to be the first new license in that category issued in Marin since the middle 1930s. Applicants for many years have only been able to acquire them by transfer and purchase from another county holder—usually at a fancy four-figure price.

Recent quotas adjusted to 1960 population figures gave Marin County eight new ones. El Paseo's was the first to be validated because in crusading for just such an occurrence Mary had a prior application on file.

El Paseo's dining room has been dressed to suit the occasion, with the best of imported and California vintages available.

FROM FLAPJACKS to cracker barrel, beer and food suitable to its new look—this is the course Eugene's Restaurant, San Rafael will take this weekend.

Gene Lackenbach's rear patio is the showoff spot—a combination of sidewalk cafe and beer garden, augmented by props reminiscent of a haunt for cracker barrel politicians to argue the fate of the Union, which in fact they may do before or after next Tuesday's election outcome.

Featured dish to be introduced, says Gene, is his cracker barrel special, "a man-size chopped steak sandwich barbecued to taste—one-half pound of meat on a split French roll with cheddar cheese."

Gene's application for a beer license has just been validated, giving him cause to stock up on both imported and domestic labels of the brewer's art.

FASHION SHOWS are on again at Bob's of Marin—every other Thursday. Next showing is Nov. 10 when some of the same bevy of beauties that modeled last year will display dresses from Sarrae's in San Rafael at lunchtime.

The style show is under the supervision of Sara Campbell of Sarrae's. Sara has handled many of these affairs before at Bob's.

College Club To Help Voters Go To Polls

Circle K, College of Marin service club, will provide transportation to the polls Tuesday for residents of San Anselmo, Ross and Kentfield who need it.

Persons who wish transportation may notify Roy Beck at 222 Crescent Road, San Anselmo, on Saturday or Sunday, or telephone the college Monday or Tuesday.

FILMS OF MARIN

New Rafael Picture Features Jungle Cats

By LES DARD

Marin filmgoers guide to the weekend fare:

RAFAEL THEATER

The jaguar is perhaps the most beautiful—certainly it is the most deadliest—of the killers of the Amazon jungle.

Two jaguars, one spotted and one black, are the stars of Walt Disney's latest True-Life Adventure film, "Jungle Cat," which opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

Three Disney naturalist-cameramen spent two years following these jaguars from the snarls of their mating battle to growling tenderness with their offspring.

The color cameras capture an extended battle with a boa constrictor, a crocodile and a wild pig. The jaguars don't lose any battles, although on occasion their prey does escape.

The animals provide their own humor; Disney has kept a rein on the tricksters who hyped up earlier True-Adventure films.

Various types of monkeys, an otter, a sloth, the scarlet ibis and other animals round out the cast of this film.

LARK THEATER

"Carry On, Nurse" is a new British comedy which establishes, beyond a doubt, that the male animal cuts a pretty sad figure when bereft of his pants. It has been held over in Larkspur for yet another week.

The men's ward of a hospital serves as the setting for this romp. There is no story as such. Rather, the audience follows the day and the night antics of the patients, a zany lot at best.

The crowd enjoyed this film the night I saw it.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"One Foot in Hell" (CinemaScope, color), a tale of western revenge starring Alan Ladd, opens Sunday on the Hub screen.

At first, he appears willing the accept the community's regrets. But all the time he's waiting for an opportunity to pay back the town; specifically by robbing the bank when it's full with cattlemen's receipts, thereby bankrupting the locals.

There aren't too many fisticuffs in the film, but there's more than a fair share of shooting. In fact, Ladd and his cronies—Don Murray, Sam O'Herlihy and Barry Coe—practically depopulate the community before the film ends.

Dolores Michaels also is in the cast as Murray's love interest. Love, in fact, is a key to what happens to Ladd and his cohorts.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"Ocean's 11" (Panavision color) is the intriguing title of a new film about a monumental Las Vegas crime caper. It opens Sunday in Mill Valley.

Ocean is Danny Ocean (Frank Sinatra) and the 11 are pals from a wartime commando unit. And what do veterans do when they get together? Well, Danny and his pals (acting on a suggestion by Akim Tamiroff) decide to rob five casinos at the same time—New Year's Eve.

Among the 11, for the record, are Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., Peter Lawford and Richard Conti. And their plot is ingenious, indeed. They get the money and they cache it well.

MOTOR MOVIES

"Strangers When We Meet" (color, wide screen) is an account of how two people drift into an affair in a plush suburb. It opens Sunday.

The participants are Kirk Douglas, as an architect somewhat bored with his wife (Barbara Rush), and Kim Novak, a beauty wed to a rather cold fish.

Douglas is working on a house for an author (Ernie Kovacs), and as the home rises, so does romance. When the place is nearly finished it's time for a decision: Douglas can break up his home or wreck Miss Novak's dreams.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Two highly popular films of several seasons back—"Country Girl" and "The Bridges at Toko-Ri"—have been put back in circulation (must be a new generation of movie-goers on hand). Both offer Grace Kelly and both picked up some Oscars.

Bing Crosby co-stars in the first, as a once-great singing star turned lush who gets a second chance with the help of stage director Bill Holden. Miss Kelly plays Bing's wife, tempted by Holden's growing admiration, but recognizing that Crosby needs her on the way back.

The co-feature (in color) is an excellent war drama. This time, Holden stars as a young lawyer yanked back to the Navy for flying duty during the Korean War. Miss Kelly plays his wife, Frederic March is cast as a carrier boss and Mickey Rooney portrays a 'copter pilot.

Estimate: Two first-rate films well worth seeing.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"The Story of Ruth" (color, Cinemascope) is based on what has been called the greatest mother-in-law story in history.

Elana Eden, a Hollywood newcomer, plays Ruth, the Moabite priestess who renounces her graven gods to follow her mother-in-law (Peggy Wood) to Israel ("Whither thou goest . . . ") after her husband is killed.

NOVATO THEATER

Samuel Goldwyn Jr. is the producer of the fourth film version of "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" (in CinemaScope, Metrocolor), opening Sunday.

60 (COUNT 'EM) GIRLS 60

By BOB THOMAS

"It's amazing! Imagine me, at my age—73—still active in my profession and commuting 12,000 miles to work! I must be the luckiest man in the world."

That's Karloff, one of Hollywood's nicest paradoxes. The archtype of horror ever since he played the tall-browed monster in "Frankenstein," he has remained the gentlest of gentlemen. I caught him in a reflective mood at Universal Studios.

His reflection was not due to his golden anniversary as an actor, which he mentioned only casually. He reminisced because he was working on the Phantom Stage, so named because "Phantom of the Opera" was filmed on it.

"I worked on this stage many a time," he recalled. "Most of the 'Frankensteins' were shot on Stage 12, but some of the scenes were done on the Phantom Stage. This lot holds many memories for me."

I wondered if all the memories were pleasant ones. After all, he was and is a polished performer, yet the general public sees him in the image of the hulking, brainless monster.

"Me worry about type casting?" he asked. "Good heavens, no! The monster was the best friend I ever had. I only played him three times, so I wasn't stuck with him.

"Certainly I was typed. But what is typing? It is a trade mark, a means by which the public recognizes you. Actors work all their lives to achieve that. Companies spend millions of dollars to establish trade marks. I got mine with just one picture. It was a blessing."

The Karloff trade mark made him the logical candidate to host the new NBC series, "Thriller." To perform his duties, he engages in a rigorous schedule for any person, much less a 73-year-old. He lives in London, works in Hollywood.

After living 50 years in the New World, Karloff has returned to live in his native land.

"I think every person feels the urge to return to his homeland after he has been away a number of years."

Karloff left England in 1909, eager for an acting career instead of the family tradition in civil service. He started in amateur theatricals in western Canada, came to Hollywood in 1919—"But my presence here was a well-kept secret until 1931."

That was the year of "Frankenstein," and the making of him.

Protecting Your Dog

NEW YORK (UPI)—Distemper, greatest disease killer of dogs, may have found its match.

A new vaccine immunizing dogs against distemper now is on the market. The canine vaccine also contains modified live virus of infectious hepatitis, giving the puppy protection against both diseases with one injection.

Education Council To Meet In S.F.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's new coordinating council for higher education meets in San Francisco Monday to discuss state aid for junior colleges, graduate students and undergraduates and proposals for new state colleges.

It also will consider selection of a director.

Tam School Bonds Issue Due Board

Tamalpais Union High School District's three-million-dollar bond proposal—which lost by 900 votes Oct. 11 — probably will be resubmitted to the voters with no change.

A citizens advisory committee is expected to recommend that action to the board of trustees at 8 p.m. Monday, in the district office at Redwood High School.

The bond issue would provide funds for new classrooms and other facilities at Redwood, a new science building and remodeling at Tamalpais High, and some additional facilities at Drake.

The board also will hear a recommendation from Robert B. Torrey, director of instruction, that the district drop sponsorship of the science fair and ask the county schools office to sponsor a Marin science fair for all schools.

In the past few years the Tamalpais district science fair has become the official elimination for the Bay Area Science Fair.

Demo Incumbent Record Opposed By GOP Nominee

A Corte Madera landowner and a Tiburon insurance investigator are pitted against each other for the U.S. House of Representatives member from California's First District, which runs from the Marin shore of the Golden Gate to the Oregon line.

The incumbent Democrat Clement W. Miller, of Corte Madera, lists his non-political occupation as landscape consultant.

Opposing Miller for the second time is Fred G. Dupuis, Republican, chief special agent for the National Board of Fire Underwriters' San Francisco office. Miller defeated Dupuis two years ago after veteran Rep. Hubert B. Scudder retired from Congress.

In the campaign for election next Tuesday, Miller is running on his record. It is a straight party-line record on national and international issues. He points to numerous efforts on behalf of local issues for his congressional district.

Dupuis is attacking that record principally on the basis that Miller has voted to squander the taxpayers' money and to intrude the federal government further into the lives of American citizens. Dupuis has labeled his opponent "Spending Clem."

The candidates have taken opposed positions on various issues, some of which are:

Point Reyes National Seashore: Miller is a strong advocate of the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore, and introduced a bill for the government to acquire 56,000 acres of the Point Reyes Peninsula for the project—upped to nearly double the 29,000 acres at first suggested.

Dupuis claims the introduction of this bill "confused the issues involved," since an earlier bill calling for acquiring 35,000 acres had been introduced. He calls the 55,000-acre proposal "so grandiose in scope it is doubtful that it would ever be passed by Congress." He ridicules Miller's statement that part of the land could be acquired for $125 an acre. He would return to the earlier 35,000-acre park proposal.

CLEMENT W. MILLER
He runs on record . . .

FRED G. DUPUIS
. . . that he derides

Foreign Relations: Dupuis calls the course in foreign affairs advocated by Miller one which "means eventual international disaster." He claims Miller's proposals would play into the hands of the Communists.

On this issue, Dupuis claims his 13 years service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation—before he became an insurance investigator—has given him an insight into Communist workings.

Miller has accused the Eisenhower Administration of "abject failure to pursue disarmament objectives" and being "woefully unprepared at Geneva." He advocates a continued moratorium on nuclear weapons testing, strengthening the United Nations, and "reopening channels of communication and negotiation with Red China."

Welfare State: Miller favors compulsory health insurance, a government-operated medical program for the aged, and federal aid to education.

Dupuis calls these programs, in the forms Miller advocates, unwarranted intrusion of the federal government into the private lives of citizens and projects which would result in huge additional federal spending to the detriment of the free economy.

Neither Miller nor Dupuis was born in the First Congressional District, although both are longtime Marin residents.

Miller was born in Wilmington, Del., and educated at Williams College. During the Truman Administration he was a veterans representative for the War Assets Administration and hearing officer and field examiner for the National Labor Relations Board. He served as an Army captain in Europe in World War II and was awarded the Bronze Star.

He and his wife, Katharine, have five children. The family home is at 433 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera.

Dupuis was born in Helena, Mont. He was orphaned when 2 years old and reared by adoptive parents. He is a graduate of Northwestern College of Law at Portland, Ore. He started with the FBI in 1935 as a night clerk in Portland and later served as an FBI agent in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and Washington, D.C. He became a special agent for the National Board of Fire Underwriters in 1949.

He and his wife, Marybelle, have three children. They reside on Ridge Road, Tiburon.

Sales Tax On Medicine Is Just One Thing Too Much

McCarthy, in announcing he would introduce legislation at this year's session of the Legislature to eliminate the tax, called it "an unconscionable burden on people least able to pay."

We'll certainly second that sentiment. Anyone who has had illness in the family knows enough about the high cost of sickness—hospital bills doctors' bills, medicine bills—to wish even a small escape.

Under McCarthy's plan, which would exempt drugs and medicines from the 4 per cent sales tax, the state would lose $5,000,000 annually in revenue, according to an estimate by the state legislative auditor.

Looking at this another way, the exemption would save $5,000,000 per year for the people paying the cost of illnesses. Those little four per cent additions certainly do add up. They represent a medicine-drug bill of 125 million dollars a year in California.

With Gov. Edmund G. Brown already predicting surpluses for the next fiscal year of 70 million dollars or so, it seems an ideal time to give a little break to someone who could use it.

The cost of medicine is high enough right now, as recent congressional studies have emphasized. Adding another four cents to each $1 the medicines cost is, as the senator said, unconscionable.

Repeal the Tax On Medicines

STATE SENATOR JOHN F. McCARTHY of San Rafael proposes repeal of the State's 3 per cent sales tax on medicines. He calls it a tax on illness and a tax on a commodity as essential to life as food, which always has been exempt.

It is these, and worse. It is a special tax on misfortune. It is a special tax on the family when the tragedy of chronic disease strikes. It is a special tax on the aged, whose drug bills are highest at the [illegible] when their income is lowest.

Exempt Drugs From Sales Ta[illegible]

ANOTHER fight to exempt prescription drugs and medicines from State and local sales taxes will be undertaken in the Legislature at the forthcoming budget session.

Doubtless with the blessing of an overwhelming majority of Californians, State Senator John F. McCarthy will introduce an exemption bill in the hopeful belief that prospects of a budget surplus will overcome objections that have consistently defeated its predecessors.

In the past, it has been pleaded that exemption of drugs and medicines would directly deprive the State of substantial sales tax revenues—now estimated at $5 million a year—and that it would open the door for exemptions on numerous other kinds of goods and merchandise.

We have never been impressed by this of argument. 'LAST DUEL' SITE

Marin Landmark Dedication Set

The Fairfax site of the home at which luncheon was served the antagonists in the last of California's duels of honor will be dedicated as an official historic landmark Sunday afternoon.

It was the home of "Lord" Charles Snowden Fairfax, a descendant of the Scottish barons of Cameron and the Fairfax family of Virginia, who became speaker of the California Assembly and clerk of the California Supreme Court during his short life of 40 years.

The public dedication, sponsored by the California State Park Commission and the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, will take place at 1:15 p.m.

Lord Charlie, lord of the 40-acre estate which is now the Marin Town and Country Club, was born in Virginia on March 8, 1829. He settled in California in Grass Valley at the age of 20. By the time he was 23 he was representing his district in the Assembly and at the age of 25 he became speaker. By 1856 he was appointed clerk of the supreme court.

In that same year he received a land grant to the 40 acres and buildings which became known as Fairfax Manor, giving two Marin communities their present names.

Lord Charlie gave his home the name Bird's Nest Glen.

It was here, in 1861, that he served luncheon to Charles W. Piercy and Daniel Showalter, two Democratic assemblymen with opposing political views, shortly before California's last "affaire d'honneur" in which Showalter was to leave his opponent dead on the field with a rifle bullet through his heart.

The duelists, forced out of San Francisco because that city was weary of "legal" killings, chose Bird's Nest Glen as their field of honor. Both friends of Lord Charlie, their luncheon proved to be the last either ever ate with him. The Marin County Grand Jury indicted Showalter for murder and he fled the state to escape trial.

The Showalter-Piercy duel was not the first time Lord Fairfax had come face to face with violence.

On March 25, 1859, a political rival, Harvey Lee, ran a sword through Fairfax's chest on Fourth Street in San Rafael, after Lord Charlie slapped his face.

Fairfax, seriously wounded, drew a derringer, looked Lee in the eye and said:

"Recollect, I have your life in my hands. I spare it, not on your worthless account, for you are an assassin and a coward, but because of your wife and children."

From that time on, the fortunes of Lord Fairfax were on the wane. A Southern sympathizer in a state which had sided with the Union, his personal popularity remained high but the aftermath of the war left him the defender of a lost cause.

His last gesture to his party, the then-morinund Democrats, was to lead the California delegation to the national convention in New York to nominate Horatio Seymour for president.

Seymour was overwhelmed in the election which swept Ulysses S. Grant into the White House in 1868.

Soon after, Fairfax moved to Baltimore, where he died on April 16, 1859, one month after the inauguration.

The dedication of the site of Lord Charles Snowden Fairfax's home will mark the fifth major historic site in Marin County marked and dedicated by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West. The previous markings are the Pioneer Paper Mill in Samuel Taylor State Park, St. Vincent School for Boys, the Old Mill in Mill Valley and the Little Red School House in Nicasio.

'Pillowcase' Pair Indicted By Grand Jury

Two San Francisco suspects in the "pillowcase" burglaries were indicted last night by Marin County Grand Jury on seven burglary counts.

Ben Harrison Wadington, 42, and Lloyd Frederick Wendelbo, 44, both ex-convicts, will be arraigned in Marin Superior Court next Monday. They are being held in county jail in lieu of $10,500 bail each.

ESTIMATE OF LOOT

Ross Police Chief Joseph Regoni, who cornered the pair, said a diver would be sent to the San Francisco waterfront to recover more of the estimated $100,000 in loot taken from some 60 Marin homes since last June.

Items already recovered were put on display at a "sheriff's store" which opened yesterday so victims could claim their jewels, appliances and other household effects.

Inspector William Bradley reported this morning that "business was excellent" at the "sheriff's store" yesterday as 32 victims arrived to claim their wares.

"About one-half the inventory is gone, but we're expecting another truckload today to replenish the stocks," said Bradley. About 30 more victims have not showed up as yet to look over the display of loot.

John Painter, Upper Road, Ross; Paul Vredenburg, 125 Cloudview Road, Sausalito; Mrs. Victoria Kelleher, 7 Crescent Drive, Corte Madera; David K. Mayer, 15 Woodside Drive, San Anselmo; Edward W. Johnson, 15 Elinor Street, Mill Valley; Merle S. Greenblat, 640 Hilary Drive, Tiburon; and G. A. Gast, 20 Tamalpais Avenue, Belvedere.

District Atty. Roger P. Garety, who prepared the complaint, picked out the seven burglaries, one from each community, because it was impractical to list all 60 breakins, he said.

No Excommunication Threat In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) —a source close to Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan said today the Roman Catholic Church has no intention of excommunicating voters who ignore a church ban against voting for the Popular Democratic Party of Gov. Luis Munoz Marin.

However, the source said those voting for the Munoz candidates will commit a sin.

The source added that this does not mean that the struggle between the church and the Munoz party has ended.

"It has just been joined," he said. "It promises to be a long, drawn-out affair."

Archbishop Davis and Bishops James E. McManus and Luis Aponte Martinez issued pastoral letters which were read at Masses throughout the island on the past two Sundays. The letters condemmned the Munoz party and ordered Puerto Rican Catholics not to vote for it.

Marin Medical Society Names New Officers

Dr. Joseph J. Arons, San Rafael internist, was named president-elect of the Marin County Medical Society last night at its annual meeting in the Meadow Club, Fairfax. He will become president in 1962.

Dr. Russell Klein, San Rafael proctologist, becomes the 1961 president in January. He was named president-elect a year ago. The president-elect serves one year of training as aide to the president and chairman of the program committee.

Others elected unopposed last night were:

Dr. Calvin Plumhof, San Rafael pathologist, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Dr. William Edwards and Lee Cecil, both of San Rafael, and Muriel Bennett, Kentfield, to the board of directors.

Named as California Medical Assn. delegates were Drs. Ira Degenhardt and John H. Manwaring of San Rafael, with Drs. Lyman Hurlbut, Kentfield, and Roger Hedin and Robert West, San Rafael, as alternates.

The society by the near unanimous vote of 148 to 3, adopted a complete revision of its constitution and by-laws and by a 142 to 12 vote approved a "principles of professional conduct" for members of the society.

In his annual report, outgoing president Dr. Dallas Wagner, presiding at the last formal meeting of his term, reported the society had grown from 178 to 194 members during the year. He said the single most important accomplishment had been the formulation of the Marin Medical Plan for pre-paid health care (see story Page 1).

Dr. Edwards, chairman of the Professional Relations Committee, which investigates charges lodged against physicians, either by patients or other physicians, reported that 29 complaints, involving 22 doctors, had been handled during the year. Only one had been between two doctors.

Nineteen of the complaints dealt with over-charging. Most of them "were misunderstandings of the services given," Dr. Edwards said, but a reduction in the fee was recommended in seven of the cases.

Two charges of unethical conduct were settled in conference as were six for "poor service." Two possible cases involving litigation were threatened but solved by the committee, he said.

Dr. Arons, chairman of the Legislative Committee, warned the doctors that "regardless of who wins the presidential election," there will be an increase in the amount of legislation proposed which would affect medicine. He urged increased activity on part of the members in keeping themselves and each other informed.

Dr. Arthur Ablin, chairman of the public relations committee, stressed the need for disseminating information about medical care programs endorsed by the doctors, particularly those which deal with medical problems of the aged.

Other committee chairmen reported.

Wife Arrests Mate, Relents

Donald D. Fields, 24, of 9 Warner Court, San Rafael, was treated for a stab wound in the chest and placed under a citizen's arrest by his wife, Barbara, last night.

Mrs. Fields called San Rafael police at 6:30 p.m. and said her husband had punched her in the face. Police Officer Gerald Souza said the woman had a two-inch laceration above her left eye.

Accompanied by the officer, she arrested her husband at the Cavalcade bar at 813 Fourth Street, San Rafael. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a stab wound in the chest and released. He told police he was stabbed while fighting with his wife.

Fields was taken to the county jail to be booked on charges of assault and battery, but his wife changed her mind and declared she would not sign a formal complaint, police said.

The husband was released after signing a waiver which released the police from any responsibility.

Novato Girl Competes For Boat Show Title

Blonde De Anna Laub, 18, of Novato, is competing in Oakland this week to become queen of the Far West Boat Show at Oakland Exposition Hall.

Decision Due On Novato Loan Office

A decision is expected in about two weeks on whether Novato will have a savings and loan firm.

Three proposed firms applied for the right to operate in Novato in a four-hour hearing yesterday in San Francisco.

State savings and loan commissioner Frank J. Mackin will decide whether the Novato area population is large enough to support any one of the three applicants: Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn. and two groups proposing to call themselves the Novato Savings and Loan Assn.

Novato Savings and Loan Assn. No. 1 directors are Robert McCarthy, John L. Merrill and Andrew Talbot, all of San Francisco; Edmund Nash and Thomas R. Mathews, of Sausalito; John C. Lyman of Ross and Clark M. Palmer Jr., Novato city attorney.

For Novato Savings and Loan Assn. No. 2 they are: John J. Angeloni and Everett Pozzi, Novato city councilmen; Gordon Walker, Dr. Ralph J. Weseman, Joseph B. Rice, William Seely and Robert Gray, all of Novato.

Directors of the Ross Valley association, which proposes a branch, are: Earle M. Young of Kentfield, president; Eugene A. Ostaggi of Ross; Earle David of Kentfield; A. Von Rotz and Lawrence E. Wright of San Anselmo; Richard G. Fontana Jr. of Kentfield; Claudia Goldwaite of San Rafael and Thomas D. Minto of Kentfield.

Threatened Transit Walkout Halted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A threatened transit strike in the Los Angeles was halted by court order yesterday until at least Nov. 15.

Girl Sues School For $50,000

A 6-year-old girl attending Santa Venetia School is suing San Rafael Elementary School District for $50,000 damages for injuries she allegedly suffered on the school playground a year ago.

Kenneth M. Proctor filed the suit in Marin Superior Court for his daughter, Charlene.

The complaint says Charlene suffered permanent injuries last Nov. 5 when she fell on playground equipment. The suit contends the school district was negligent in not maintaining safe equipment.

Marin's High Academic Standards Reason For Low Gridiron Turnout

The dark clouds that rolled over the skies of Kentfield seemed bright compared to the mood in the College of Marin conference room yesterday afternoon.

For 90 minutes four top level figures of the college faculty pondered a troubled situation and finally agreed the college should cancel its three remaining football games.

With only 10 healthy players left, there was no sense trying to compete with the 35 and 40-man squads of future opponents.

The decision was particularly bitter for Harry Pieper, the coach, who as player and mentor was noted for his courage, talent and enthusiasm. Feeling perhaps like a manager forced to throw in the towel for his battered fighter, Pieper agreed the situation was hopeless.

In a school where football deteriorated in recent years, Pieper has agonized through living hell and yesterday's decision was just as much additional torture. The decision was Pieper's and he is to be commended for the sound judgment in placing the well-being of his players above all else. Someone, somewhere inferred Marin and Pieper were scared to complete their schedule but that statement was as ridiculous as it sounds and not worthy of publication.

At the start of the season Pieper greeted 26 football candidates from the school's male enrollment of 555. Yesterday he had 14 left and only 10 of those were healthy.

Pieper answers: "This is a fine academic institution. The kids tell me they don't turn out for the team because they don't want to jeopardize their education. And you can't argue with them for that—after all, that's the reason they're here.

"Being keenly interested in this situation I've taken a survey and have found that during the season football players get better grades than they do in the off season. That's because of the stiff eligibility requirements we have here and the incentive provided by the football participation.

"We don't put much time into football—only two hours a day. No quarterback meetings or any other extra work.

"Football does not interfere with the academic department. The only trouble is we have such a small squad that if only one player is ruled ineligible it hurts the team a great deal."

Does the cancellation of the remaining games mean Marin will drop football entirely? "It certainly does not," said Pieper. "We're looking forward to next season with the enthusiasm we always have. A few years ago Napa (College) dropped football completely, but they came back with excellent schedule and a 48-man squad. We'll do the same thing."

Pieper had one last word of praise for his 1960 team. "We started out with a small group of players who had very little, if any high school experience," he said. "Yet last week they outplayed that Napa team with as much spirit as I have ever seen. It's a credit to the team, not the coaches. I'm deeply sorry for this concellation, but I feel responsible for the well-being of the players and I will not expose them to a situation that may hurt them in any way."

IN LAST week's rundown of Marin County boys who made it to the major leagues we omitted one very important one—Tony Freitas, a pitcher who went from Tam High to the Philadelphia Athletics in 1932-33 and later to Cincinnati in 1934. He also spent more than 15 years with Sacramento in the Coast League.

In his rookie year with the Athletics Freitas won his first eight straight games! Among those who called in to chide us for the oversight was Manuel Azevedo and G. T. Wendering, both of Mill Valley and Al Hausle of Kentfield.

THE PROUDEST man in the north bay area this week must have been a Mr. George Davis.

He is the coach of the St. Helena High School football team and he must be popping the buttons on his vest after his players scored an 80-0 victory over Tomales.

Mr. Davis permitted his outstanding halfback Tom Blanchfield to play virtually the entire game, scoring touchdowns in all four quarters so that by the end of the game the busy boy had personally scored 55 points.

It was obvious that Mr. Davis wanted Blanchfield to become the individual scoring champion of northern California. He now has 141 points to his personal credit. Should Blanchfield win the championship, it will be tainted by the downright unsportsmanlike methods used by Coach Davis—and I hesitate identifying him as a "coach."

Milt Castleberry, the Tomales coach, shrugged off the walloping with a "That's their business," but he admitted Davis kept his first string in most of the game. "I suppose he could have substituted more," said Castleberry.

This appears to be one of the most flagrant cases of "pouring it on" we have seen in 14½ years on this job. St. Helena school authorities had better have a talk with Mr. Davis about his ruthless tactics before some outclassed boy on an opposing team is seriously injured.

Eighty to nothing scores do not belong in high school. Once victory appears safe, decent coaches bench their first team and give the scrubs a chance.

If Mr. Davis is looking for more setups, we'll try to arrange a game for him against the Dominican Convent.

Tourney Washed Out

CORONADO (AP)—A field of 160 golfers try again today to complete first-round play in the once-postponed $21,000 Coronado pro-am tournament.

The opening round in the 72-hole event, richest pro-am tourney on the PGA fall tour, was rained out yesterday.

Marin Trustees Ponder Football Future

The college announced yesterday it was cancelling its last three games of the season due to a shortage of players. Crossed off their schedule were games with the University of Santa Clara, American River College and Shasta College Due to injuries and ineligibility, the college was able to field only 17 able bodied players against their last game with Napa College. Yesterday only 14 players were left and four of them were nursing bruises.

Last night trustee George G. Washburn, over the opposition of the other four board members, proposed the college think about dropping football altogether.

"I have talked to students and they are ashamed of the team," Washburn said. "I suggest we drop football next year if we don't do any better."

"I am wholeheartedly opposed to the idea," trustee Rupert E. Kempf said."

Board Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy also came for retaining the sport and said that although she was sorry to see the games cancelled, she was "proud of the wisdom shown in not sacrificing the minimum team we have simply in order to keep a schedule. I think our coach showed excellent judgment."

Washburn said good football players were coming to the school and refusing to go out for the team.

"It doesn't help the kids' school spirit to cheer for a losing team. We want to attract youngsters from Marin and then we threw out a football team they are ashamed of."

"I have talked to students too," Mrs. Deedy answered. "There is a good core of spirit here which is behind the team."

"And because we are going to sit down and discuss the problem doesn't mean we are throwing in the sponge," she added. When we field a championship basketball team, I don't see these diehards packing the gym to support the boys."

Yesterday's decision to cancel the remaining games was announced by Head Coach and Director of Athletics Harry Pieper after a 90-minute conference with Dr. Stephen Epler, director of the college, Paul "Dutch" Clymer, dean of instruction, and Irwin Diamond, dean of students.

Said Pieper: "With only 14 players left, and four of these limping, we didn't have enough to make up a healthy team. We felt the players were vulnerable to further injury and we don't want to expose them to that."

The Tars have lost all six of their games but the last one was close, Napa J.C. taking it 14-12.

"The kids never lacked for spirit," Pieper said. "Although we were down to a mere handful of players, we outgained Napa 358 yards to 237."

Dark Puts Giants Under Microscope

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There's a new field administration for the San Francisco Giants and already Manager Alvin Dark is saying "Let's look at the record."

The Giants' new skipper has plenty of ideas about managing, says he's learned a lot from the six major league managers he's played under but intends to utilize statistics to a large extent.

Dark has already told John Taddeucci, Giants statistician, that he wants a complete statistical report on every Giant on the roster.

Dark's request goes beyond the routine batting, pitching and fielding statistics that are compiled by the league. He wants specifics:

"I want to know how Orlando Cepeda batted against Don Drysdale . . . How Sam Jones did against Eddie Mathews . . . Take if from there. Give me a complete rundown."

He's also got a statistical job for Frank Bowman, the Giants' trainer.

SCALE REPORT

"I want the weight at which everybody reported for spring training this year, and how many pounds he eventually peeled off to reach his playing weight," Dark declared. And he wants to know how long it took each of 'em to do it.

Dark has played under Billy Southworth, Leo Durocher, Fred Hutchinson, Bob Scheffing, Gene Mauch and Charley Dressen — and learned from each of them.

"Southworth had great patience . . . Durocher was quick and alert—in the ball game all the time. . . .Fred Hutchinson knew how to handle pitchers . . . Mauch is something like Durocher, quick and aggressive . . . Dressen's baseball knowledge is astonishing in its depth . . . Bob Scheffing has great patience, especially with youngsters."

But, Dark says, although he hopes to have some of the qualities of each of his former skippers, he doesn't plan to be exactly like any of them.

"As problems arise, I can't say to myself, 'How would Billy Southworth solve this?' or 'What would Leo Durocher do?'"

Dark shakes his head and continues, "I must say, 'Dark this is up to you. Do it your way.'"

It sounds as though Alvin has the mark of a manager already. He's talking to himself.

Big Harvest Of Deer

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A harvest of close to 115,000 deer is predicted for this fall by the State Conservation Department.

About 465,000 hunters are expected to take the field for the Nov. 15-30 season.

REDWOOD VS. MARIN TOMORROW

Tam-Drake, Novato-S.R. Top Local Grid Slate Tonight

The next to last big weekend in the Marin Athletic League's football schedule starts tonight with two contests on the agenda and continues tomorrow afternoon with another important game scheduled at Kentfield.

Tonight Tamalpais and Drake renew their colorful rivalry at Kentfield, and Novato, which owns the best record in the county but is second to Redwood in league standings, invades the San Rafael stadium. Bothe games start at 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow afternoon Redwood's Giants hope to nail down at least a tie for the league championship and are favored over Marin Catholic. This is a 2 o'clock game at Kentfield.

Tonight's Drake-Tam tussle appears to be a tossup. Although great things were expected of the Pirates, they have dropped two of their three league games while Tam, rated for second division in pre-season forecasts, has won two of three and seems to improve with every game. Tam's lone league loss was a close 6-13 contest to unbeaten Redwood last week.

DRAKE FIRED UP

Drake comes off a 6-25 upset to San Rafael and probably will be fired up to redeem themselves against their southern cousins from Mill Valley. Scott Moriarty at fullback leads the Pirate ground attack while quarterback Sam Johnson is the Pirates' ace passer.

Tam's best runner is Pat Morgan who has averaged about 100 yards gained per game. Last week Redwood became the first opponent to prevent Morgan from scoring.

Over at San Rafael, meanwhile, Novato is favored to improve its 6-1 won-lost record at the expense of the Bulldogs. With their great end, Lu Haas, back for full-time duty after an injury, the Hornets will be tougher than ever. However, this week they lost the services of their other starring end, Ron Grayson, with a broken leg.

San Rafael could upset Novato, an ability they showed last week in the surprisingly easy win over Drake. If quarterback Jack Sovereign is able to pass as sharply as he did last week and if the Bulldog defense keeps up its rugged work, San Rafael will be tough.

Tomorrow afternoon's contest favors Redwood, but the scrappy Marin Catholic team has been tough all season. The passing of John Jones, the all around ability of Jerry Crowe at fullback and the linebacking of Crowe and Tony Giusti have kept Marin in the thick of all its games.

Redwood has never lost a Marin League game and with such stalwarts as tackle Mike Hoffman, quarterback Roger Siemens and halfback Mike Alessio the Giants aren't about to lay down tomorrow.

All six junior varsity teams will play, too, including Novato at San Rafael and Tam-Drake at Kentfield, both starting tonight at 5:45 o'clock, and Marin Catholic at Redwood this afternoon.

The starting lineups for the varsity games:

REDWOOD—Ends Herbe Schrieber and John Whitney, tackles Mike Hoffman and John Keppel, guards Ralph Wood and John Clum, center Mike Walsh, quarterback Roger Siemens, halfbacks Keith Norton and Mike Alessio, fullback Ned Griffith.

TV TO COVER HIGH SCHOOL GRID ANTICS

Halftime ceremonies at tonight's Novato vs. San Rafael high school football game on the San Rafael gridiron will be filmed for future showing on television.

The filming will be done by a KGO-TV (Channel 7) crew headed by Jimmy Lederer.

The films will then be shown next Monday night on Channel 7's Shell News show which starts at 6:30 p.m.

KGO-TV officials said the Novato-San Rafael game was selected "because we have been hearing so much this year about the colorful halftime ceremonies which are being presented at Marin high school games. We are told they compare most favorably with college game ceremonies."

A COSTLY ERROR

Ref Admits Mistake, Apologizes To Tam

An official in last week's crucial Tamalpais-Redwood High School football game this week apologized to Tam Coach Jim Hanretty for what he admitted was a "big error" in a crucial penalty against Tam.

The official is John Hattala of Napa and he apologized to Tam in the form of a lengthy letter.

Hattala acknowledged that he was wrong on one play when he assessed a 15-yard penalty against Tam on a fourth down punt situation. The yardage was correct, he said, but instead of giving Tam a first down after the penalty, as rules state, he left it at fourth down. Tam eventually lost the game, 13-6.

Here is Hattala's letter to Hanretty:

"Dear Jim:

"This may seem to be an unusual letter to be writing, but I haven't felt right since I got home from your game of Saturday afternoon. I do hope this isn't reminding you of something you would like to forget as George Cammarota told me you felt pretty bad after the game. I thought your kids didn't get any breaks, but honestly I felt the two teams played as well as any I have seen in a long time. It was a pleasure to have had the opportunity to work the game as the kids of both teams were real gentlemen and did want to win as you and Bob (Troppman of Redwood) did.

"I have always felt confident of all my rules interpretations and have felt that my errors were at a minimum. On Saturday you got a tough break on the holding call on the muffed punt by Redwood. Things were a little confused at the time and everyone wanted an explanation which I rightly feel is deserving if the coach or captain desires. When I asked Joe Grove when the holding occurred he stated that it was during the loose ball. The first thing I thought of was the loose ball situations and that meant 15 yards from the previous spot. Redwood had the choice of giving you the ball where it was recovered or 15 yards back of the previous spot (snap). This was about the 50 yard line. After marching off the penalty I made it fourth down again.

"Jim, I was wrong and am sorry as this is a fundamental rule. It should have been first down for you on the 35 and not the fourth down on your own 35. The rule book states—after R has touched a scrimmage kick, regardless of what happens and whether a penalty is accepted or declined a new series will be awarded. It should have been your ball first and 10 on your own 35 yard line. If people are being critical of you for losing this game, I feel that you can tell them my error could have been a reason.

"I am very conscientious of the type of game I work and when I make an error, as I really did, my feelings get pretty low. This is really the first time that I can recall ever making such an important error. I am really sorry. Perhaps there may have been other things missed by the officials, but that was the way it looked to us.

"It's hard to write this to you, but I feel better getting it off my chest. I know it won't help now but it may help to explain that this call could have hurt the outcome in some way.

"Again I say this is an unusual letter, as an official, to be writing. You may feel that I am trying to cover up my error. I am not as no one questioned the decision I made (not even my fellow officials). Jim, you have a right to be critical of this big error.

"Sincerely yours
John Hattala"

ENTERTAINMENT DOLLAR SCARCE

Cal Saturated With Sports And Promoters Are Worried

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The battle for the entertainment dollar in California is getting serious and some sports officials are starting to wonder if the saturation point has been reached.

"Look at this crowd," wailed Chuck Taylor, assistant athletic director at Stanford as he pointed to the estimated 29,000 fans in the stand for the Stanford-Southern California game last Saturday.

"Ten years ago we would have had 60,000 or 70,000 here — no matter what the team records. There's no doubt about it, the professionals are cutting a big inroad on the entertainment dollar."

The other night UCLA played North Carolina State to an even smaller crowd. California has been playing to groups of 30,000 to 35,000 — against the usual run of 50,000 to 60,000. Washington State College got more money as its share of the gate when it played Arizona State in Tempe, Ariz., than it did playing California at Berkeley.

Cities in Oregon, Washington and Arizona often out-draw Los Angeles and San Francisco for amateur sports. University of Washington plays to capacity houses of 55,000 for its home games.

The cities in other western states haven't had a taste of professional sports. And they don't have as many events to choose from.

L.A. LOADED

Los Angeles now has two major league baseball franchises, two major football franchises, professional basketball, etc. San Francisco has pro football, baseball — and is supposed to get two professional basketball franchises in 1961-62.

"It's going to take real, top-flight promotion to make a buck in the sports entertainment business in the future," said one promotor. "There was a day when all we had to do was open the gates and the fans would pour through the turnstiles. Now they can be choosy.

"I think there's just as much money around as ever, but there are more places to spend it. For instance, this winter there will be a half dozen rich professional golf tournaments in the state —against only two or three big ones in previous years.

"It means that the colleges, to keep up the pace, are going to have to do a bit of promoting to get fans out for their games. So are the professionals.

"The novelty of big league baseball will wear off in another year or so and then Horace Stoneham and Walter O'Malley will have to scratch for the dollar just like the rest of us. I know the giants have just about killed boxing here. And the Dodgers aren't helping the game any in Los Angeles. We can't get any publicity. Professional baseball and football get it all."

If the American Baseball League plays in the Coliseum this coming summer some of the southern newspapers are talking about sitting up a sub-office at the Coliseum. Some of the sports writers will spend all their waking days and nights there. In addition to daily baseball, there'll be the pro football (two leagues), college football (UCLA and USC), rodeos, fireworks, etc.

It would take a rich man to attend everything in just this one stadium.

Huskies, USC In Rose Bowl Showdown Tilt

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington's Huskies gun for a victory over the Southern California Trojans Saturday at Los Angeles in a football game that could decide the Rose Bowl race.

Both clubs are 2-0 in the Big Five Conference but, while the Huskies have whipped a top contender in UCLA, the Trojan triumphs have been against Stanford and California.

Recalling last year's 22-15 loss to USC, the only setback suffered by Washington's 1960 Rose Bowl champion club. Coach Jim Owens declared "We'll be up for this game. And we'll be at something more like full strength."

Tackle Barry Bullard, who started in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, was expected back in the Huskie lineup this week. He has been out since the Oct. 1 Navy game with injuries.

USC has lost co-captain Mike McKeever who was operated on this week for a blood clot on the brain, but some say his ordeal will inspire his team.

The West Coast football weekend could again bring its share of surprises. UCLA invades California. Washington State hosts Oregon State. Oregon meets Stanford at Portland. San Jose State plays College of the Pacific in a night game at Stockton and Idaho hosts Arizona.

HUSKIES FAVORED

Should Washington beat USC, and it's favored, the Huskies would have only California still in its path toward the Big Five title and Rose Bowl bid. Should USC win, the later meeting between the Trojans and Uclans could prove the decider.

California's 14-6 upset victory over the single wing Oregon State Beavers raised Berkeley's hopes in the meeting against the favored Bruins of UCLA who also use the single wing system.

To win, the Bears of Cal must stop Bill Kilmer, the Big Five's total offense leader rated one of the best if not the best tailback in UCLA history. On offense, California banks on the passing of sophomore quarterback Randy Gold, a young fellow gaining maturity rapidly in this rugged season.

Oregon State with its great sophomore tailback Terry Baker, the nation's total offense leader, aims to come back against a WSU team that thumped COP and San Jose.

Oregon's speedsters Cleveland Jones and Dave Grayson plus the able quarterback Dave Grosz should prove too much for the Indians of Stanford who have yet to post a 1960 triumph.

San Jose State needs to rebound from last week's 29-6 defeat by Washington State if the Spartans are to beat COP in their traditional rivalry. San Jose fullback Johnny Johnson, who was injured in the WSU game, is expected to play.

Fired Up Bears Set Upset Sights On UCLA Tomorrow

But after the Bears surprised Oregon State 14-6 for their first victory, the complexion underwent a decided change. The Bruins still rate as favorites as off their 3-1-1 record, but the Californians have proven they can stop a single wing team.

Whether they can stop tailback Bill Kilmer, the Uclans' All-America candidate, remains to be seen in this game with its 1:30 p.m. kickoff in Cal's Memorial Stadium.

Also, if the Bruins beat California and Southern California defeats Washington, then UCLA will be right back in the middle of a three-way scrap with USC and the Huskies of Washington for the Big Five crown and Rose Bowl bid.

Many rate Killmer the best tailback in Bruin history, a triple threat senior who leads the Big Five not only in total offense but also in punting.

He has accounted for 923 yards in five games—709 passing and 214 rushing—to go far in the total offense lead and he's averaged 41.2 yards punting.

California's biggest offensive weapon, sophomore quarterback Randy Gold, has 658 yards through the air. As California won its first 1960 contest with the surprise over Oregon State, the Bears also showed some strong running with fullback George Pierovich crashing through the line. Senior halfback Steve Bates leads in rushing with 235 yards and a 4.52 average.

Last week's most spectacular Bruin performance, in a 7-0 victory over powerful North Carolina State, came from senior end Marv Luster. On the touchdown drive he caught four Kilmer passes for 63 yards including a diving catch of the touchdown toss.

In their five games, the Uclans have defeated Pittsburgh, Stanford and North Carolina State, tied Purdue and lost by two points to Washington.

Coach Bill Barnes has plenty of insurance in the tailback post and last week Bobby Smith, who had been seeing mostly defensive duty because of an injured knee, led the team in rushing with 53 net yards on nine carries.

California also had good news this week with the return of halfback Jim Burress, a fellow who can help out both on offense and defense.

Oregon Warned: Beware Of Stanford's Norman

PORTLAND (AP) — Oregon takes its 5-2 record onto the football field here tomorrow against a Stanford team that has been beaten seven times in a row this season.

Newspapers here said Oregon was a two touchdown favorite. However, at Eugene yesterday, Oregon Coach Len Casanova cautioned his players against looking at Stanford's record.

Norman looked sharp in practice at Palo Alto yesterday as he connected repeatedly on passes as Stanford drilled confidently. If he gets 149 more yards he becomes the leading passer in Stanford history. Last season, he led the nation in passing.

As it has done most of the week, Oregon spent much of yesterday's drill on defense, trying to quell freshmen running Stanford plays. The varsity had a reasonable amount of success.

The game will start at 1:30 p.m. A crowd of about 20,000 was expected in Multnomah Stadium. The forecast was for morning fog and afternoon sunshine.

Stanford scheduled on afternoon workout in the stadium after its arrival here today. Earlier at Palo Alto, Stanford Coach Jack Curtice said: "We haven't been able to put everything together this year. Maybe we will Saturday."

Stanford probably will pass frequently. And at fullback, Stanford has a top runner, kicker and pass receiver in Skip Face.

Oregon, too, has a deft passer, quarterback Dave Grosz. With him in the backfield are two fleet little halfbacks, Dave Grayson and Cleveland Jones.

Jones and another halfback, Ben Brown, spent part of the week practicing field goals. Oregon last week was edged 7-6 by Washington.

Stanford will be the second team to bring a winless record into the state in a week. Last Saturday, California came north and upended Oregon State 14-6 for its first triumph of the season.

Qualifying Dates Set For 'Lucky' Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Qualifying will be held Dec. 1at the Lake Merced Club in San Francisco, Del Rio in Modesto and Northridge in Fair Oaks for amateurs seeking to play in the pro-amateur preceding the International Open Golf Tournament here Jan. 25.

Club champions and golfers holding a Northern California Golf Association handicap card of 12 or less are eligible to shoot for the 91 spots available.

Qualifying will be over an 18-hole route. Robert A. Roos, chairman of the pro-amateur committee, said entries must be received here by 5 p.m., Nov. 21.

Games, Owners, Players Et Al Make This A Crazier World Of Sports

CONNOLLY

The more I see of the crazy world of sports the crazier it seems to get. And that goes for the games, the owners, the participants and the writers.

Take the New York Yankees, f'instance. First of all, old Casey Stengel was fired after winning his 10th pennant in 12 years. Owner Dan Topping will tell you that Casey wasn't fired, he just refused to quit!

Next to feel the axe was General Manager George Weiss, the man who is more responsible than any other for the tremendous success of the Yankees for the past 29 years. Topping will tell you that Weiss wasn't fired, he just semi-retired. George doesn't know what his new job is and doesn't have any office hours, but he will be paid.

Yankee mogul Del Webb, whose construction companies have made money faster than a counterfeiter, has a real feud going with the Los Angeles Dodgers because he did not get the contract to build the new stadium in Chavez Ravine. Gossip has it that this is one of the reasons the American League moved into Los Angeles so fast. Spite.

AND NOW comes it the American Football League in general and our friend Eddie Erdelatz in particular.

After the University of California passed up one of the greatest coaches in the country because he didn't have a Phi Beta Kappa key, Eddie was grabbed by the new-born Oakland Raiders on a two-year contract.

Everyone knows what Eddie has done with the team that was picked as the doormat of the new league. No champs are they, but they have won half their games and have looked good doing it.

So what happens? Already the rumors are around that Erdelatz is on his way out because he doesn't like his bosses and because his bosses don't like him. Furthermore, a story out of New York City has it that owner Harry Wismer of the Titans cracked off on the radio during the New York-Oakland game last week blasting Erdelatz as a man who has done the new league no good and should get out of it.

WHAT A pleasure it must have been for Erdelatz to nose out Wismer's team by one point. Wismer has never been noted for tact. Unless he packs a good punch he would be wise to stay away from the husky Raider coach in the near future.

Incidentally, the New York press is almost completely boycotting the AFL games. Seems that none of the reporters care to waste their time at the games. What goes?

CLOSER TO home, the wolves were beginning to nip at the heels of Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers after his poor eastern trip. "His players hate his guts," went the story. When Phil Bengston left the 49ers for Green Bay he was quoted as saying, "I'd rather work for the worst team in the league than serve under Hickey." Now all is roses again.

And the San Francisco Giants? Quote and unquote.

All we can do is wish the best of luck to Eddie Erdelatz and his Raiders against the Boston Patriots this afternoon; to Red Hickey in his game against the Detroit Lions this Sunday at Kezar; and to Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants against terrific odds.

San Rafael Whips Unbeaten Tamites In Cage League

San Rafael, which dumped Marin Catholic 26-9 on Tuesday, thus kept its championship hopes alive. Tam leads the standings with a 10-1 record while San Rafael is 9-2 and Marin Catholic 8-2. Marin Catholic plays Tam next Tuesday in the final big game of the season.

Yesterday Coach Angelo Colombo's defensive-minded Bullpups held Tam to only five points in the first half. Leading the offensive unit was Greg Bailey with 13 points, followed by Tom Massip with 6. Tam's leader was James Bell with 7.

Good Hitting Pitcher

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Walker of the Baltimore Orioles, a .169 hitter in 1959, led all major league pitchers in batting with a sizzling .368 average in 1960.

Walker, a switch-hitter, collected 14 hits in 38 times at bat, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Harrison Regains Starting Linebacker Job With 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Middle linebacker Bob Harrison and offensive end Dee Mackey have been named to start Sunday for the San Francisco 49ers in their Kezar Stadium tussle with Detroit.

Harrison was slated to start the season at the key defensive post, but was demoted by Coach Red Hickey, who tried various other players there and finally settled on Ed Henke.

But Harrison has been a standout in recent contests and has earned his first-string slot again. Henke will be used both to back up Harrison and as a defensive end.

Mackey, the team's 24th draft choice from East Texas State, has been battling number one draft choice Monte Stickles for the starting tight end spot. Both are 235-pounders who can block with the best of them and handle short passes besides.

Mackey was given the starting nod once before over Stickles when he opened against the Green Bay Packers. On the first play, he was knocked out while trying to block and had to leave the contest.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

Prospects for a mess of fish over the weekend look good from where we sit. Provided, of course, no high winds develop to brand us a false prophet.

After a rather slow week, the Marin side of the San Pablo Bay has come to life. The general size seems to be somewhat smaller than two weeks ago, but still some nice fish have been taken. Off China Camp, California City, Red Rock and Racoon Strait bass fishing has been quite productive. In the area of buoys 5 and 7 skiffs and party boats have been doing very well. The Suisun Bay has produced some very good limits and out of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia Slough, Joe Nerviani told us the last weekend yielded better than 300 fish, with Sunday's catch the better of the two days.

Joe himself went out with two of the regulars, fished about two miles out and were back in the harbor by 12:30 with limits on Tuesday morning. Fish ran to eight pounds and were taken with small hooks (3/0s) and small chunk sardine baits. Joe also reported the taking of five good-sized flounders. Among those who made the grade out of Joe's Launching spot were Roy Mornington and wife, limits to 10 pounds—Joe Mello, a limit of four and five pounders—Al Barsotti, wife and son, three limits to 12 pounds.

WE QUIZZED Nerviani about ducks in his area and learned that the well-known William Cuneo is up to his old tricks—taking limits of bluies every time out, which is almost daily. Joe also mentioned Harry Fankie of San Rafael who collected his legal limit of bluebills on Monday. The local lads are pulling their hair and gnashing their teeth at the influx of flocks of big beautiful canvasbacks which they can't shoot.

WE SPOKE to Game Warden Russ Ild and learned that few, if any, quail have been taken. Ild claimed the local terrain too brushy to do much successful quail hunting, but informed us that some ducks have been taken in Tomales Bay. No dope on halibut, but a few silver salmon have entered the bay; none taken by anglers as yet.

NOT MUCH time left for salmon fishing in the local ocean waters (closes Sunday, Nov. 13) and not much doing at the present writing. But some of the oldtimers speculate that there is still a chance for some fast action.

In Tomales Bay and all points north it will be legal to take salmon after the 13th and, of course, in inside waters the winter season got under way on Nov. 1.

ONE OF the most delectable fish dish is a fillet of flounder. Try using very small hooks and very small pieces of bait and get yourself a mess. Fry the fillets just long enough to brown on each side. They are delicious.

Luis Rodriguez To Fight In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Luis Rodriguez, the NBA's top-ranked welterweight contender, will meet veteran Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland in a 10-round bout here Nov. 28.

Matchmaker Bennie Ford of the San Francisco Boxing Club yesterday announced the bout between Gonsalves and the classy Cuban battler.

Rodriguez is undefeated in professional action since he began to battle for pay in June, 1956. Gonsalves is a ring-wise veteran who has been fighting professionally since 1946.

Rodriguez is already considered to be in line for a title shot with the winner of the Dec. 10 go between champion Bennie Parent and Frederico Thompson.

San Jose Staters' Quarterback Hurt

SAN JOSE (AP)—The San Jose State Spartans face College of the Pacific Saturday night without their starting quarterback, Chon Gallegos.

Gallegos broke a bone in his hand Thursday and won't play in the traditional contest at Stockton. The Spartans held a secret practice Thursday barring all observers.

An ant has two stomachs. He uses one for himself while in the other he stores food to be shared with other ants in the nest.

Raiders, Boston Tilt Rated Even Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—Oakland sends its twin aerial gunners Tom Flores and Babe Parilli to bring down the besieged but revamped Boston Patriots tonight in American Football League action.

Enough of the Boston wounded has recovered that despite the Patriots' three straight losses and the Raiders' earlier 27-14 conquest on the coast, this meeting is rated a tossup.

Flores, who threw two touchdown strikes against Boston before also tossed a pair at New York last week in the 28-27 squeaker over the Titans settled by Larry Barnes' conversion kick.

Boston, loser of three straight capped by last week's 45-16 crushing by Los Angeles, is out of contention for the Eastern Division with a 2-5 record. Oakland is only half a game back of Western Division co-leaders Denver and Los Angeles.

In the latest AFL figures, Oakland has the better offensive record while the Patriots have the edge on defense.

One of the features of the contest will be the return to his collegiate home playing field of ex-Boston University end Gene Prebola. The Oakland receiver has caught 22 passes for 309 yards and two touchdowns, one of them against Boston.

POPE JOHN'S ANNIVERSARY

This is an official Vatican photograph showing Pope John XXIII yesterday on the eve of the second anniversary of his coronation. He is standing in front of his throne, wearing his tiara crown and his most formal robes and he raises his arm in the sign of the blessing. State Predicts 85 Per Cent Of Voters Going To Polls

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A heavy California vote—85 per cent of the record registration — was forecast today by veteran Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

This is in keeping with the state voters' tradition of flocking to the polls to help decide the presidential race — but of being relatively unexcited about strictly state elections.

If Jordan is right—and usually he doesn't miss by much—the turnout next Tuesday will fall slightly short of the 1952 and 1956 presidential elections.

California came up with a vote of 86.85 per cent—an all-time high—in 1952 and then fell off slightly to 86.56 per cent in 1956. President Eisenhower won both times with pluralities exceeding 600,000.

Ballots are waiting for the 7,464,626 people eligible to have their say not only on the presidential contest but also on 15 state propositions, 30 congressmen, 80 state assemblymen and 20 state senators.

Democrats lead the Republicans in registration by 1,368,922. But both parties are going all-out in their efforts to get out the vote.

Democrats and the California Federation of Labor have teamed to muster a force of 8,000 volunteers in Los Angeles County alone to accommodate the voters.

In Los Angeles and elsewhere, motor pools have been organized. Party workers will look after youngsters while mommy votes. Special phones have been installed to reach voters at home. There'll be sound trucks as well to carry the urgent message: Vote!

Thursday was the final day for absentee ballots to be issued. Preliminary figures indicate the total, in line with the bounding state registration, will reach an unprecedented number.

Berton Boon, editor-publisher of the nudist magazine Sunshine and Health says he wants to know.

Boon said yesterday he wrote to both presidential candidates asking their views on the practice of nudism but received no answer.

America's 250,000 nudists will be disappointed by the lack of response, Boon said.

Revenge Plane Missing On Way To Bomb Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — A stolen airplane, loaded with homemade bombs and piloted by two young adventurers burning with revenge against Fidel Castro, is missing after leaving Florida on Halloween to bomb Havana, the Miami News reported today.

The news said the men were pals of three Americans executed by Castro's firing squads recently. The News printed a photograph of the men arming the bombs. Each bomb bore the name of one of the Americans shot by the firing squads.

The News said in a copyright story that it was not known whether the airplane crashed at sea, fell into Castro's hands, or landed in a remote area of Cuba. The border patrol, which has been looking for the stolen airplane, said this morning it was still missing.

Aboard the airplane, The News said, were man-without-a-country Paul Hughes, 31, and Jay Hunter, 28, a former U.S. Marine. Hughes, whose home is in Atlanta, lost his American citizenship because he fought in Castro's revolutionary air force against former President Fulgencio Batista. Later, Hughes broke with Castro and returned to the United States.

The News said Hunter was a former demolition-explosive expert in the Marine Corps from somewhere in California.

Mill Valley Parents To Mull School Problems Next Week

A group of Mill Valley parents will attend a series of "kaffee klatsches in private homes next week — American Education Week — to discuss school problems. They will hear speakers from the Tamalpais Union High School District and the Mill Valley Elementary District.

Topics to be discussed informally include school programs, quality education, financial problems, teachers, local control of schools, validity of criticisms and other issues.

So great has been the demand for the meetings that they will be extended beyond American education week and continued as long as there are requests, a Tamalpais district spokesman said. More than 40 have been scheduled so far.

Mrs. Arne Anderson of 93 Woodbine Drive, Mill Valley, may be contacted by persons who want to attend or be host to such groups.

THIS SPECTACULAR view from the Ondine in Sausalito will be afforded guests on Thursday when "Fashions With A View" will be launched. Silhouetted against the bay are Mrs. William Donohoe, left, and Mrs. Robert Gros, right, who will model for the new fashion series. Sparking the 12:30 p.m. luncheon will be a special "guest with a viewpoint."

KEYNOTING THE elegant fashions which will be worn at the fashion luncheon is Mrs. William Byron Wallace modeling a fur stole. A host of notables are to attend the Thursday event and will arrive aboard the cutter, Pursuit. (Independent-Journal photos)

Arrival Aboard The Pursuit Adds Excitment To Fashion Launching

"Fashions With a View," the eagerly anticipated new weekly luncheon series at the famed Ondine in Sausalito, is launched for your enjoyment on Thursday at 12:30 p.m. silhouetted against a magnificent backdrop of San Francisco and the bay.

Promenading the town and country elegance of a distinguished San Francisco store will be Marinites Mrs. Robert Gros, Mrs. Clarence Amonette Jr. and Mrs. John Bellamy Jr. Joining them from San Francisco will be Mesdames Edwin Callan, Thayer Raggio and Robert L. Wood Jr., three of the city's most prominent young women for their fashion flair.

Sparking the fashion luncheon will be the special "guest with a viewpoint" whose vision has inspired a remarkable philanthropic achievement in Marin.

To add to opening day excitement, the San Francisco trip of models will arrive at Ondine aboard the beautiful cutter, Pursuit, with owner Ronald McAnnan at the helm and a crew of well-known Marinites to hoist sail.

On board will be a host of notables including Paul Speegle, Billy Pearson, Enrico Banducci, the society and fashion editors of the San Francisco papers, photographers and cameramen.

Planning to arrive at Ondine at 12:15, the Pursuit will make a sweep under full said off the point for the enjoyment of the luncheon guests before the sails are lowered and the special guests disembark.

Immediately following the fashion luncheon, the Pursuit will return to San Francisco with its cargo.

Early reservations are suggested for "Fashions With a View" and may be made by calling Ondine in Sausalito. The luncheons are planned for public enjoyment and begin promptly at 12:30 p.m. every Thursday.

HOW TO PAMPER YOUR PELTS

Here are rules to follow to make your furs look better and last longer:

1. DON'T comb or brush furs; shake them out.

2. DON'T hang damp furs in closet. Hang in cool place with circulating air. If thoroughly soaked, take to furrier for treatment.

3. DON'T put fur near heat. Both fur and leather will become britle.

4. DON'T put perfume directly on furs. It's drying.

5. DON'T store fur in plastic bag. Without air circulation, leather will dry out.

6. DON'T mothproof with chemical sprays. Put in modern storage vaults in summer.

Rounds And Rounds Will Meet Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hecht will be hosts for the regular meeting of "Rounds and Rounds" Monday night at 8:30 p.m. in their Mill Valley home, 217 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley.

The group, which has been meeting for more than a year at vorious homes around Mill Valley, is composed of people who enjoy singing roundelays and cathes under the direction of Catherine Wood. They welcome all interested in singing, whatever their skill.

Cotton Knits

When buying cotton knits, examine the knit closely for plump, round loops. Loops that are pulled long and thin will relax to their normal round shape during washing, resulting in a shorter, wider garment.

Asphasia To Be Topic Of Parents

Northern California parents of children afflicted with aphasia, a speech and language disorder, will meet in San Francisco on Monday, Nov. 7, to discuss educational problems and prospects for their youngsters.

The meeting will begin at 8 p. m. at the school for Cerebral Palsied Children, Park Merced Boulevard and Winston Drive, San Francisco.

It will be sponsored by the aphasia committee of the California Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the state Easter Seal organization.

Guest participant will be Francis W. Doyle, Deputy Superintendent and Chief, Division of Special Schools and Services, State Department of Education.

Aphasia, a condition resulting from brain damage, impairs speech and limits the ability to understand and use language.

A Son For John Lees

Dr. and Mrs. John R. Lee (Patricia Boland) of Mill Valley are receiving congratulations on the arrival of their first child, a son. The baby who is John Mansfield Lee was born Monday night at Marin General Hospital. He is a fifth generation Californian and the grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boland of Stinson Beach and Mrs. John Lee of Tucson, Ariz. Great grandparents are Frank Brown of San Rafael and Mrs. Edna Boland of Stinson Beach.

Fashion Has Never Gone Quite So Fur

Fashion has never gone so fur before.

This winter it will be the rare woman who isn't swathed to the chin in fur, flaunting either precious pelts or the frankly fakes.

For those who invest in the real thing, the choices are staggering in both silhouette and skin.

Foremost among the silhouettes are:

The Cape Coat—with cape fullness in back, cut in one with short sleeves.

Collars range from none to deep cape collars that can be pulled up into hoods, while sleeves are generally short, wider and uncuffed.

In lengths, jackets are coming to the fore, ranging from hipbone to bolero cut just at the waist. Stoles are being replaced by mobile capetlets and global capes.

As for the fur itself, if she doesn't select the still ranking favorite, mink, she might see spots—ocelot, leopard, cheetah or jaguar; or stripes — tiger, civet cat. For the fluffy, bulky look there are oppossum, foxes and Norwegian blue fox.

For the sleek, slimming look, South American otter dyed beige or natural brown; Southwest African Persian lamb, dyed black or in new shades, Alaskan fur seal—and most unusual of all, natural white Southwest African Persian lamb, a rare collection of skins sufficient to make only 10 garments, which one manufacturer is rationing to his key states.

For added glamor and evening wear, mink—natural, both wild and dark, plus all the shades found in the mutation mine the course of democracy sable and fitch, both in garments and in trim.

And don't be surprised to see unusual fur styles in ponchos, dresses, vests—and yes, even dinner trousers.

Cocktail Suit

Fashion long has decked women in the cocktail dress. Now it is giving men the cocktail suit. An Italian manufacturer, Petrocelli, said the suit can "effectively" carry a man through the business day and into the evening."

The suits, called "just this side of black tie," are made in black, gray and olive, worsted or mohair, in both single and double-breasted styles. Edges are finished with narrow braid.

Kickoff Tea Sunday For Homestead Chamber Music

A tea to be held Sunday from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Mill Valley home of Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Schlesinger will be the opening event in a unique chamber music program planned by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club, of which Mrs. Schlesinger is president.

Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt, series chairman, explained that the program consists of a series of three evenings centered around chamber music for the entire family to be held in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

The audience will be seated cabaret style at candlelit tables, and refreshments will be available during intermissions and after the program. The atmosphere should be one of mutual enjoyment and fun for listener and musician alike.

Performers, former members of the San Francisco Little Symphony, will be Raymond Duste, Mary James and Robert Block of San Francisco Symphony, Raymond and Margaret Fabrizio and Helen Stross. They are known for outstanding chamber music concerts given at Nepenthe, Big Sur, and elsewhere.

These artists are dedicated to the promotion of the wealth of Bach to Mozart music, written for just such evenings that originally enjoyed "Royal" patronage in the 18th century. In this venture community patronage will replace the royal, and performance will be in more modest "chambers."

Sunday's tea is for all those who are interested in selling the very inexpensive tickets to the series of three programs planned for the entire family of both children and adults.

Mrs. Goldschmidt is being assisted by Mrs. William Glazier with art work, Mrs. Philip Heyman with publicity and public relations, and Mrs. John Dennis with ticket sales.

Sponsors included, in addition to the Goldschmidts and Schlesingers are Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Adler, Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa and Messrs. and Mesdames Barry Boland, Charles Meacham, Philip Heyman and Gregory McCaughan.

New Looks In Stadium Sweaters

Sweaters were never more popular—and girls who like a custom look in their cardigan or pullover are taking up the fine art of knitting it themselves.

New looks in stadium sweaters, for football or any outdoor activity, include handsome sweater-coats of all lengths to top off skirts or trousers. Bulky demi-coats knit straight down to the thigh in an easy-to-do pattern stitch or a simple stockinette stitch are often topped with their own hoods. Some jackets have shawl-collared necklines that can be overcollartd with raccoon.

The ever-popular pullover now is designed for outdoor wear as well as by-the-fire lounging. The classic pullover goes offbeat in broad horizontal bandings of varied colors.

University Women Hear Discussion On Water Bond

The controversial water bond proposition No. 1 was analyzed for the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women at its recent general meeting in the Mill Valley Community Church Parish Hall.

Mrs. Courtland Mudge and Mrs. James Rubey of the League of Women Voters presented the facts and answered questions. They were introduced by Mrs. Robert E. Eddy.

New members introduced by membership chairman Mrs. Frank Smith were Mesdames C. Bruce Moyer, University of Maine; William T. Broderick, Montana State University; Ross Alexander Smith, University of California; Lloyd A. Clarke, University of Santo Tomas; Charles L. Cutting, De Pauw University; John Lyon Gardiner, Ohio State University; Richard S. Newman, North Central College, University of Minnesota; and Stephen P. Reinertsen, St. Olaf's College.

EVEN THE KINDERGARTEN children are brushing up on Winnie the Pooh characters in anticipation of their parents buying them a copy for Christmas at the Strawberry Point School Book Fair to be held today from 3 to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Reading the story to them is Roxanne Nilan, daughter of Book Fair chairman Mrs. Edwin Nilan. Strawberry Book Fair Opens Today

Winnie the Pooh, Eeyore, Piglet and all their friends will be on hand today at the Strawberry School for the Book Fair from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m. this evening, and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. tomorrow.

The A A. Milne characters have been used on eye-catching posters and flyers as a theme for this year's book fair, emphasizing the fact that the books featured at the fair, like these beloved stories, will appeal to all age levels. Besides a complete selection of Milne books (including brilliant new, oversized coloring book on Pooh), there will be over 300 pre-selected books to appeal to all tastes, ages and pocketbooks.

Chairman Mrs. Edwin Nilan emphasizes the ease of one-stop Christmas shopping at the fair. Purchases cost no more than at a book store, can be paid for either at the fair or when they are received, and will be delivered to the buyer's door well before the last-minute Christmas rush. To make things even easier for shoppers, the book fair committee will be happy to help browsers make the right selections, or order any book in publication even though not on display.

House Builder Is Certain The 'Extras' Are Worth It

He moved into one of the first houses he built in 1957 and found it less than the ultimate in comfort.

But there's nothing wrong with the house that a covered, recessed front door, entrance foyer, larger kitchen and bedrooms, a door between the garage and house, a family room and lower windows wouldn't fix.

Riley accordingly put these extras into the 1960 model homes he's showing in a 532-home subdivision in suburban Arlington Heights. The new homes cost more for the extras, but Riley's sure they're worth the money.

"One of the first things I learned is that it's a nuisance to have to walk through the dining or living room to get to the bathroom when you're coming from outside or the kitchen," he said. "And kids can make an awful fess traipsing through the front rooms to the bathroom with their boots and rubbers on."

Waiting at his front door on a rainy day till someone answered the doorbell convinced Riley of the need for covered, recessed front doors.

A party at his home started him thinking about the advantage of an entrance foyer. Everyone who came in walked directly into the living room and chilled the guests with a blast of cold air.

Riley put a door between house and garage in his new homes because he doesn't like putting on his coat and going around his house to the garage whenever he has to fix something.

The new homes have higher windows because the low windows in his own home stymied furniture arrangements.

He put a large family room beside the kitchen in his new homes to reduce the clutter of the open plan design of his own living room, kitchen and dining area.

Should A Girl Object When Mother Makes Her Clothing

By VIVIAN BROWN

One girl writes:

"I am 17, a high school junior. I am very popular in school, but I must refuse many interesting parties because of my clothes. Every girl in our group wears clothes that are bought. I'm the exception. I wear homemade clothes. I've begged my mother to pool all the money she spends on fabric, to buy just one pretty dress that looks up-to-date, but she thinks this is ridiculous. I would not embarrass any boy by wearing a dance dress she makes for me. Don't you think she should permit me to buy a dress occasionally?"

The idea of wearing a homemade dress may offend you, not the dress. Aren't you more in fear of the attitude of the girls toward your homemade dresses?

Boys never give them a thought. They like girls to look attractive, and dressed in good taste. If your mother's choice of patterns or fabrics can be improved upon, then you can solve the problem by asking to accompany her when she buys them. Dresses that are made at home often are prettier, and especially fit better than those bought in shops. Many girls prefer dresses made by their mothers to those they could purchase.

Are your girl friends snobbish, and do you want to accommodate their pettiness? The proper spirit would be to make a special point of praising every dress made for you.

A letter from a girl wonders whether it is fair to keep "lots of boys on the string":

"The girls who go to my school have steady beaus. I don't. I am 16 and I got out with quite a few boys, all of whom want to go out on this one-boy basis.

My mother has explained the disadvantages of going steady. She feels I will not be able to make a good decision about marriage unless I go out with a great many boys. Do you think it is fair to tell these fellows that I will give some thought to their suggestion of going steady, if I know that I don't plan to? My mother says 'All's fair in love and war. What do you think?"

A good idea would be to avoid discussing the question. Shut off the conservation by telling them you do not think you will be interested in one-boy date arrangements until you are engaged. Any boy should understand that. If he isn't willing to stay in the race, you haven't put your time on the right man anyway.

A letter from an 18-year-old girl has weekend problems:

"I have been invited away for a football weekend at a college about a four-hour trip from my home. Parties will be after the game, and my date wants me to spend the night at the local hotel where other girls who plan to attend the parties will stay. My mother says that I can. My father says no. What do you think? He insists that he would rather pick me up when the last party is over than have me spend the night away from home in a situation such as this."

Your parents must solve this. Your mother must persuade your father.

Lagunitas School Groups Discuss Future Activities

The Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds in the Lagunitas School area opened their fall activities with a recent rummage sale in Woodacre. All groups participated in the sale.

They are using their profits to carry out many interesting and worthwhile projects through the rest of the year. Plans include Golden Jubilee celebration, sewing project, tree planting, Christmas caroling and poppy seed planting.

Mrs. Rex Bechtel is the leader of the Happy Blue Birds, who are: Mary Bohman, Virginia Gilstrap, Francis Greenfield, Kris Keilty, Judy Lewis, Louise Mason, Shelly Ollenberger and Marsha Weinrab. Mrs. Robert Korth is leader of the Blue Belles Blue Birds and the third grade girls in this group are Joan Greenfield, Danette Korth, Sally Dawson, Sharen Raffety, Yvonne Rippey, Rachael Koppock, Carolyn Johnson and Janice Strahm.

The Camp Fire Girls, organized this fall and as yet without a name, have for their leader Mrs. F. Van Midde and assistant leader, Mrs. M. E. Umphenour. The group is still growing and to date has the following girls: Sue Bechtel, Mary Lynn Covey, Linda Dawson, Diane Dingman, Maureen Daly, Marie Hayes, Karen Hollman, Sharen Hollman, Shirley Helberg, Elizabeth Haas, Rebecca Kendricks, Sherry Lawson, Carol Ann Mangan, Ginny Lou Smart, Lindy Tarrs, Patty Lou Van Midde, Victoria Wilson and Penny Willets.

Knitted Look

Paris designers loved the knitted look for fall and winter. The house of Christian Dior showed hand-knit sleeves on wool suits. Turtleneck collars looked like knits but actually were the result of a shirring process of the fabric itself. One short coat in mink came with wool knit sleeves—perfect for the woman who already possesses all sorts of mink coats.

'O HONORABLE MASTER, When you last visited the Kasbah, we met, remember?' Mrs. A. C. Horner, right, the Femineers first president, and Mrs. Robert Lawson, left, current secretary, appear amused at the enticing letter to their husbands from Scheherazade bidding them to meet with her at The Femineers annual benefit on Nov. 12.

Arabian Theme Set For Femineers Dance

Final preparations are being made for The Femineers gala "Golden Fleece" dinner dance benefit Nov. 12 at the Jack Tar Hotel.

The theme of "Arabian Nights" will be carried out with table candles in the shape of Aladdin's lamp, an Arabian flying carpet swooping over the dancing couples, and a huge sequin and ribbon silhouette of an Arabian city forming the bandstand backdrop. A wandering swami will predict the future of the men guests, and even Ali Baba himself will appear in a dramatic puff of smoke to announce the award.

A Thieves Den filled with bags of booty will be staffed with costumed "Thieves" selling the wrapped prizes ranging from the ridiculous to the elegant to benefit The Femineers Engineering Scholarship for Bay Area undergraduates of the University of California.

Many Marin members are reserving tables for this annual event. Among these are Mr. and Mrs. Les Graham, Mr. and Mrs. William Keener of Belvedere; Messrs. and Mesdames H. M. Engle and J. J. Gould of Ross; William Brewer of Sausalito, Fred Madigan, Robert Lawson of Mill Valley, William Swain of San Rafael; Messrs. and Mesdames Edward McKeon, A. C. Horner and William Enkeboll of Greenbrae, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nicholson of Corte Madera.

Reservations may still be made by telephoning Mrs. Marvin A. Larson of Redwood City.

Sea Point Parlor Fetes President

On Tuesday evening Sea Point Parlor No. 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West, of Sausalito celebrated the birthday of its organizer and president, Mrs. Sadie M. Oliver, with a pot luck dinner.

After the meeting a birthday cake was served to 22 members and guests from Marinita and Fairfax Parlors.

Mrs. Raymond Rodrigues of Sea Point Parlor showed a movie of the entry in the September parade.

The evening was a complete surprise to the president, who was the recipient of many gifts.

To help celebrate the occasion were two other chapter members, Mrs. Manuel Garcia and her sister, Mrs. Laura Kibbee.

Other guests were supervising district deputy grand president of Marin County Mrs. Frank Faustine of Sea Point Parlor, Mrs. William Faber and Mrs. Albert Ferrari of Marinita and Mrs. Georgiana Gabb, chairman of the history and landmarks committee of Marin.

She has completed the program for the dedication of the "Bird Nest Glen," the site of the residence of "Lord" Charles Snowden Fairfax, Sunday afternoon at 1:15 p.m., where a marker will be placed.

On Nov. 15, after the meeting of the parlor a game party will be held at which time a Hope Chest with many fine articles will be awarded. The public is invited to attend.

St. John's Fair Planned On Dec. 7

"Better than ever" has been the slogan heard at the Tuesday workshops that have been held weekly throughout the past year by the "Episcopal Churchwomen" of St. John's Church, Ross, in anticipation of the traditional "Oldtime Christmas Fair" which will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 7, in the Parish House from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Sponsoring the fair this year, in addition to the St. John's League and the St. Mary's Chapter of the "Episcopal Churchwomen" will be the Altar Guild and the Young People's Fellowship.

Homemade baked foods, jams and jellies, festive foods for the gourmets, Christmas gifts for adults and children, white elephants and costume jewelry will be ready for the patrons. There will also be a silent auction of the "best elephants."

The traditional "ham luncheon" will be served as well as "tea."

Cleaning Leather

Cleaning leather in either your wardrobe or the household is made easier with a treated tissue which the makers say wipes away surface soil and many spots. The tissues come in a small foil package.

'MAIS OUI'

French Women As Eager To Stay Young As U.S. Gals

PARIS (UPI) — Are French women as anxious to stay young as American women?

If you look thorugh the current copy of the leading women's magazine in France, the answer is "mais oui," followed by a loud "yes" for good measure.

Exhibit A: an article promising a "forme olympique en bon magique." There are four contraptions which promise this olympic form:

— Two chains which resemble either dog leashes or the kind of clothes lines apartment dwellers string seven stories up. These are to be fixed to your bedroom wall and you pull at them daily, "to straighten your vertebral column." Cost—39 francs.

—For nine francs, there's a little gadget that looks like a small edition of a paint roller. And that's exactly what it does —rolls on the paint. It also facilitates "penetration des cremes." But you use it on your face. As efficient as doing a wall.

—Then there's a marvelous thing which looks like 13 empty spools joined at the top and bottom by two chains. This is supposed to "elasticize important parts" of the body. It's used on the hips in the same way a shoe shine boy uses the cloth when he buffs the boots. No price given.

—Two baseball bats. These are to be swung together, "to give grace to the arms and a lovely carriage to the head." All this for 12 francs, plus taxes. Not tax. Taxes.

If you're interested in any of these items, the line forms on the right at a Champs-Elysees address. But you'll have to allow three weeks for delivery after you pay your francs.

The evidence of mademoiselle's naivete is increased by comparing standards of living. Roughly, a franc means to a Parisienne what a dollar means to a New Yorker or a Californian. For Americans, the exchange is five francs to one dollar, but francs are much harder to earn in France than dollars in America.

All this proves one thing. French women, renowned the world over for their sophistication, are just as easily sold—perhaps a soupcon more so — as their sisters in Boston, Kansas City, or Los Angeles.

Dupuis Can Represent Marin Better Than Miller Has

Marinite Fred G. Dupuis is trying for the second time to defeat Marinite Clement W. Miller for the honor of representing the seven counties of the First Congressional District in Washington, D. C.

Dupuis has been waging an uphill battle. He must counteract not only the 4½ per cent edge by which Miller won in 1958, but overcome an additional 10 per cent which automatically attaches itself to an incumbent candidate.

He has been trying to do this with a strong attack on Miller's record as a spender in Washington, with a warning that continuing tax increases are harming the little taxpayer more than they are the big, and that continued inflation is catastrophic to those with savings and fixed incomes.

Dupuis has good grounds for his attack on Miller. The congressman, who has earned the nickname "Spendin' Clem," voted for practically every spending bill put before him in his two years in the Capitol. He's proud of it. He calls federal spending "an investment in America" and appears to think that it really doesn't cost the local taxpayers anything at all.

Miller seems to feel that every ill can be cured in Washington, that the best way to attack a problem is with a new or an existing federal program. And he says it really won't cost anyone anything because the Democrats are going to increase the gross national product so much that the huge increase in federal spending will be absorbed by the great increase in taxes without increasing the per centage of income each taxpayer will pay.

The way the Democrats propose to increase the gross national product is by spending more federal funds—and that money is 100 per cent tax money.

Miller launched his campaign on the basis of his determination to influence our international policies. What Congressman Miller seems to forget is that he was elected to represent the people of the First Congressional District in our national legislature. He is the only man in the House who is supposed to give a personal gosh darn about what is happening or what can happen to and for Marin County.

Miller's extravagant, big government outlook has not represented the thinking or the feeling of the people of Marin.

We think that Dupuis' "sound economy, stability and responsibility" much more represents the feelings of the people of this county than does Miller's "pie in the sky" approach.

Therefore, we urge you to vote for Fred G. Dupuis for Congress on Tuesday.

Poetry In Dead Leaves

The streets are littered with dead leaves. They blow here and there at the whim of every vagrant breeze. Brown and withered, they are in a way symbolic of life and death.

Omar Khayyam wrote, "The leaves of life keep falling, one by one." He meant this as an exhortation to live life fully.

Other poets of a more religious turn of mind see in dead leaves the ideas that everything dies, but in the spring there is a reawakening.

We find brown leaves quite beautiful from an artistic point of view. Especially those with unusual shapes or prominent networks of intricately designed ribs.

Dead leaves serve an important purpose in Nature, molding and decomposing, they add valuable humas to the soil. This in turn nourishes other plants and is in itself a kind of immortality.

Some Wives Feed Their Husbands Big Breakfasts Every Single Day

So today I'd like to salute my late aunt-in-law, Lucy Gray Crawford, a lady I never saw. But because of her inspiring example I have had more than 8,000 fine breakfasts over the last 23 years.

When I was a bachelor I was rarely ever able to smile at life before noon, because my morning meal consisted of a sack of salted peanuts and a bottle of cola. I thought everybody ate like that.

But the morning after I was married late in 1937 I awoke to find my bride, Frances, was up before me. She was in our tiny kitchen fixing a big breakfast of orange juice, toast, jam, bacon and eggs and steaming tea.

In sickness and in health, she has done this practically every day since.

The other evening at a small dinner party in our home the subject of breakfasts came up.

I was startled when two men, married to nonworking wives, remarked it was their custom to get up first, fix some hot coffee and toast, and bring it to their wives in bed.

"It really isn't much trouble," said one husband.

When I told the two husbands I had been served a daily big hot breakfast—not just skimpy toast and coffee—by my wife for 23 years they looked at me, I thought, with an air of awe tinged with masculine envy.

"Frances insists on doing this," I explained. "I don't beat her with a whip."

Later, after they had gone, I asked my wife where she had learned her old-fashioned sense of marital duty.

"When I was a young girl," she said, "I had an aunt I admired very much for her character and her sense of fun and her femininity.

"AUNT LUCY and Uncle Clem had two children and were the happiest married couple I had ever seen.

"Aunt Lucy had her own theories about marriage. Many times she told me, 'Always get up and cook your husband's breakfast. Show him the face he's working for all day.'

"ANOTHER OF HER theories was that a wife should never sit at the breakfast table with her hair in curlers. 'I don't want my husband to carry that picture of me in his mind,'" she said.

Aunt Lucy spent 50 devoted years with Uncle Clem—and never once did she let him see her with her hair in curlers.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Every four years the Boy Scouts of America, in cooperation with the Freedoms Foundation of America, do a national good turn of distributing door-knob Liberty Bell get - out - the - vote - reminder hangers to every home possible in the United States.

In Marin our Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers under their capable community volunteer leaders enter enthusiastically into this "good turn." Not only do we in Scouting feel that this is the spirit of the "good turn" as exemplified over many years of Scouting in our country, but we also feel that it is good character and citizenship training for growing youngsters, who will be our future leaders and voters.

There have been some instances reported of materials, favoring certain political candidates, being distributed at the same time by school-age children, which in turn has caused interpretation that the Scout movement in Marin has also been distributing specific candidate material at the same time.

This certainly has not been our intent.

There are undoubtedly some cases of over-zealous community members or campaign workers giving a Scout, who was intent on doing his national good turn in Scouting, materials to be distributed; and the boy has done so in good faith. Should this be the case in your neighborhood, we would appreciate knowing about the circumstances.

It is not fitting, nor is it good taste, for the interest of a singular group to use a character and citizenship program such as Scouting, to serve their individual wishes.

On a national and local basis, the policies that govern Scouting activities are set out in the charter as granted by the Congress of the United States. It is the intent of the Marin Council to uphold these policies and maintain the Scouting program so that each boy, and family, may use the program as their own, without being prejudiced politically, spiritually, or racially.

1960 is Scouting's 50th Anniversary in America. It has become a heritage in "growing up," for a boy to enter into a program which he derives personal benefits to the extent of his own interest, talents, and abilities. Each citizen of Marin can help maintain these precepts for boys, by not asking them, in the name of the traditional "Scout good turn" to enter into affairs, whereby their Scouting relationship is jeopardized.

We appreciate the understanding and enthusiastic support of Marin citizens to these traditions of Scouting.

Vittorio Desica is not only Italy's great matinee idol and film director, but an accomplished linguist. He speaks English and French as eloquently as he does Italian, and can rattle off a polite phrase in German and Spanish with facility, too. "English is absolutely required," he explains, "for discussing contracts. I need French to make time with a beautiful girl. As for Italian—that I need mostly these days when I cut myself shaving."

An anthology entitled "Letters to Sons and Daughters" contains this particularly touching note from Robert G. Ingersoll to his daughter on the occasion of her thirty-fourth birthday:

"Dear Eva: Thirty-four years of unbroken kindness, of cloudless sunshine, of perpetual joy, of constant love! Thirty-four years of happy smiles, of loving looks, of gentle words, of generous deeds! My love to one who has grown from a faultless child to be a perfect woman, wife, and mother."

John Fuller suspects that a pro-Yale secretary has been tampering with a New Haven newspaper's stencil for Harvard's distinguished daily. It reads: "The Harvard Crumson." Fuller made another noteworthy discovery in New Haven: a Chinese piano player named Wong Keye.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

MILLION WAS HIS BUT NOT TO SPEND

A man who inherited more than $1,000,000 died recently at the age of 75 without seeing a single penny of it.

What made it all the more frustrating was that he had just won a difficult, two-year court battle to prove that he was the legitimate heir of the woman who left the money.

Others who devote their best years to the quest for power, pleasure and riches never seem to get their fill of it. Pursue these objectives as they will, they never seem to lay hold on them.

What matters is how well he has developed the eternal power of his heart, mind and soul.

Nearly 1,700 years ago the great Augustine said: "You have created our hearts for Yourself, O God, and they will not rest till they rest in You."

"What does it profit a man, if he gain the whole world, but suffer the loss of his own soul!"

(Matthew 16:26)

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

You Can't Judge The Political Winner By Those School Polls

I am in despair.

From the looks of things, I don't think Calvin Coolidge has a prayer of swinging the upcoming presidential election. Despite the "Keep Cool With Coolidge" sticker on my windshield.

One reason I am sos ure of this is the overwhelming majority that Nixon polled last week in the eighth grade elections at the Adeline E. Kent School.

Exactly what his majority was out of the two classes of 28 and 30, respectively, I am not sure. This is because the kids operated under the electoral college system and, frankly, the way those 527 votes are arrived at in December is beyond me.

I VAGUELY RECALL being told many years ago by one of my teachers—Miss Pittsin, I believe it was, with whom I struggled through the fifth grade—that it was not really the peoples' votes which elected the President, but the electoral college.

At that point I think I left the room for a drink of water. At least, I don't recall having the matter explained to me.

ALMOST WITHOUT exception, Marin's elementary and high schools are holding mock elections, debates, plastering their classrooms with political cartoons, attending campaign gatherings and generally taking part in the election as if they were thinking adults. Which is more than you can say for some adults I know.

One of the schoolteachers with whom I discussed this matter said it was amazing how the youngsters took the opposite side from their parents. That is, if the old man is for Nixon, then Junior leads the panel discussions in favor of Kennedy.

He pointed to this fact with educational pride. It was his belief that the boy had taken the opposite side because he had approached the question with diligence, honesty, clear thinking and analysis.

Obviously, the educator who told me this is childless.

Otherwise, he would know that if, at the last minute, Daddy switches to Kennedy, the chip off the old block will go door to door swinging the tide to the vice president.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS and child psychologists notwithstanding, this is merely a part of growing up. It is not deep, vital, clear, constructive thinking on the part of the kid.

Any normal, healthy boy (or girl) over the age of 13 (I believe that is the turning point) is going to go against his old man at the drop of a hat. He will even drop the hat personally, just to get the show on the road.

I must admit, however, that today's kids know more about politics than I did as a growing boy in Tennessee. I was half-grown before I knew anyone but Democrats ran for public office.

THESE DAYS, what with national TV hookups and the power of the press, word has leaked out to large sections of the country that there are two major political parties.

I've often meant to write and tell the news to my cousin Felicia down in Winchester (Franklin County).

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

An Air Of Victory Traveling With Kennedy Caravan Now

EN ROUTE WITH KENNEDY — There is unquestionably an atmosphere of victory in the Kennedy caravan as it moves furiously through the final days of the campaign. You can see it, you can hear it, you can feel it.

This does not prove that he is, for sure, going to win. The senator himself says that he counts it to be "very close." But it does mean that Kennedy, after the longest and hardest campaign in modern politics, has proved himself equal to the best pro the Republicans could offer, Vice President Nixon, and is coming thunderingly down to the day of decision on Nov. 8 touching 17 states in this final week.

KENNEDY HAS COME from behind in this campaign. In the judgment of the majority of those who have covered both sides, he is not behind today. He has overcome his two conspicuous handicaps—his relative youthfulness and the fact that he was not a nationally known figure at the time of his nomination. He has done so well on the television "debates" that he wishes there were more.

I have recently traveled with each of the candidates for several days. Judging by the throngs of people which Kennedy has been attracting in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and from their ecstatic response to his staccato appeal that the U. S. must "get moving," I find that one of the repeated judgments of the Nixon camp is not being borne out.

THE NIXON MANAGERS have been basing their confidence in part on the view that the senator touched his peak 10 days ago and that the Kennedy tide has lately been receding while Nixon's has been rising.

No such evidence is visible to the reporters accompanying the Democratic nominee. Nixon's stock may be rising. I found it was all along his latest forays into Ohio, Michigan, and Illinois. But the other part of the Nixon victory-formula is lacking—that the Kennedy crusade is slowing to a stop, and that his stock is declining.

The signs are the other way. The pace of Kennedy's campaign is not slowing, nor is the audience response fading. It appears to be getting ever stronger.

There is no doubt that as a person Kennedy grips his audiences and evokes an excited reaction, at times even a shrill and strident reaction. His audiences are not merely cordial and receptive; they are clamorously responsive and there is no sign that they are becoming less so.

I DO NOT CONCLUDE that the election is over, that Kennedy is in and Nixon out. What I do conclude is that the senator's campaign, far from grinding to a halt, is racing to the finish line. If Nixon is to win, it will not be because Kennedy's stock is sliding but because his own could be rising faster.

At this win or lose stage in the view of those close to the Democratic candidate, Kennedy's greatest anxiety is not the campaign skill of Nixon, but the unmeasurable influence of President Eisenhower, who is now intervening actively and forcefully for his Vice President.

How many of those several million registered-Democratic voters, whom he persuaded to vote for him in 1952 and 1956, can he persuade to vote for Nixon? There is no way to tell.

High School Football Game Can Be Fun For The Parents Too

Want some fun? Then take your kids to a high school football game. Talk about excitement!!

Watch the cheer leaders. They're perpetual motion personified. They gyrate madly all evening long, leading a horde of screaming maniacs, never getting tired. How do they do it?

Listen to the band. Each musician has been practicing on his instrument for years, and the group has spent long hours rehearsing. Watch their intricate maneuvers; the band is a masterpiece of human cooperation. Look at the members' faces. They're having the time of their lives. You'll envy them.

The game matters most, of course. I have my reservations about football, and have printed them in detail. But I know that many boys learn important lessons in this game. They learn to work hard, to subordinate themselves. They learn to restrain their anger and to lose as well as win. Football demonstrates our teenagers' advancing maturity.

Watch a game, and you'll see.

When the game ends take your kids to a drive-in restaurant. Pick a good one, for some drive-ins are centers for hoodlums and should be avoided. Get your children their shakes and hamburgers and eat something yourself. You'll go home refreshed. You'll feel your years, but you'll be happy.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Would it be possible to substitute a less dangerous sport for football?"

H. M. T.

(A) Physical education specialists have been looking for such a game. They've tried soccer, for example, but it didn't catch on. They've tried modified football and that didn't go over. The regular game of tackle football is by far our most popular American sport.

Group Discusses Marin Pleasure Boating Directory

Four representatives of the boating industry in Marin County showed up for a luncheon meeting with San Rafael Chamber of Commerce officials in Corte Madera yesterday.

Under discussion was a proposed boating directory labeling Marin the "Pleasure Boating Center for the Bay Area."

A preliminary 12-page blue, black and white brochure has been prepared by the Graphic Arts Assn. of Sausalito. Chamber President Burton Kirchner said 10,000 copies would cost about $900. Yesterday's meeting was called by the chamber to acquaint the 60 businesses in Marin's boating industry with the brochure.

The group attending suggested expanding the directory to include real estate agents, marine insurance and financing agencies, yacht clothing and paint stores, etc. Chamber manager Richard L. Shirley said he would canvass the suggested businesses.

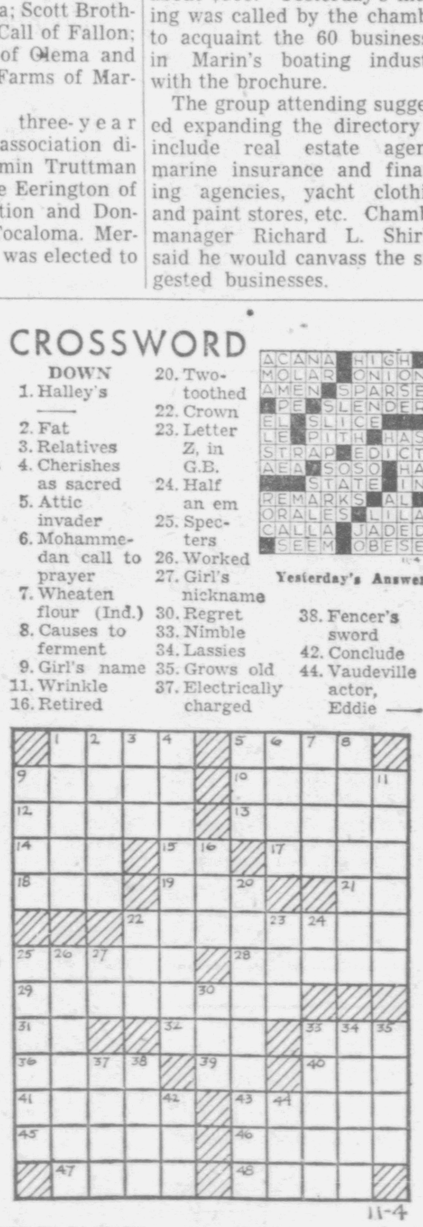
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

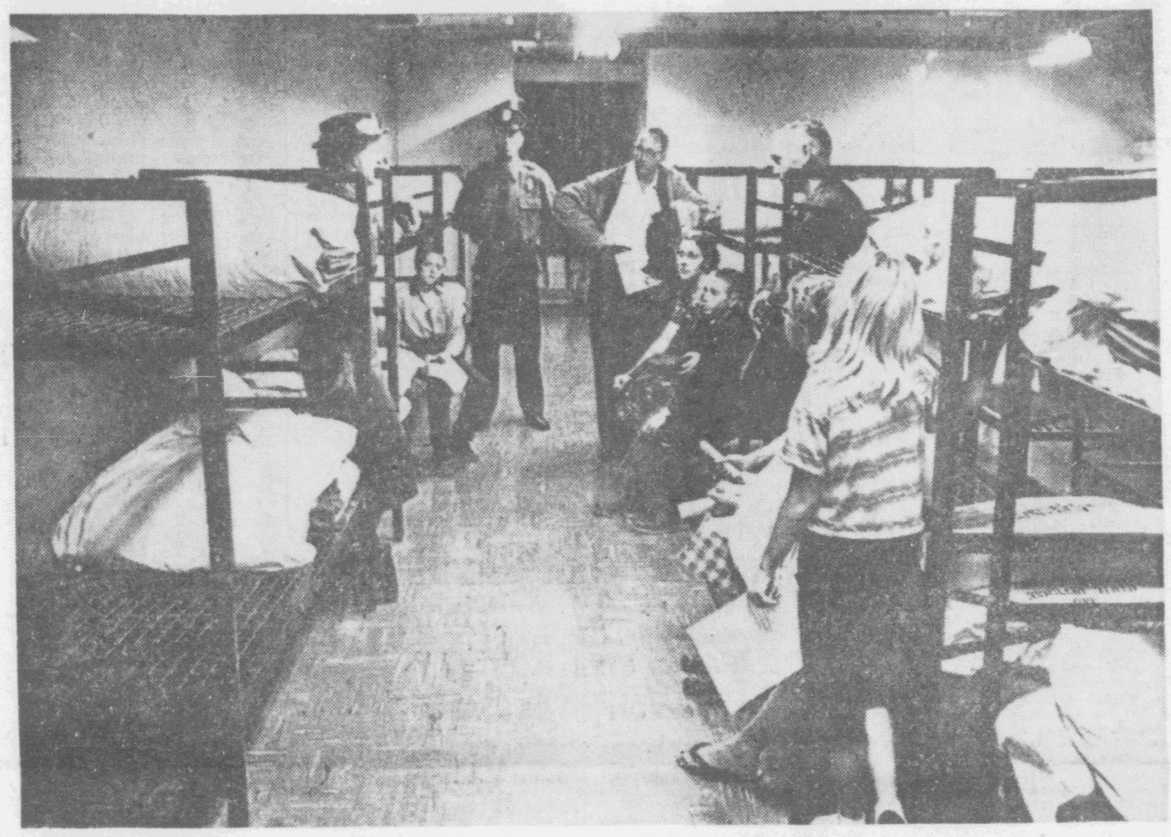
PORTLAND'S PREPARED FOR DISASTER

Portland, Ore., has completed a civil defense emergency center, buried 10 to 30 feet deep in a hillside, designed to prevent breakdown of government and communications after a nuclear attack or other disaster. It has its own power and water supply and enough stored food to support 250 emergency workers for two weeks. Above is shown the center's map room.



CENTER'S SLEEPING QUARTERS — Sleeping quarters for its workers are a part of Portland's self-contained emergency center. The center is protected by 26-inch walls of reinforced concrete. (AP Wirephotos).

Nevada Sees Record Vote

RENO (AP)—A record election vote is expected from Nevadans Tuesday, despite a lack of major state contests.

Also at stake is the lone congressional seat sought by two of the oldest pros still in Nevada politics and a chance for Democratic control of the state senate for the first time in 20 years.

Both parties and Secretary of State John Koontz figure 80 per cent of the 129,000 registered voters will cast ballots, topping the 1956 record of 96,000 votes.

Napa Journal Says Thirty

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tibbitts, owners, said the Journal name has been transferred to the Napa Register, the city's only daily newspaper, and expressed hope the name of the 105-year-old Journal would live on.

The Register said it has not decided whether the Journal would be continued as a weekly or whether the name would be added to the Register's masthead.

Missile Destroyer Contract Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy yesterday awarded a $29,190,000 contract to the Todd Shipyards Corp., Seattle, for the construction of two guided missile destroyers.

The vessels will be armed with Tartar surface-to-air missiles, anti-submarine rockets and torpedoes and five-inch guns.

Gov. Brown Wants Hospital Agency

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown plans to ask the 1961 legislature for money to set up a new state agency to help plan location of new hospitals.

He told the American Public Health Assn. yesterday that one estimate predicts better planning of hospitals to avoid duplication and gaps of service could save a billion dollars in the next 15 years.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal. Frauenhoff was arrested on Highway 101 Tuesday. His driver's license was also expired.

"The Walker Ranchero"
Completely level country estate offered for the first time . . . featuring 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, and a separate family room.
This sturdily-built residence lends itself to use as a family home with a completely separate apartment. This allows a family with a member who needs the quiet and convenience of separate quarters almost luxurious facilities for completely private living.
The grounds are level and tho heavily shrubbed, the maintenance problems are of "hobby" proportions.
You will find a small stream, many mature fruit trees, and even a separate guest cottage now used for artistic endeavors. Owners are leaving for another county and invite your perusal.

State Workers Claim Millions In Pay Lost

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Personnel Board was told yesterday that state employees have lost 35 million dollars in income since 1958 because of delays in bringing their salaries up to private industry standards.

Wilmer Morse, special counsel for the California State Employees Assn., asked the board to delay a recommendation on state pay raises this year until the spring survey is completed in March.

Morse, reviewing recent salary actions by the Legislature, said rejection of a proposed 3 per cent pay raise in 1958 cost state workers $19,760,348.

They lost another $15,-798,-334 last year when the lawmakers trimmed the board's proposed 7½ per cent raise down to 5 per cent, he said.

"The morale and attitudes of employees are adversely affected by such sustained salary inferiority," Morse told the personnel board.

New Hub School Board Member Will Be Named

A new member of the San Anselmo School District Board will be named prior to Monday "if at all possible," County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said today.

Seven candidates for the post were discussed Wednesday night by Hollis and the district trustees. Three of these will be interviewed by Hollis, he said, before a final selection is made.

"We were highly gratified that seven persons of such high caliber have indicated their willingness to serve as trustee," Hollis said.

Because of meeting schedules of the county board and the district board, the new trustee must be selected immediately to prevent his or her missing at least two months of meetings, Hollis said.

The county school board meets at 8 p.m. Monday.

Adlai Says Medics Hold Peace Key

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Knowledge and techniques possessed by American doctors have the power to win the cold war for freedom and peace as decisively as the atomic bomb ended the hot war 15 years ago, says Adlai E. Stevenson.

The former Illinois governor and the 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential candidate last night suggested exporting more doctors and health workers abroad, at an American Public Health Association convention here.

Hub Pair's Son To Aid Dr. Dooley

Sam W. Morris, son of Mrs. Lon C. Watson of 27 Cypress Avenue, San Anselmo, will start by air for Cambodia early next week to join Medico, a medical group started by Dr. Tom Dooley and engaged in hospital building and operation in Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam.

Morris formerly lived in Marin County and graduated from Tamalpais High School, attending the College of Marin before going to the University of California. He has been working for Bechtel and Co. in San Francisco for several years and was married last May but Mrs. Morris will remain in San Francisco for the time being.

During the war Morris served as surgical technician and medical corpsman in the Air Force, giving a basis of experience for the work he plans in the Far East.

Matzen Means Maturity

MATZEN ON OLD-AGE MEDICAL CARE—I am tired of seeing people "kicked out" of group insurance plans when they retire — just when their need is greatest. It is wrong to place all the blame on doctors or medical associations. The blame belongs to all of us. California must lead the way toward a pre-paid plan with the features of Social Security, affording adequate care with free choice of doctor and hospital

MATZEN ON THE FARM LABOR PROBLEM—Both sides of this vital controversy must meet together without bitterness. We must establish machinery that would resolve the differences between the farmer and his workers while preventing the waste of perishable foodstuffs—thus protecting the farmer, the worker, AND the consumer. "Ground rules" should be established guaranteeing no work stoppage during harvest.

FLUORIDIZATION

"The Crime of the Century"

By J. A. Campbell

Research and Development Engineer

Fluoridization of entire water systems is the biggest piece of skulduggery ever put over on the American people!

In order to fully comprehend the enormity of this crime, it is necessary to go back in time about 18 years to the little city of Hereford, County seat of Deaf Smith County, in the state of Texas. A dentist by the name of George Heard moved into the town and set up an office and started practicing his profession. He was amazed at the kind of teeth that all the people had. They were all badly mottled with spots in the enamel that could not be cleaned off even with emery. They were actually incorporated in the enamel. He was very much impressed with the fact that the children had very few cavities and that all the teeth were extremely hard and difficult to drill. He decided that there must be some factor in the locality that was responsible for this condition.

Having an inquiring mind, he did some research and called in some other researchers. They had an analysis made of the local water and found that it contained around 2 parts of calcium fluoride per million. In their research they found that there were other localities which had in their water supply the same chemical, calcium fluoride, and the people drinking this water showed the same dental characteristics.

Dr. Heard was so much impressed with what he had learned that he wrote an article for the American Dental Society's Journal outlining what he had found out. The publishers of Life magazine saw this article and immediately sensed that here was wonderful material for a feature story with pictures that would be of great interest to the American people. Life sent a reporter and a photographer down to Hereford. The reporter interviewed Dr. Heard and a lot of the townspeople and the photographer took pictures and Life put out a very interesting spread as they are certainly capable of doing. It was well brought out in this article that the mysterious agent that was responsible was calcium fluoride. It stated in great length how this wonderful chemical occurring naturally in the local water gave the children secondary teeth with very few cavities.

This article was read by some of the officials of the aluminum companies. Now, these companies have a waste product from the manufacture of aluminum that is largely sodium fluoride, but sodium fluoride is a deadly poison. They had been selling about ½ of one per cent of what they produced as rat poison and insecticides. Disposing of the rest of this waste proved an almost unsolvable problem. They could not dump it in the ocean because it killed the fish for miles around. They could not dump it in the rivers because people and cattle drink river water and it would kill both. They could not dump it on the ground or bury it in the ground because it poisoned the ground water. If they put it into steel tanks it was so highly corrosive that it ate through the steel and spilled out on the ground and concrete storage tanks were very expensive for storing a product for which there was no sale.

What was badly needed was some inexpensive way of getting rid of this foul stuff or better yet selling it at a profit. After all, it was a fluoride and that stuff down in Texas was a fluoride and wouldn't it have the same beneficial effects on the childrens' teeth?

So the aluminum companies started a campaign to sell this foul stuff to the cities and the water companies to dump into their water systems. But the American people just didn't seem to like the idea of rat poison in their water. It was necessary to do something drastic to change the attitude of the public.

The next move was to maneuver Oscar Ewing, who was Chief Council of the Aluminum Company of America at a salary of $70,000 a year, into the position of Security Director which put him at the head of the United States Public Health Service, at a salary of only $17,000 a year. We don't know what leverage he used but it must have been pretty powerful. He soon had the full backing of the Public Health Service and they got the foul stuff in the entire water supply of Washington, D.C.

But the racketeers, in order to really sell this nefarious scheme to the public, needed the services of some large group in which the American people had confidence, so what better group than the dentists?

The American Dental Association has a very strong hold on all its members, so in order to get the American Dental Association back of it they were offered strong inducements. These included generous dental scholarships, heavy endowments to dental colleges and well equipped laboratories, but there were strings to all this. The A.D.A. must strongly support fluoridization.

In all my work I use the term fluoridization. The word the racketeers and their henchmen use is fluoridation. This latter is a perfectly good geological term describing the state of rocks which have been impregnated by fluorine or some fluorine compound making them fluorescent under ultra-violet rays. So the racketeers purloined this word so that they could confuse the people because it was so much like chlorination. If you could put fluorine into water, which you can't, the term would be fluorination, but since you put a fluoride in the water, the correct word is fluoridization and the verb is fluoridize, not fluoridate. The racketeers do do not like that "die" sound in fluoridization.

It would be wonderful to get the doctors back of this scheme also, but they could never get the A.M.A. to fully endorse it. Many intelligent doctors strongly oppose it and the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons, with a membership of 15,000, in 1958 in convention in San Francisco, passed a resolution strongly condemning it and had copies sent to the President of the United States and to all members of Congress, and the governors of the various states and the mayors of our principal cities.

The U.S. Public Health Service started spending huge sums of taxpayers' money propogandizing this scheme all over the country. Even today the U.S.P.H.S. is spending $16,000,000 of our money each year to ship out this foul stuff to every location all over the world where U.S. troops are stationed and put it in their drinking water. This, even in spite of the fact that the most rabid proponents of fluoridization state that it does not benefit anyone over 12 years of age. Certainly we do not have 12 year olds in our armed services; at least, not yet.

This waste is typical. It is not the good it will supposedly do the children's teeth, but the huge waste occasioned by putting it in the entire water supply in which they are interested.

Economically this scheme is absolutely irrational and indefensible. It is so ridiculous that ridicule is a very effective means of fighting it. You would certainly reprimand or spank your child if he bought two bottles of pop and drank one and poured the other out on the ground, yet they are asking us to buy and waste 600 times as much rat poison all of us could drink. How silly do they think we are?

What would you think of a doctor who told you to buy 600 bottles of medicine, put a drop from one bottle in each glass of water you drank and pour the other 599 bottles down the drain? It is just that silly.

Do you know of any other medicine besides rat poison that your doctor will tell you to take with every drink of water? Of course you don't. The whole science of medicine is predicated on prescribed dosages. The consumption of water varies greatly with various individuals. Occupation causes a great variance. The average person drinks one quart of water per day. Welders, steel workers and laundry workers will drink as much as 2 gallons a day. Some diabetics drink as much as four gallons a day. The racketeers have set the proportion as one part of rat poison per million parts of water. That is just as high as they dare put it so as not to quickly poison people, but to waste as much as possible. In fact that is so high that 10% to 20% of the children drinking it will develop fluorosis which is that unsightly mottling of the teeth.

The U.S.P.H.S. admits this percentage but says that is not bad "considering the great benefits to be obtained." Suppose that that one is your beautiful daughter or your handsome son or even you, yourself? However, if the concentration gets up to 1.2 parts per million, one in five is a victim of fluorosis and when it gets up to 2 parts per million, practically everybody has it.

What about the person who drinks 2 gallons of water a day containing this cumulative poison? He is getting eight times as much rat poison as he is supposed to get and since it is a cumulative poison it is building up in his system eight times as fast as if he drank only the one quart average per day.

This hoax could never have been put over on the people 50 years ago because when I was a young man, anyone not having had two years of chemistry was not considered educated. Now, not one in 20 of our young people take chemistry. I use the word "take" advisedly. Now, under this fool system of "progressive" education, the young people can select the subjects they wish to take. Chemistry is too much like work, so they take basket making, fancy rope skipping and tumbling and get credits for these "subjects."

When I was working in Long Beach, California, in 1957, blasting this racket from a loud speaker on my car, some boys on their way to high school started razzing me. I stopped my car and asked, "Any of you boys study chemistry?"

"Yes, I do," one of them replied.

"Then," I said, "you know what sodium fluoride is."

"Sure," he replied, "it's common salt."

"Son," I said, "you may be 'taking' chemistry, but you are certainly not studying it."

The racketeers and their henchmen are taking advantage of this lack of knowledge of rudimentary chemistry in trying to perpetrate this fraud on the populace.

One of the saddest commentaries on our modern educational system is that the National Parent Teachers' Association has been suckered into sponsoring this racket. Even though very few of our present day grade and high school teachers have ever "taken" chemistry, at least they should know Americanism. Surely they have studied history and civil government and know that our government is a republic. In a republic, as in a democracy, the majority rules, but the distinction lies in the fact that in the republic the rights of the minority are respected and protected. In this country we have great freedoms but we must protect them or we will lose them. One of these great freedoms is freedom of choice. Those who choose to drink hard liquor can do so. Those who don't care to don't have to. There are millions who want pure, unadulterated water with no "medicine" in it. Is it the American way to force them to drink this water with "medicine" in it? Is it the American way to force them to drink this water with "medicine" in the form of rat poison in it? There are a vast number of P.T.A. members who will not follow the dictates of their officers and vote for this mass medication, just for this reason. There are other vast numbers who are open-minded and have listened to the sound and logical arguments against this practice and P.T.A or no P.T.A., they want no part of it.

Just because there are a lot of important sounding organizations back of a measure, it doesn't necessarily mean that it will carry at the polls. Many officers will sign up their organizations without polling the membership.

In Long Beach, California, the racketeers and their henchmen had been working on the City Council for six years trying to get them to put it in without a vote of the people, but the council wouldn't do it. So they lined up the dentists and most of the doctors and the P.T.A., a lot of service clubs, church groups, sorority groups, labor groups and just about every organization in town and set the election just six weeks ahead. They listed in the local paper 78 different organizations for fluoridization in one column and in the other column the one lone committee against fluoridization. They thought they really had it in the bag because we had so little time to get organized, but we worked fast and furiously and brought the truth to the people and they killed it deader than a poisoned rat, and that is pretty dead.

No, you don't have to worry about the organizations because most of them are very poorly organized. Get the truth to the people and the people will handle it very nicely.

I have nothing against the P.T.A. membership, but I think the officers need to be waked up and shown just how badly they have been duped. But how can we do this when they will not attend the meetings of the opposition and listen with open minds to the truth?

Recently I spoke at a mass meeting in Oakland, California, in which I very thoroughly went into the whole origin of this racket. I explained the chemistry in layman's language and went very thoroughly into the economics of the thing, showing that for $640 a year they could buy enough chemically pure sodium fluoride at $10.00 per pound, all that each child between the ages of 4 and 12 years would require for a year's supply, so why waste $400,000 putting it in all the water? The top officers of the P.T.A. were invited to attend this meeting, but they declined. They said they were committed to vote for it and it would be useless to attend. We have a right to expect our leaders to be open-minded, to get all the information on both sides of every subject that concerns them. Possibly that is asking too much.

If your organization has committed you to vote a certain way on a certain controversial measure, you are morally obligated to seek the truth and vote as your conscience dictates; that is the American way and that is what the average intelligent American will do if he has an opportunity to learn the truth, and it is the obligation of those who know the truth to spread it, so that we may preserve our American heritage.

One thing that should convince the American people that fluoridization is a racket is that you never see an article written by a dentist urging people to get the tablets and put them in their childrens' water or to buy the bottled water with the proper amount already in it. They are so insistent around election time that the children must have this wonderful benefit to their teeth put into the entire water supply. A poll taken three years ago showed that less than one per cent of the dentists in areas where it was not in the water were giving it to their own children. This shows that it is the tremendous waste in which they are interested.

The "Promoters" have a regular formula they adhere to in subjugating a community. First, they try to get the officials to put it in without a vote. If they are not successful in doing that they take pictures of the most horrible looking teeth they can find and start working on the groups and organizations. The dentists are so dominated by the A.D.A. that they have to support it.

Then, of course, they can depend on the P.T.A. Dr. Bull, of the U.S.P.H.S. told the employees in convention, "Let me tell you the P.T.A. is a honey when it comes to fluoridation. Give them all you have got."

He also told them, "Now in regard to toxicity—I notice that Dr. Bain used the term 'adding sodium fluoride.' We never do that, that is rat poison. You add fluorides."

Next, they get the local dentists and doctors to write letters which are published in the paper in which they enumerate all the fine organizations for fluoridization and state that those few against it are ill-informed, cranks and crack-pots. They say nobody objects to chlorination so why object to fluoridization? Chlorination is necessary. When you put chlorine in the water you treat the water, not the people. It is done to kill dangerous bacteria, especially typhoid. In Long Beach, California, 18 parts per million of chlorine is put in the water. This immediately kills the bacteria and then the water is aerated and exposed to sunlight and when it leaves the treating plant you can't detect by odor or taste the slightest evidence of chlorine. It is all dissipated.

Then, they claim that the "fluoride" will stop so many cavities that the dentists, those great humanitarians, will lose a lot of their business.

When the A.F.L. and the C.I.O. advocate "right to work" laws and the carpenters advise people to build their homes of concrete and the plumbers put out do-it-yourself instructions, I will believe that the dentists are great humanitarians. In Long Beach they stated in the papers that if the measure for which they were working so hard carried, they would lose 15% of their business. If they can figure this closely I think they are in the wrong business. They should be in the stock market. The people of Long Beach evidently didn't think they should make such a great sacrifice so they killed the racket.

They started a campaign in Riverside and had all the photographs of the bad teeth, but it backfired on them when somebody had the good common sense to have the Riverside water analyzed and it showed more natural fluoride than they intended to put in, in the form of rat poison. So the whole campaign blew up.

Of course, there is a small quantity of natural calcium fluoride in most of the water in this country. The Long Beach water supply contains 3/10 of one part per million of this natural calcium fluoride. What they proposed to do was to add .7 of one part per million of rat poison sodium fluoride to this to bring it up to one part per million. They called this "supplementing the fluorides already in the water." Notice the plural, fluorides. Well, you can supplement natural nonpoisonous calcium fluoride with rat poison sodium fluoride about as well as you can supplement whiskey with sulphuric acid or sugar with arsenic. Sodium fluoride is a horse of altogether different colored feathers from calcium fluoride. Both are horse feathers as far as providing any permanent benefit to the children's teeth. If your community can raise the money to put rat poison in your drinking water, you can spend this money to far greater advantage in removing the smaller proportion of natural calcium fluoride from your water.

Now, let's get into a little of the chemistry and biology involved, using the language of the layman. Sodium fluoride is a compound of sodium and fluorine. Sodium is one of the elements and is a very unstable metal. Fluorine, also an element, is one of the halogens. It is a gas and is the mad-dog of all the elements. It attacks practically everything and combines with more elements than any other known element. When these two elements combine to form sodium fluoride, the compound is one of the most deadly poisons known to man. Only 400 parts per million in water is a lethal dose. When taken into the human system, ingested as it is called, only a part of it is excreted. As more is taken in, it builds up in the system just as your savings build up in the bank if you put in more than you take out. It is like arsenic and cyanide. These are known as cumulative poisons.

Though calcium fluoride, which is nonpoisonous, is quite different in most respects from sodium fluoride, each contains fluorine which has the property of precipitating calcium. So either of these chemicals, when ingested will attack the bones and make them brittle. The incidence of broken bones in people, cattle and horses is much higher in areas having one part per million or better in the water. Also there is more arthritis because the calcium is precipitated and deposited in the joints and in the cartilage. Sodium fluoride builds up in every organ of the body and in the blood. It impairs the functions of the spleen, the liver, the kidneys and attacks the enamel of the teeth, causing a disease known as fluorosis, characterized by mottled teeth which reveal the first stages of fluorine poisoning. But what it affects most seriously is the brain.

A study made at the University of Wisconsin of the water all over the state of Illinois showed that in communities having one or better than one part per million, the number of idiots born was over twice the proportion as in districts having 0 to .2 parts per million. These tests also revealed that the percentage of idiots born was greater for older women and this was attributed to the fact that there was a greater accumulation of poison in their blood, due to longer accumulation and this more poisonous blood went into the foetus.

I had read in literature that the city of Grand Rapids, Michigan had a death rate 30% higher than the state average. Now, Grand Rapids was the second city in the country to fluoridize its water. The article went on to state that the death rate from diabetes was 47% higher, heart trouble 50% higher and mental diseases 80% higher. These figures startled me. Now here was something really condemning, if true. When I quote figures or make statements, I want to be sure they are accurate. So I wrote the City Health Department of Grand Rapids, quoted the above figures and asked if they were correct. I also asked, if they were correct, had it not occurred to the Health Department that it might be due to the fact that the populace was drinking a deadly poison in its water. They answered my letter, but not my questions as to the accuracy of the figures, so now I know they are correct. They wrote over a page in trying to convert me to the benefits of fluoridization and said the reason the death rate was so high was because there were so many old people in the city. In the very next paragraph they stated that they had asked the state for an appropriation of $50,000 to find out why the death rate was so high. Consistency, thou art a virtue.

The U.S.P.H.S. brags about how many people are now drinking fluoridized water. If they told the truth they would state that 94% of the communities that have it, had it slipped over on them without a vote of the people. When it comes to an election it has never carried in a community where there was live, intelligent opposition. In the past year where elections have been held, it has been defeated nine times out of ten.

The P.H.S. officials say, "Don't let it come to an election, because clever well-thought-up opposition will defeat you." The racketeers are trying desperately to get a toe-hold in Southern California where not one community is fluoridized. They had it in San Diego for two years, but the people arose and threw it out. Since they lost so decisively in Long Beach, where they thought they had it in the bag, they have desperately worked on several smaller communities trying to sneak it in, but public officials are wary and are afraid to take a chance because of liability under the civil code, the section relating to responsibility of public officials. The public is rapidly learning of this skulduggery and wants no part of it.

Secretary Flemming of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (what a name for a department that has teamed up with the racketeers to put rat poison in the drinking water all over the country) now admits that fluoridization is rapidly losing out.

Dentists refuse to debate the subject publicly with people who are well-informed on the economics, chemistry, biology, physiology and the corrosive aspects of the case. You can't debate against truth. I recently spent 3 days in the East Bay Municipal Utilities District of which Oakland, California is the principal city. My trip was arranged a month ahead and the East Bay Committee Against Fluoridization tried all that time to find a dentist or a Health Officer to debate the issue with me, but could find no takers.

Twice during the Long Beach Campaign I debated the issue with dentists who read their speeches. When the rebuttal started they were sunk. They had nothing written out for them and they were lost. One of them ducked out before the rebuttal was completed. After that they agreed to debate four different times, then failed to show up, thereby depriving me of the right to speak. That was part of their strategy.

The California State Department of Health recently, because they were losing so many battles and because the opposition was calling sodium fluoride rat poison all the time, which it is, changed their strategy and started talking about fluorine. Now, the only way you can get fluorine in water is in the form of a fluoride, because flourine will decompose water at even ambient temperatures. Much of it will bubble right through, escaping into the atmosphere as a very dangerous gas. This did not seem to go over so well so then they started deliberately lying to the people, stating that the fluoride that was added to the water was the same as occurred in nature.

I wrote to the head of the California State Department of Health and asked him how he could deliberately lie to the people by stating that rat poison, sodium fluoride, was the same as nature's non-poisonous calcium fluoride. He answered this by stating that the fluorine ion in calcium fluoride was identical with the fluorine ion in sodium fluoride. This statement is just as fatuous as stating that a Volkswagen is identical with a Chrysler Imperial because they both are equipped with Firestone tires. This is an attempt to drag in electrolytic chemistry to further confuse the public. Ordinary water is a weak electrolyte and we are no more concerned with cations and anions than we are with captions and onions. Anyway the fluorine ion is poisonous, but it is the molecule and not the ion that does the dirty work.

Another serious objection to having this foul stuff in the whole water system is the fact that it is highly corrosive and eats out the water mains, laterals, valves and house piping very rapidly even in concentrations of only one part per million. I recently completed a six months' test using two sections of steel pipe, one immersed in a well-known brand of bottled water, the other in the same water with only 8/10 of one part per million of sodium fluoride in it. That was the content stated on the cap of the bottle. To be sure, I had this fluoridized water analyzed and it was as stated. Both containers were covered so there was little evaporation. I added less than ¼ pint of water over the 6 months' period in kind to each container. These steel sections weighed exactly the same when immersed. At the end of six months they were removed and allowed to dry. The next move was to wire brush all the rust and incrustations off the sections, letting it drop into the water of its respective container. These were violently stirred and the water poured into bottles which were taken to a well-known firm of analytical chemists with instructions to analyze for iron content. The fluoridized sample showed one and 57/100 times as much iron as the non-fluoridized sample. The section immersed in the fluoridized water weighed appreciably less than the other and showed to a much greater extent the effects of rust and pitting. What do you think the effect of rust and pitting would have been, had a continuous supply of this poisonous water been forced through this section of pipe?

This is one reason why so many cities that have put rat poison in their water systems have thrown it out. Maintenance costs skyrocketed. Many cities have tried it for two years. At the end of that time the expensive equipment for getting it into the water was so badly eaten up it was dangerous to continue. So rather than buy all new equipment they threw it "out the window."

One reason why it is highly objectionable to dump this waste product in a water system is that it contains so many other impurities and at least one other cumulative poison, namely arsenic. It contains carbon from the wasted-away electrodes and silicon and many other components that are not soluble in water and which build up as a sludge in the whole system.

Concord, New Hampshire had the foul stuff in its water for seven years. Before putting it in they had made a practice of flushing out their water mains every six months through the fire hydrants. After putting the stuff in, the mains became so obstructed with this sludge that it was necessary to flush them out every six weeks. They caught some of this sludge and had it analyzed and it showed 8,000 parts per million of sodium fluoride. Now, only 400 parts is a lethal dose. Needless to say, they put a stop to fluoridization.

Another strong argument against it is that the general public is getting so disturbed over this vicious racket that I seriously believe that within three years it will be legislated out by Congress. Then what happens to all your expensive equipment? Sold for junk; poisonous junk at that.

— — — — — — — — — —

Eminent scientists have stated that anyone drinking water with sodium fluoride in it in a concentration of one part per million over a period of one year will never be the same again physically or mentally.

That statement alone should make people pause and do some really serious thinking. Can we afford to take a chance?

It is certainly unfair to say the least, to force all the people to drink this poison. Some people are much more allergic to it than others as is evidenced by the fact that even with 1 part per million they develop fluorosis. I had a man working for me who breathed a minimal amount of the dust. He was in a hospital for three months and was away from work for 1½ years. Even when convalescing he was so weak he could not walk a block without resting.

We have records of one case in a city that was fluoridized who broke out in a rash when she took a bath in the foul stuff. She has to buy distilled water at 60 cents a bottle in which to wash and bathe. Few people can afford that.

One of the first things a doctor does with a heart patient is put him on a sodium-free diet. Yet some doctors sponsor this sodium fluoride in the water supply. There are millions of people in this country with heart trouble. There are over 3,000,000 diabetics in this country and it is doubly hard on them. It not only attacks the pancreas which is the organ that produces our supply of natural insulin, but diabetics drink from 4 to 16 times as much water as non-diabetics.

Putting this foul stuff in the drinking water is establishing a very dangerous precedent. If the racketeers can get this in water systems all over the country, they can put all sorts of drugs in the water systems. Think of the tremendous waste and the colossal profits. That is why we must work so diligently to stop the spreading of this racket and at the same time work to free the captive cities and communities where people are victims of this skulduggery.

Here is something you should know. This same sodium fluoride that they want to put in our drinking water is the stuff they put into the drinking water of lions and tigers that perform at the crack of the whip of the trainer. It dulls their brains and makes them docile. You have undoubtedly seen these savage beasts sitting on their dunce stools and trying to growl and succeeding only in yawning. Once in a while a young beast, that has not had a sufficient build-up of this accumulative poison in his system, goes berserk and attacks and often kills another cat or even the trainer. The other cats just sit on their dunce stools and look on. Can you imagine two of a bunch of alley-cats getting into a vicious fight and the rest of the cats just sitting on their rear ends and looking on? Not if you know your alley-cats! And lions and tigers are cats. Don't let them put this foul stuff in your drinking water. A long time build-up of it will affect you just as it does the big cats. Don't let them retard your spark!

In view of all these things, if you want to tear your house down in 10 years so as to replace all your water piping and plumbing; if you relish the possibility of you or your children having mottled teeth; if you want to shorten the life span of all members of your family; if you like the possibility of having an idiot as a child or grandchild; if you think having arthritis is a pleasant experience; if you are looking forward to having a dull brain at middle age, by all means vote to have rat poison in your water hole.

SOME ADDITIONAL THOUGHTS

If putting sodium fluoride in the whole water supply is good for the children's teeth, let's put in baking soda, aspirin and tranquilizer pills and help everybody.

We don't have to shoot the rustlers who are trying to poison our water hole; we can stamp them out by stamping NO after the fluoridization proposition.

Aren't you just a little suspicious of all the money spent, the lies told, the epithets hurled, just to help the children's teeth?

Remember that with the terrific quantity of this water soaking into the ground, it will be only a few years until the ground water is poisoned and you won't be able to even buy pure water from wells in your locality.

The air we breathe is continually becoming more and more poisonous. The foods that we eat contain more and more poisonous preservatives and are contaminated by more and more poisonous sprays. The only way in which we can dilute and wash these poisons from our systems is by drinking lots of pure, uncontaminated water. In the name of all that is pure, don't let them poison that!

Just a little rat poison in your drinking water is like just a few bed-bugs in your bed, only worse. Both are highly undesirable. The only difference is that the individual can exterminate those few bed-bugs but once the rat poison is in he can do nothing about getting it out.

Don't let them dump into our drinking water what we would not let them dump in our city dump. Let's dump the rat poison proposition.

They blatantly ask, "Don't you trust your doctor and your dentists?" The answer is, "Certainly I don't, nor do I trust anyone else who is teaming up with the racketeers who are trying to sell poison to be put in our entire water supply. I wouldn't trust my own wife if I caught her putting rat poison in my drinking water or my coffee."

How would you like to drink 4 to 8 rat-poison cocktails a day and then take a bath in the foul stuff?

The dentists, some of the doctors and the Parent Teachers Association are very soon going to have to do a lot of explaining to the American people about how they happened to line up with the racketeers to help them sell their excess rat poison to go into our water.

Remember that if the fluoridization measure carries, no matter how badly you want it, you will not be able to draw a glass of unpoisoned water in your whole district.

The manufacturers of baby foods refuse to put this foul stuff in their products. When they fluoridize their water supply they drill their own deep wells in order to get pure water. Their chemists know it is not fit for anyone to drink, much less young babies.

Since the first printing of this booklet two months ago we have won a tremendous victory in the East Bay District. Three California counties, Alameda, Contra Costa and Marin, defeated fluoridization June 7, 1960. Thirty-five cities and towns were involved including Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Richmond. This is the most populous area ever to vote on fluoridization—1,300,000 people. Chicago and Philadelphia have the foul stuff in their water but they did not get to vote on the issue. It was sneaked over on them.

In the East Bay District it was a bitter fight with no help from the newspapers. It was especially bitter in Marin where a hard core of unscrupulous die-hards phoned people that the Ku Klux Klan was putting up the money to defeat it. As a matter of fact we had very little money and some of the hard working members on the committee dug into their own pockets until it hurt. The promoters spent a lot of money (over $3,500.00) in big ads full of lies and insults in the paper of Marin in one week.

On June 9th, the San Francisco Chronicle, in an editorial headed "Tooth Decay Wins," said that the election was a victory for ignorance and stupidity over reason and common sense. They called us nuts, neurotics and know-nothings. Had the issue been a vital school bond approval, they undoubtedly would not have used such vituperative language. Even a dog would not have yelped so loudly unless someone had stepped on its tail.

Surely intelligent people must see that, with all the money spent, the lies told, the epithets and insults hurled, the furor and the frenzy, there must be something back of all this besides "helping the children's teeth." There is! It is the biggest piece of skulduggery ever put over on the American people! !

Soviets Say Rumor Of Khrushchev Ouster 'Nonsense'

LONDON (UPI) — An obscure Austrian with some second-hand "inside information" today fired off a rumor heard round the world that Nikita S. Khrushchev had been deposed and arrested by his Stalinist enemies. Soviet officials said it was all "nonsense."

The White House heard it. Diplomats at the United Nations in New York buzzed with "have you heard" that Khrushchev had been arrested and replaced as premier by Georgi Malenkov, a Kremlin has-been.

Headlines blossomed from New York to Helsinki.

In Soviet embassies there were shouts of derisive laughter and denials.

In Moscow, UPI correspondent Henry Shapiro cabled that the streets were hung with flags and portraits of Khrushchev in preparation for the Bolshevik celebration and Communist summit conference opening next week.

Khrushchev was sunning himself at the Black Sea resort of Sukhumi and was expected back in Moscow tomorrow, Shapiro said.

The rumor started when the Austrian who identified himself as a teleprinter operator for the Soviet Embassy—but could not produce papers to prove it—made the rounds of newspaper offices to tell his startling tale.

The Austrian said:

Khrushchev had been toppled by members of the "anti-party" group he had disgraced in 1957.

Malenkov, forced out as premier in 1955, had come back and was to be the new premier. Lazar Kaganovich, former first deputy premier and Stalin's brother-in-law, was to become "state president."

Further, Gen. Andrei A. Grechko was to be commander-in-chief of armed forces. Dmitri Shepilov, ousted as foreign minister for being "anti-party" would be minister of interior and Marshal Georgi Zhukov, fired as defense minister by Khrushchev, would be Moscow Military District commander.

The Austrian claimed he had, through an "indiscretion" by someone else, learned of the story in a coded message to the embassy.

(Associated Press made no mention of the unidentified Austrian in its story of the rumor. AP said there were two versions of how the story started:

(1. An unidentified man telephoned local news offices with the report.

(2. A code clerk in the Soviet Embassy broke the news to an Austrian friend.

(AP said "neither version could be traced authoritatively.")

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin laughed at the report. Said the ambassador at Bonn in West Germany: "Stuff and nonsense."

Nixon Lambastes Kennedy's 'Police State' Farm Policy

Demo Nominee Asks Virginia To Rejoin Party

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, urging Virginians to return to the Democratic Party fold—today hit at the administration's spending programs and pledged to maintain "a sound fiscal policy in the sixties" if elected president next Tuesday.

Speaking before a crowd at the Roanoke airport, Kennedy also kept up the derisive attack he has been leveling at his campaign foe, Vice president Richard M. Nixon.

In Roanoke, and at Norfolk, earlier, Kennedy said he could not believe that the state which Thomas Jefferson called home and which is known as "the mother of presidents" could vote for Nixon for president.

The state went for the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket in 1952 and 1956.

From Roanoke, Kennedy flew to Toledo, Ohio, where he said in a prepared speech that the United States "must become the workshop of freedom . . . to win and to hold the faith and friendship of the undeveloped countries now coming into their own in Asia, in Latin America and Africa."

And he said "the next Democratic administration . . . will free the economy of all the short-sighted policies artificially imposed by the Republican administration."

To his Roanoke and Norfolk audience, the candidate said:

"I can't believe Virginia, which began this party, which gave it growth, which gave it intellectual conviction . . . can vote for a Republican of the stripe of Richard Nixon."

Vice President Campaigns In Wyoming Storms

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon campaigned westward today in heavy snows which failed to cool the heat of his charges that Sen. John F. Kennedy's farm plan embraced "police-state-type controls."

The GOP presidential candidate began his campaign day in Fort Worth, Tex., and despite snows of eight to 10 inches, he made a behind-schedule stop in Wyoming, the 49th state he has visited during the campaign. Nixon will be in California tomorrow. He will fly into San Jose at 9:10 a.m. and then will motorcade to Hayward for an 11 a.m. speech and to Oakland at noon.

The continuing snow and low visibility forced his chartered American Airlines jet transport to circle Casper for nearly a half hour before landing.

Before the Casper audience of about 2,000 persons, the Republican standard bearer continued his running battle with Kennedy over proposed farm programs for 1961. Yesterday in Amarillo, Tex., Kennedy accused Nixon of using "the blackmailer's tactics" in forecasting a 25 per cent rise in food prices if the Democratic farm program became effective.

"My opponent has obviously decided to bury his own fantastic farm program and, instead, to fill the air with ominous-sounding counter charges."

He said Kennedy would, through his farm plan, bring about "police-state-type" control.

Admiral Fined $15,000 In Liquor Case

Retired Rear Adm. William L. Erdmann, 58, of Kentfield, was ordered to pay $15,000 for $4,300 worth of liquor by a federal judge in San Francisco today.

He was given the maximum fine for failure to pay import tax on 504 bottles of liquor brought from Guam aboard an aircraft carrier.

'FLAGRANT VIOLATION'

"I'm going to deal with you in the way you dealt with the government," Judge Oliver J. Carter told the ramrod straight, stern faced, Annapolis graduate. "This was a substantial and flagrant violation in the area of non-commercial smuggling."

The admiral, who lives at 13 Arroyo Drive, Kentfield, told the judge:

"Naturally I know much better now. I regret the deed. I particularly regret any reflection on the fine military service in which I have spent 40 years, and I deeply regret the embarrassment given to my family."

HADN'T PAID DUTY

Erdmann was accused of bringing 42 cases of Scotch, bourbon, gin and assorted liqueurs into the country on the carrier Bon Homme Richard last May. The duty of $1,173 had not been paid.

The liquor was found in a 3,651-pound box labeled "household effects" in Erdmann's home July 1 by Treasury and Customs agents.

"This is not a court-martial," Judge Carter emphasized. "I'm going to leave any naval disciplinary proceedings to naval authorities."

The judge said Erdmann, as a high Navy officer, was required to do a lot of entertaining, and that he used this method of getting the liquor to

Marin Doctors Will Offer Medical Plan

Society Announces Pre-Paid Proposal At Annual Session

A pre-paid medical plan will be offered by the Marin County Medical Society as the result of a year and a half of study and a poll of its members.

By vote of 128 to 23, the members approved formation of an organization which will offer medical, surgical and hospital care to Marin residents, first in groups and eventually to individuals, on a pre-paid basis but with freedom of selection of physicians.

RESULTS OF BALLOTING

The Marin Medical Plan, as it is being called, will initially provide "high quality insurance coverage to employee groups in the county at rates substantially lower than can be obtained elsewhere for the same coverage," according to Dr. Duval Jaros, chairman of the committee which drew up the plan.

Until it has had time to develop, enrollment will be limited to legally defined employee groups. At least one labor union is waiting for necessary incorporation of the plan to negotiate for its first contract, Dr. Jaros said.

DETAILS COMING

Details of just what will be offered in the way of coverage must await formation of the corporation and determination of its board of directors, he went on. However, present thinking is that it would provide full coverage for all medical, surgical and hospital costs or a co-insurance plan whereby the patient would pay, for example, 20 per cent and the plan 80 per cent of all costs. Dr. Jaros said this type was receiving considerable backing be-

Shakeup Ultimatum Put Off For Year

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The Soviet Union, in a reversal of policy prompted by Afro-Asian hostility, agreed today to postpone for at least a year Premier Nikita Khrushchev's ultimatum for a "radical" reorganization of the United Nations.

Soviet Delegate Alexei A. Roschin, speaking in the General Assembly's budget committee, announced the Soviet pullback by saying Russia would leave its sweeping reorganization demands in the hands of a "committee of experts.

The committee, already selected by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to review problems of the U.N. secretariat, is not due to issue its first full report until the 16th assembly session next year.

They included the demand that the office of the secretary-general be eliminated and replaced by a three man Soviet-style presidium representing the so-called western, socialist and neutralist blocs, and also the call for "more equitable" regional representation in the secretariat.

A third key point was Russia's demand that the U.N. budget —estimated at about 17.5 million dollars for 1961— be "stabilized" at only 50 million dollars and all appropriations over that be put into a series of "special budgets" supported only by the nations immediately concerned.

Roschin's sudden announcement that these points would be postponed gave strength to reports the Soviet bloc also may reverse its decision not to pay its share of the multi-million-dollar U.N. Congo operation.

COMBINED AP & UPI

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The United Nations today published a hitherto secret cable from Congo President Joseph Kasavubu assailing the U.N. role in the troubled African country. He accused the U.N. command of encouraging the supporters of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba by blocking his arrest and prosecution.

Kasavubu's charges were made to Ambassador Frederick H. Boland, president of the General Assembly, in a message dated Oct. 13. In other cables to Boland, the Congo president protested proposals now pending to have the assembly seat a delegation representing Lumumba.

In Leopoldville, Col. Joseph Mobutu's council of high commissioners today appealed to the Congolese population to rally behind the army and fight against what it called a U.N. plot to establish a "colonial regime."

In a statement broadcast by radio the populace was warned that "tomorrow maybe our republic will be invaded by Ghanaian, Guinean and Moroccan troops under U.N. command."

The statement took sharp issue with U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's report yesterday placing most of the blame for the Congo chaos on Mobutu.

Less Than Inch Of Rain Fell, Clear Skies Due

Clear skies through next Wednesday were forecast by the U.S. Weather Bureau today, following yesterday's scattered showers and brisk winds.

Gusts whipped up to 25 knots early yesterday afternoon in San Rafael, but eased of last night. Temperatures reached 63 in San Rafael at noon today, and were expected to be slightly higher tomorrow. A dip to 40 in San Rafael tonight is forecast.

San Rafael received .035 of an inch of rain bringing the total this season to .57 of an inch compared to a seasonal average of 2.69.

Other rainfall figures around the county were Bolinas, .06; San Anselmo, .06; Tamalpais Valley, .06; Belvedere, .04; Novato, .03; Mount Tamalpais, .03 and Mill Valley, .01.

Absentee Ballots Asked By 4,068

A record number of 4,068 voters applied for absentee ballots by yesterday's deadline, County Clerk George S. Jones reported today.

The previous record was the 2,437 absentee applications made in 1952 when Dwight Eisenhower ran for president. In 1956, only 1,481 applied for absentee ballots.

Supplies for the 306 polling places for next Tuesday's election began rolling out of the clerk's office at 8 a.m. today.

Marin County has a total registration of 71,905 voters. Of this total, 36,633 are Republicans and 32,619 Democrats.

Grand Jury Asks More Pay For D.A., Auditor

The Marin County Grand Jury last night recommended raising the salaries of the district attorney and county auditor, and adjusting the salaries of county supervisors.

The jurors also recommended that supervisors be elected by vote of the entire county, although they should continue to be residents of their respective districts. They suggested that some step be taken so that at least one supervisor will be available at the county courthouse each work day in case the public wants to contact the board.

The district attorney's pay should be raised from $13,700 to $15,500. The jurors pointed out that the position is a symbol of respect and dignity, and the caliber of the district attorney should be the best obtainable. The pay should be commensurate with the importance of the office, they held.

The auditor's pay should be raised by 5 per cent.

Inequities exist in the pay of supervisors. Under present laws, Supervisors Walter R. Castro and William Gnoss will be getting $400 per month next year, while the three elected

Five Perish As Plane Hits Freeway, Cars

ONTARIO, San Bernardino County (AP)—A small plane piloted by a Los Angeles businessman fought for more than an hour to stay aloft in a rainstorm, then plunged onto a crowded freeway and exploded last night.

Authorities said at least five persons were killed. The plane, piloted by wealthy auto dealer Robert A. Yeakel, 41, burst into countless small fragments near the east city limits of Ontario.

Four cars were struck by the hurtling wreckage, three of them demolished, according to witnesses. One motorist was fatally injured. All four persons on the plane were killed.

Yeakel, who tagged himself "The Lucky Dutchman" early in his business career, was a familiar figure on television which he used extensively for automobile advertising. He also was a desert land developer, and in 1957 made an unsuccessful bid to become mayor of Los Angeles.

The plane plummeted from the rainswept sky "like a shooting star," one witness said. It crashed on the shoulder of the San Bernardino Freeway, the main traffic artery from Los Angeles to inland cities to the east.

The crash scene was 25 miles east of Los Angeles.

Authorities said the victims, in addition to Yeakel, were his sons, Kenneth, 23, and Robert Jr., 14, and business associate Joseph Taylor, 41, of Newport Beach.

Yeakel's Piper Comanche apparently had been in trouble for some time. An hour and six minutes earlier, authorities said, it clipped power lines on the outskirts of Pomona, darkening a large area.

731 Newspapers Support Nixon 208 For Kennedy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Editor and Publisher magazine, in its final tabulation of newspaper support in the presidential campaign, reported yesterday that 731 papers were supporting Vice President Richard M. Nixon and 208 endorsing Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The magazine said Kennedy had received the backing of the largest number of English-language dailies to support a Democratic candidate since the E & P poll was begun in 1932.

Four years ago, Adlai E. Stevenson had 180 newspapers behind him, while President Eisenhower had 740—the largest number ever to support a Republican candidate. In 1956, there were 270 independent papers, and 571 of the nation's 1,770 dailies then publishing did not participate in the poll.

U.N. Congo Report Held Too Sweeping

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top administration officials are reported unhappy at a United Nations report which says Belgians returning to the Congo have hindered efforts to restore order in the tension-ridden African country.

In their view, the U.N. report is too sweeping and unnecessarily harsh in its denunciation of Belgian efforts to help the regime of army Col. Joseph Mobutu.

SEE COLLAPSE

Without some Belgian technicians, these officials believe, the Congo would have collapsed in new bloodshed and possibly civil war, despite U.N. efforts to keep the peace.

KEEPS SILENT

The State Department kept silent officially concerning the report submitted yesterday by Indian diplomat Rajeshwar Dayal, special U.N. representative leading U.N. peace units in the Congo. Top State Department officials were reported conferring on what to say publicly about the report, including an appeal that warring Congo factions unite in a government of conciliation.

The State Department was believed to favor some sort of coalition to restore orderly government, including a revival of the Congo Parliament. But there was obvious concern over the prospect that the pro-Communist elements in the Congo might gain power, opening the way for the return of Soviet-bloc technicians whom Mobutu ousted when he took temporary control.

There appeared to be a realization, however, that some new leader might have to emerge in the Congo to block Lumumba's return and to replace Mobutu's apparently unsatisfactory regime.

Authorities familiar with the swift flow of Congo events showed no tendency from a hand in the continuing chaos.

Some Belgians, it was felt, undoubtedly have returned illegally to stir up trouble. Officials said many Belgian technicians, however, are performing constructive roles in helping to revive the machinery of government.

Marines Hit Guantanamo; Mock Attack

GUATANAMO BAY, Cuba (UPI)—U.S. Marines masqueraded as "aggressors" launched a mock attack today on the American Naval Base here in a 24-hour maneuver with tank and jet fighter support.

A three-minute blast of the base sirens routed Marine and Navy personnel into action to "repel" the attackers.

The opening hours of the maneuver saw "enemy" patrols breaking through the fence surrounding the base and seizing a number of sentry posts bordering Cuban territory, as could happen should Premier Fidel Castro put his militiamen on the warpath.

Other marines led by Col. Merritt Adelman, commander of the base's ground defense, were grouped to repel the attackers.

Jet fighters and bombers from the base's two airfields were called on for tactical support for the maneuver forces. Umpires supervising the war game will publish a critique at its conclusion. Adelman said there would be no flat decision as to whether or not defense had been successful.

'Third Generation' Bomb Revealed By Ex-U.S. Aide

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas E. Murray, former atomic energy commissioner, tells of a "third generation weapon, as radically different from the H-bomb as the H-bomb was from the Hiroshima-type A-bomb."

In an open letter released last night to presidential candidate Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy, in which Murray again urged resumption of nuclear tests the former AEC head said:

"The new weapon will not be a larger and more efficient H-bomb, nor a smaller and more efficient A-bomb. It is primarily anti- personnel in destination and effect. And it need not create suicidal hazards for the country that employs it."

Murray also said: "I take it for granted the Soviet Union is developing nuclear technology along this revolutionary line."

In Washington, some unidentified nuclear physicists speculated that Murray was talking about what has been called a "neutron bomb" — a weapon that would actually be a small, mobile, nuclear reactor and a junior-sized version of reactors already used to propel submarines and to generate electricity.

The AEC refused to comment on the statement by Murray, who headed the commission from 1950 to 1957.

Congress Unit May Probe Nixon Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee may investigate charges of possible conflict of interest growing out of a Hughes Tool Co. loan to a brother of Vice President Richard N. Nixon four years ago.

Chairman Jack Brooks (D.-Tex.), said yesterday he has serious allegations that decisions of the Civil Aeronautics Board were influenced. He said he will ask his government activities subcommittee "for approval to conduct a thorough investigation at the earliest opportunity."

CALLED SMEAR

Nixon's campaign manager, Robert Finch, has called the charges a smear brought up to hurt Nixon's election chances. He said Nixon knew nothing of the loan until later.

Howard Hughes heads both the Hughes Tool Co. and Trans World Airlines, which is under CAB jurisdiction. The tool company has been identified as the maker of a $205,000 loan in December, 1956, to F. Donald Nixon, a brother of the vice president.

Brooks did not name the source of the allegations that the CAB was influenced.

"GRANTED ROUTE"

"It has been reported that following this loan in December, 1956,TWA was granted a route from St. Louis, Mo., to Miami, Fla., that TWA's Far Eastern route was extended to Manila, that TWA was given a passenger fare increase and that the 12-year restriction imposed by the CAB on commercial transactions between the Hughes Tool Co. and TWA was lifted after the granting of this $205,000 loan," Brooks said.

Columnist Drew Pearson raised the subject of the loan last week in a story which said Hughes' problems "got better treatment after the loan."

Ex-Student Faces Book Theft Quiz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The FBI has filed a complaint against a former Stanford University student and ex-convict in connection with the disappearance of a valuable volume of presidential autographs and letters from the Stanford Library.

Special Agent Richard D. Auerbach said Mitchell Joseph Strucinski, 38, of Menlo Park, admitted he sold the volume to New York City book dealers—but denied having stolen it.

The volume had been donated to the university by Elmer Robinson, former mayor of San Francisco.

Wins Libel Suit

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A $500,000 libel suit judgment against the New York Times and four Negro ministers—an outgrowth of Alabama's racial troubles—was headed today for appeal to the higher courts.

Twelve white jurors in state court yesterday awarded the record judgment to Montgomery Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan, who said he was libeled by an advertisement which appeared in the Times. Attorneys who represented the newspaper in the three-day trial said they will appeal to the Alabama Supreme Court.

Sitter Saves Four

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A baby-sitter, trapped by flames in a burning four-family apartment house, tossed four children from a second story window and then leaped to safety herself last night.

Mrs. Norma Nichols, 19, tossed the three children of Mrs. Marlene Kavitz and her own son into the arms of Lily Walker, 27, standing below. Then Mrs. Nichols jumped and was caught by a man.

Nowhere Is Safe

MANCHESTER, N. H. (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. John Santos of Manchester thought they came up with a fool-proof way to avoid Sunday drivers and accidents. But they were wrong.

While staying home and watching television, their quiet Sunday afternoon was suddenly disrupted when a carload of univited guests dropped in—car and all. The car rammed through the side wall and ended up partially in the living room. No one was injured seriously.

Finch Jury Deadlock

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The jury reported deadlocked 9-3 for conviction of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff today resumed deliberations with talks approaching the 60-hour mark.

A high level courtroom official said "the jury is hung 9-3 in favor of convicting both of them." The panel of 11 women and one man had discussed the case for 57 hours and 45 minutes at day's end yesterday, after Superior Court Judge Leroy Dawson's refusal to poll the jurors or declare a mistrial as requested by the defense.

Subs For Argentina

They will replace two obsolete Italian-made submarines which were retired from service earlier this year.

Riot In Santiago

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Police fired on Communist-led rioters in central Santiago last night, killing two persons and wounding 16. Nine policemen were hospitalized for treatment of stab wounds. The shooting started when persons attending an unauthorized demonstration organized by the Communist-controlled CUT Union Federation ignored police orders to disperse.

Astronomer Dies

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's leading astronomer, Sir Harold Spencer Jones, 70, died last night.

Jones, a brilliant mathematician, was responsible for the day-to-day accuracy of Greenwich mean time. He retired as astronomer royal five years ago.

Labor Group Threatens Split In U.K.

LONDON (AP)—Left-wing Labor Party rebels who want Britain to scrap nuclear weapons and its NATO alliance today sought new strategy to continue the fight after failing to shelve Hugh Gaitskell as party leader.

Gaitskell, a supporter of the Conservative government's general defense policy, kept the top party post by a 2-to-1 majority over left-winger Harold Wilson in balloting by Labor members of Parliament. The 166-81 tally, the result of week-long voting, was announced last night at a party caucus.

NEW MOVES

But even while Gaitskell was having a celebration dinner with his family, Wilson's supporters met to plan new moves.

The conservative Daily Sketch reported that the rebels planned to form a splinter party, which would cut regular Labor strength in Parliament by nearly a third. The paper said the leftwingers would ask parliamentary leaders to treat them in future as a "second opposition."

Such a move was hinted earlier by Emanuel Shinwell, a veteran member of the leftist group.

TALK SUGGESTED

He suggested that Richard A. Butler, Conservative leader in Parliament, discuss arrangements for parliamentary business with representatives of Labor's rank and file rather than with official party leaders.

Shinwell and Sydney Silverman, another leftwinger, led an unsuccessful demand in the House of Commons for debate on a motion condemning the government's decision to provide a base in Scotland for U.S. nuclear Polaris-firing submarines.

Plans for a 38-million-dollar 25,000-seat sports center were announced yesterday. Adm. John J. Bergen, chairman, and Irving Felt, president of Graham-Paige Corp., which owns the Garden, said the new center probably would be ready by 1964.

Although he did not announce what would become of the Garden after 1964, Ned Irish, the Garden president, said, "Our present facilities are outmoded. The need for a new Garden has long been with us and is imperative if we are to continue a successful operation."

Nixon Aide Scoffs At Cuba Report Of Invasion Plan To Aid Election

Nixon's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, said: "I am sure the world will recognize this as just another case of a Castro man sounding off."

Roa also linked President Eisenhower's warning that the United States would defend its naval base at Guantanamo against attack with the American presidential campaign.

The Cuban diplomat charged again that the United States was plotting a provocation against the base as a pretext for "the armed invasion and occupation of Cuba."

Roa said Nixon's election depends on "another 'glorious victory' of North American imperialism in Cuba" and added: "It is logical to presume that this aggression must take place before Nov. 8."

Roa's statement came a few hours before defense maneuvers today at Guantanamo — a regular monthly training exercise that took on added significance from Washington's fears that Castro himself might try to stage an incident at the base and try to pin the blame on the Americans.

Enrollment Hike Seen For College

College of Marin trustees last night began to lay plans for an expected enrollment of 2,299 students by the year 1970.

Population figures were given the board by R. S. Kupfer, assistant county superintendent of schools. On the basis of population, high school graduations and building programs throughout the county, Kupfer estimated an enrollment of 61 per cent of local high school graduates each year. Of these, Kupfer's report indicated, 47.8 per cent will complete two years at the college.

"Of course these figures can be affected by many factors, and can be taken only as an estimate," he said. "But on the basis of available knowledge, this should be a fairly accurate picture."

A master plan for improvement of existing facilities and addition of new buildings has been under discussion by the trustees for some months, and several architectural firms have submitted suggestions and ideas.

Appearing before the board last night were representatives of the firm of Falk and Booth, architects and engineers of San Francisco, who presented the trustees with a sample contract as well as photographs, plans and models of jobs they have performed.

Among other things, the spokesmen for the firm advised a "space adequacy" survey which would give the trustees a clear picture of what is needed. The board agreed to meet further with the architects in their San Francisco offices.

Kupfer's report foresaw a growth from the present 838 students to 1,146 next year, 1,641 within five years and 1,994 by 1967.

Costs of building in a junior college plant was estimated by the architects at roughly $2,200 per student, each of which requires 125 square feet.

"We don't have too much time," Trustee Rupert E. Kemp said.

In other action last night, the trustees:

1. Appointed a board committee of Elizabeth M. Deedy and Kempf to study salary schedules and report findings to the Nov. 17 meeting of the board.
2. Appointed a subcommittee of Mrs. Deedy, Kempf and George G. Washburn to meet Nov. 10 at 3:30 p.m. to study business office procedures and operation at the college.
3. Approved warrants totaling $9,186.

Bazaar Set Again By Novato Club

The autumn garden bazaar held last Saturday in Novato will be repeated tomorrow at the Nave Shopping Center.

Members of the garden section of the Novato Community Club are digging up more plants, trees and shrubs for the event. The bazaar will run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Most of the booths open last week will again be there. The Girl Scouts will continue their sale of handmade waste baskets, boxes and other novelties. Explorer Scouts will bring in another load of manzanita, lava rock and drift wood.

The American Field Service will continue its demonstration of the use of French cheeses with the aid of Jacques La Croix, an exchange student from France at Novato High School.

The Y-Wives will serve coffee and sell tickets for the Marin YWCA benefit Nov. 11 at the College of Marin, featuring the Marin Madragal and Mill Valley Recording societies.

The Novato Junior Women's Club will sell candies, Chi Delta Youth will sell chocolate almond bars, the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary will sell needlework.

Death Confession Called Fantasy

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—A death "murder confession" of an 80-year-old woman who had lived here for years was described by Coroner Paul B. Jensen yesterday as fantasy.

Olive Jean Koempel died Oct. 12 after making a dying statement that she killed a hitchhiker in 1927 and buried him in her backyard.

Trustees Hire Publicist For Marin College

Over the protests of Trustee George G. Washburn, the College of Marin board last night hired a fulltime publicist at a monthly salary of $700.

He is Herbert A. Blanchett of Sausalito, a 30-year-old graduate of the school of journalism at University of Missouri.

Blanchett was chosen from among more than 50 applicants, according to Director Stephen E. Epler.

"It seem to me we have been getting along without such a man pretty well," Washburn said. "I think it is an unnecessary waste of money."

"Up to now the heads of departments have been doing the work we plan for this man to do," Trustee Rupert E. Kemp answered.

The duties of the publicist, who will be officially known as coordinator of publications, will include assisting in the production of all college publications, including the catalog and brochures.

He was expected to begin work within two weeks.

Blanchett is now employed by Blanchard Nichols in San Francisco, a firm publishing trade journals.

LONDON (AP) — Firecrackers popped, fizzed and banged behind Buckingham Palace last night as 10-year-old Princess Anne celebrated Guy Fawkes' Day 48 hours early.

The 355th anniversary of Fawkes' attempt to blow up Parliament is tomorrow. But Anne wanted to celebrate with her friends before going to Windsor for the weekend.

Tomales Phone Switches Over To Dial System

By coincidence, news arrived simultaneously that Dillon Beach is to be made a "special rate area" with improved service and mostly lower charges.

Instead of calling the operator it will henceforth be necessary to dial "TO" and then four numbers.

The California Public Utilities Commission announced permission for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to establish Dillon Beach as a "special rate area."

Dillon Beach is served from the Tomales exchange on a basis of its local rate plus a mileage charge, at present virtually prohibitive for everything except old-fashioned eight-party line service, costing $3.25 a month.

For this same charge, after the new rate area has been made effective the subscriber will receive improved four-party service with only one other "ring" on his line, according to Bill Turner, P.T.&T. manager at Petaluma.

The company is to effect the Dillon Beach change as soon as it can but prior to Sept. 30, 1961, providing three classes of service for residences and two for businesses.

Cost of Dillon Beach service is the basic Tomales cost plus mileage charge in each category. By the newly authorized area rate the extra will be only two quarter-miles.

Basic Tomales charge: One-party business $6.50 a month, residence $4.15; two-party business $5.10, residence $3.35; four-party business not offered, residence $2.75.

Present usual Dillon Beach charge is for eight-party line which is $3.75 residential per month. But current rates mostly work out: One-party business $12.50, residence $10.15 (in this category the quarters are 50 cents each); two-party business $9.30, residence $7.55 (quarters calculated at 35 cents); four-party residence $3.75 (quarters at 25 cents). This assumes a charge of 12 quarters.

New rates proposed by company and accepted by commission, on a basis of two quarters figured at 50 cents each, work out: One-party business, $7.50, residence $5.15; two-party business $5.80, residence $4.05; four-party residence $3.25.

Shakespeare Mask

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) —The House provincial library has acquired what it believes to be William Shakespeare's death mask.

The library bought the mask at auction yesterday for $10,948 from a Heidelberg art dealer who said a German tourist got it in England in the 18th Century.

Ike Says White House Not For Job Training

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — President Eisenhower, slamming hard at Sen. John F. Kennedy, said today the American people must decide next Tuesday whether they want "inflation fired by deficit spending or sticking with sound fiscal policies."

The chief executive flew to this Democratic stronghold and made a strong attack on Kennedy in a new appeal for the election of Vice President Richard M. Nixon to the presidency.

"The White House is one place where we should not depend on one-the-job training of the occupant," the president said in an obvious slap at the Democratic candidate.

He also sarcastically referred to Kennedy as a "young genius" and warned that the Massachusetts senator was making divise appeals to various voting blocs.

He made the attack in remarks prepared for delivery at a rally in Cleveland's public square in a bid to swing Ohio into the GOP column on election day.

The president, in perhaps his strongest slam at Kennedy in this campaign, warned that some candidates were preaching what he called "the false gospel of big government."

Eisenhower said the Democrats promised to launch vast new federal spending programs but do not say how they will pay the bills.

"We can only presume that they intend a return to deficit spending and the resultant runaway inflation, the kind which we slowed down eight years ago and brought to a virtual stop," the chief executive said.

He said that the buying power of persons on pensions and fixed income would be eaten away if inflation struck again.

"My conscious would not let me rest without making it clear to you that this is the choice you will be making next Tuesday—an inflation fired by deficit spending or sticking with the sound fiscal policies of this administration," Eisenhower declared.

$4,000 GIVEN BECAUSE HAIR TURNED WHITE

LONDON (AP) — Horace Ford's black hair turned white after a bus he was driving and a truck collided in 1957.

In awarding Ford $4,130 damages yesterday, the judge said: "He has had all the real enjoyment taken out of his life for the last three years."

Ford's hair was black when he appeared in court, because he dyes it regularly.

"If you go to an employer with a head of white hair and try to get a job, he will say, 'Here's an old fellow who can't do hard work,'" Ford explained.

Ford, now 52, works in a garage.

Flower Festival Starts Tomorrow At Ross

"More blooms and of a better quality than anything we have ever offered" is the prospect for this weekend's Fall Flower Festival at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, according to officials of the sponsoring Garden Society of Marin.

Murray R. Mackall of Corte Madera, festival director, said he expects the 1960 edition of the festival opening tomorrow to be "the most artistic and most elaborate" in the 14-year history of the event.

Mackall said there will be nearly a thousand blooms on display and offered in the plant sales booth. Leading amateur and professional growers of the county will exhibit.

More than 500 brilliantly colored chrysanthemums were delivered to the center yesterday for the sales booth. Robert L. Whiteley of San Rafael, assistant director, said that in quality and in range of color and size they are superior to any the Garden Society has heretofore been able to obtain for the event. Proceeds of the sales booth go toward unkeep of the center.

Sasanqua camellias and other fall blooming flowers and shrubs also will be featured.

The festival will be held in and around the Frances Young Gallery on the center grounds. Other features will include a Continental-style outdoor cafe and gardeners' how-to-do-it display.

Judging in the competitive floral arranging and specimen chrysanthemum classes will take place tomorrow morning. The show opens at noon. It will run until 6 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

The Decorations Guild Building at the Center also will be open Saturday and Sunday, according to Mrs. Gordon Zimmer of Mill Valley, Guild president. Handicrafted articles for Thanksgiving and Christmas will be on sale.

Professor Cites Phenomenon Of Population Rise

CHICAGO (UPI)—A California professor yesterday called the population growth in the 20th Century an incredible biological phenomenon.

Dr. Frank C. Baxter said that of all the human beings who ever lived, one out of 20 is alive today.

"The population has doubled in my life time and will double again by the year 2,000," Baxter said.

"Our central historical problem is how this mass can exist —how one can manage to be one's self in the face of such mass rule of conformity . . . we are being forced to likeness," he said.

Baxter, professor of English literature at the University of Southern California, addressed the 13th national conference of the Public Relations Society of America.

Ballot Counters Must Be Legal

SACRAMENTO (AP)—County clerks can put on volunteer workers to help count ballots election night, says the secretary of state, but they won't have legal status unless specially appointed.

The county clerk or registrar of voters must notify the central committees of both parties of the volunteers, as well as inform voters by publishing their names in a newspaper legal notice.

Four years ago William Davis of San Rafael lost a $315 pneumatic tamper and 50 feet of air hose. Yesterday he found them in front of his business place at 424 Irwin Street.

They were in the back of a pickup truck which drove up to Davis Equipment Co. about 11 a.m. Davis recognized them and questioned the driver. The man said he borrowed them from the Casper Nursery at 3761 Redwood Highway.

Owner Adolph L. Casper of 3 Bayview Terrace, Mill Valley, said he found the equipment on the highway near Strawberry, but hadn't seen anything in the lost and found columns about it. Davis produced the serial numbers and was given back the equipment.

Former Janitor Due To Plea Nov. 10 To Attack Charge

Elven Barrow Jr., 20, of Marin City, accused of attempted statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl on San Rafael Hill Tuesday, yesterday hired attorney Carl Shapiro of Fairfax to defend him.

Barrow, who worked as a janitor at the Independent-Journal building, won a continuance until Nov. 10 to enter his plea. He is also charged with contributing to the girl's delinquency. Barrow is free on $1,050 posted by bail bondsman Joseph Pecora.

Another youth, arrested with Barrow, is charged with drunkenness. He is William John Hendrickson, 18, of 27 Dellwood Court, San Rafael, son of John R. Hendrickson, who is now serving a 25-year federal prison sentence for embezzlement of $3,700,000 from a Long Beach bank. Young Hendrickson also is to enter plea Nov. 10.

Officer Wade Powell of San Rafael police said he caught Barrow attacking the girl, who is from Larkspur, in the woods near Robert Dollar Drive. Lt. Jay Fletcher found Hendrickson lying beside the street, unconscious.

The girl told police she and another girl from Larkspur skipped school Tuesday and took a bus to San Rafael. At a drive-in on Third Street, they met Barrow, Hendrickson, and a 17-year-old boy. They drank beer in the car, then drove up Dollar Drive.

Snakes and fish have ears, but these have no outside openings. They hear mostly through vibrations in the ground or water.

Marin Water Battle Told To Bay Group

Marin County's successful fight to keep ahead of the water needs of a fast-expanding population was described today by three speakers before 35 water experts and supervisors of the 14-county Bay Counties Water Problems Committee at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

William R. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal Water District, said that as of this week the problem has been solved in his district for about 20 years to come — but this means only an immediate start on studies for importing water thereafter.

Jerome B. Gilbert, general manager of North Marin County Water District, said that import of water is already necessary for the 72 square miles of his area. Russian River water is expected next fall.

Completing the Marin story, William B. Desmond, sanitation director for the Marin County Public Health Department, said that ultimately one or the other or both of the water districts must be expanded to take in the rest of the county, now served by many small water systems.

Chairman Walter R. Castro of the Marin County Board of Supervisors welcomed representatives of Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco, Solano, Sacramento, Yolo, San Benito, Santa Cruz, San Joaquin, Sonoma, Napa, San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties. He expressed regret that Supervisor Vert Schultz—"heart and soul in these water problems"—is leaving the board and therefore her committee post.

Similarly regretting that "this is my last appearance," Mrs. Schultz, who had arranged the program, declared that Marin has "a desperate need" for water solutions which sizeable sections of the local community show no wish to help.

"There is a tremendous need for public education," she said.

Seeger said that paradoxically he's been "praying that it won't rain" due to the crash program on the Nicasio Dam.

"This week we're topping out—luck was with us," said he. "I believe now we can get the final rock work done before the rains really hit us.

"Now we have 17½ billion gallons of storage for our 137 square miles, which should take us through to about 1980, of course depending on population trends."

But Seeger said this merely leads to the question, "What happens beyond that?"

The answer, he said, will be to go back again, as after the 1956 $12,700,000 bond issue, into detailed study of sources, this time exploring import possibilities on a basis of feasibility and economics.

"It's a strictly economic matter," said Seeger. "I can't say at this time what will be the cheapest way to develop new supplies. Meanwhile we've just got under the wire again—and I've taken all the chances I ever want to."

Describing work now in progress to serve North Marin with Russian River water, Gilbert said that, starting next fall there will be a guaranteed 10,000 acre feet of water from it annually. But ultimately, he added, this must be enlarged unless it is decided to construct a North Bay aquaduct.

Desmond said "the basic problem in Marin's undeveloped areas is the lack of unified effort on the part of existing small water companies and districts, with about 15 small water systems in West Marin apart from individual supplies as for restaurants.

"If there is to be full development there must be expansion of one or both of the major districts to take in the rest of the county."

Mrs. Schultz introduced the speakers. James Turner, manager of the San Francisco Water Department, presided.

MEDICAL

cause it encourages patients to keep the costs down.

Participating physicians will be those members of the medical society who wish to join the program. It is expected that this figure will be close to 90 per cent of the physicians practicing in Marin County.

SIMILAR PLANS

Plans of a similar nature and design have been undertaken by a large number of county societies in California and throughout the nation.

"The Marin Medical Plan will not take over the role of the insurance company," Dr. Jaros said, "but rather, will be an organization offering three services:

"1. Establishment of minimum standards of coverage for contracts serviced by the plan.

"2. Reviewing of all claims by a committee of participating physicians.

"3. Standardization of forms and the centralization of administration.

'QUALITY INSURANCE'

"The first will guarantee high quality insurance. The second and third will make it available at the lowest possible premium. The net result of the operation of the Marin Medical Plan will be to provide the maximum health insurance per premium dollar."

In application, the participating physician will charge his "usual" fee for each service rendered. This fee will then be approved or disapproved by a review committee of the medical plan. The committee will determine whether or not it approximates the "customary" fee for such a service in the community, and whether or not it is a "reasonable" charge based on the circumstances of the case involved.

Upon approval of the charge, payment will be made directly to the physician by the insurance company.

Members of the committee besides Dr. Jaros were Drs. Alex Beaton, Beth Pinkston, Ronald Mackenzie, Russell Klein, Warren Bostick and Herbert Lee.

Mrs. Marcella Jones, 41, of 1337 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital late yesterday for a back injury suffered in a fall at her home.

Russian Spy Suspect Goes Free On Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Igor Y. Melekh, United Nations secretariat employee accused of spying for the Soviet Union, went free today on bail—but he is under federal court order to remain in Manhattan.

Melekh, 47, was ordered released yesterday on $50,000 bail. He spent last night in the Federal House of Detention. He is free pending a hearing next Wednesday on proceedings to move him to Chicago, where he was indicted with Willie Hirsch for allegedly seeking military maps and photographs of Chicago for transmission to the Soviet Union.

The government vigorously protested the source of the bail money, which was produced in cash by two Soviet Embassy officials from Washington. The money was handed to Melekh's wife, Irina, who in turn gave it to the court.

Hirsch, 52, a German-born free lance illustrator for medical magazines, remains in custody.

Accused Sex Offender Sees Record

While serving as hospital orderly in Marin, Sandoval was convicted of morals offense involving a teen-aged boy and served a jail sentence in 1957.

The short, slight Puerto Rican was indicted by the San Mateo County Grand Jury on charges of molesting the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Douglas of Millbrae.

Sandoval said he was with Mrs. Douglas when she fell to her death off a cliff in Puerto Rice. Her body has not been found. A few days later, the body of Douglas was found in Marin. He had apparently committed suicide.

When routed out of his bed in San Francisco yesterday morning on the second grand jury indictment, Sandoval raged, stamping his feet, and declared he would "get Millbrae Police Chief Larry Pickett, according to Millbrae police.

He was free again today on $26,500 bail

Candy Cane Tour Support Sought

Nitery Closes Briefly As Sheriff Moves In

Irving (Whitey) Litchfield closed his Bermuda Palms restaurant and bar in San Rafael yesterday afternoon when sheriff's deputies arrived to pick up receipts as they came in from patrons.

But he re-opened it for business within a few minutes, in plenty of time for a Republican rally held there last night.

Chief Civil Deputy Floyd Middagh and his men continued their vigil at the cash register today to collect the more than $1,000 which Litchfield's divorced wife claims he owes in back alimony and support. Her attorney, Wallace S. Myers, got a court order for "keepers" to collect the money as it was paid by customers.

Sheriff's deputies said it may be several days before the required sum is collected. Receipts from last night's rally will be included in the keepers' collection.

Litchfield, who yesterday declared he would have to close up if keepers were installed to take the money, put up "closed" signs and turned off the lights when sheriff's deputies arrived. Chief Civil Deputy Middagh said the close-odwn lasted only briefly, however.

Rapid Transit Costs Detailed

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will not only be self-supporting but will make enough income to repay the initial cost plus setting aside a fund for future expansion, Stanton W. Thies, district deputy information director, told members of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club last night.

He said aerial structures used in Marin County to go over roadways would be designed to be graceful and pleasing to the eye.

The club, according to Mrs. Neva Gill, moved to send a letter to the board of supervisors reiterating its stand against rerouting Shoreline Highway on either of the two proposed routes through Tamalpais Valley.

Driver Arrested In Support Case

John L. McLean, 30-year-old truck driver of 67 Martens Boulevard, San Rafael, was booked by San Rafael police last night on a warrant charging failure to provide.

He was wanted by San Leandro Police Chief A. J. Lamoureux.

McLean was released on $525 bail to appear for arraignment at 9:30 a.m. Monday in San Leandro Municipal Court.

Registration Boils Over At Tam High

Too many voters spoil the poll.

This was discovered yesterday at Tamalpais High School when 780 registrants signed to vote in the school's mock presidential election.

Vice Principal John George said so many students registered that the election, scheduled for today, had to be postponed until Monday.

"Students worked until dark typing the registration rolls and they still didn't finish," George said. They were still typing today, he added.

GOP Planning 'Last' Rally

The last public rally before election day will be staged tomorrow afternoon by the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

Complete with bands, refreshments, entertainment, free pony rides and candidates, the rally will be held at Tamalpais Valley junction from 2 to 5 p.m.

Speaking will be State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Congressional candidate Fred G. DuPuis and Assembly candidate William T. Bagley.

Lagunitas School Board To Meet

The meeting of the Lagunitas School District board, announced in yesterday's Independent-Journal as being held last night, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Lagunitas School.

The meeting was postponed from Wednesday.

The board will hear reports on curriculum study and the district building program.

Named To Committee

Tamalpais High School Principal Richard L. Campion has been named chairman of an accreditation committee which will make an extensive study of Miramonte High School in Orinda. The accreditation is under the auspices of the California Assn. of Secondary School Administrators.

Fairfax Woman Hit By Auto, Badly Injured

An elderly woman pedestrian was critically injured when hit by a car as she was crossing Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax in the rain last evening.

Mrs. Evelyn H. McLain, 68, of 47-B Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, suffered fractures of left hip, left leg and two ribs, plus internal injuries, attendants at San Rafael General Hospital reported today.

Driver of the car was 17-year-old Lillian Ann May, daughter of Frank G. May of 27 Piper Lane, Fairfax, reported Police Chief Clifton C. Cordes.

Miss May was returning home from a Fairfax store, the chief said. She reported she was driving about 20 miles per hour in a line of cars when the pedestrian dashed in front of her.

Mrs. McLain was lying about 10 feet west of a pedestrian crosswalk after the accident, Chief Cordes said. Because of the rain, there were no skidmarks and it could not be determined whether she was in the crosswalk when hit.

No charge was placed against the driver.

SALARIES

last June will get $500 per month. Legislation should be introduced so that all five will get the same $500 from next January, the grand jury held. The present law which prohibits changing the salary in mid-term is archaic, the jurors decided.

The grand jury also considered raising the supervisors' salary beyond $500 to make it a "career" job, but turned it down because they do not think such a raise would mean more economy. The grand jury held that supervisors work more for civic pride than for the pay, and are already working at full capacity.

The grand jury did not discuss the current investigation of the efficiency in the various public works departments in the county. This may be discussed at the next meeting, said Heifetz.

help lessen the expense of such entertaining. He said this removed Erdmann from the category of a commercial smuggler.

The admiral had pleaded guilty to two misdemeanor charges, possession of untaxed liquor—which brought him a maximum fine of $5,000, and failure to pay the tax—carrying a maximum fine of $10,000.

The two other counts of the indictment, which were felonies involving smuggling, were dismissed by the court.

Erdmann's attorney, Richard MacLaury of Belvedere, said the admiral had already paid the $1,373 tax.

Judge Carter gave the admiral 30 days to pay the fines.

Sanitation Board Votes Annexation

The resolution approved unanimously by the three-man board will go before the county board of supervisors for their approval.

Bordered by San Pedro and Quarry Roads, the area contains the McNear Beach recreational facilities and the proposed 25-lot Bahia Vista subdivision of Equitec Corp. Sewer lines will be installed by the developers, but maintained by the sanitation district.

First step will be sewers for the 13-acre subdivision. Later they will be installed for the beach facilities.

Debate Canceled

Because of conflicting campaign schedules, the final campaign debate between Assembly candidates William T. Bagley and Everett A. Matzen has been canceled. The debate was scheduled to be held in Cloverdale tonight.

PASSENGER HURT

Plane Dives To Avoid Collision With Bomber

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — A Northwest Airlines Electra plane with 52 passengers aboard yesterday evening was forced to make a swift dive over Eau Claire, Wis., to avoid collision with an Air Force jet bomber.

Northwest officials said here today some passengers were thrown from their seats. The plane had just reached cruising speed and seat belts had been unfastened.

One passenger, Mrs. Mabel Engen, Fargo, N.D., suffered two broken ribs. She is in "fair" condition in a Minneapolis hospital.

The Northwest pilot, identified as Gordon Lindstam, said the incident occurred at 5:30 p.m. "I took evasive action to avoid a collision," he reported.

Junior Museum To Ask Partial County Support

Marin County supervisors will be asked next Thursday afternoon to provide the salary of the director of the Junior Museum of Marin in a program whereby the assistant to the director would be supported by the county schools.

This proposal received a majority vote of four possibilities put before a recent public meeting. It represents, according to museum president Al Nieri of Kentfield, what museum supporters have concluded to be the most reasonable scheme for extricating the museum from its troubles.

"We shan't ask that the county provide full support—that wouldn't be reasonable," said Nieri.

Fifty-three votes were cast at the recent hearing, and 23, the largest reigstered for any plan, favored the program endorsed by the directors at a subsequent meeting.

Sixteen of those voting favored public subscription as the main support with some aid from schools and county, 14 voted to have the museum become a county agency with housing in the Civic Center, and no backers developed behind the idea of full support by the county schools.

The group scheduled to appear before the supervisors at 3:45 p.m. next Thursday will be headed by Director S. Thompson Walker.

Latest figures on progress of a drive for public support show that donations now total $3,005, Walker said today. The current debt, a three-year accumulation, totals $13,381.

Walker estimates that $12,000 per year is needed for minimum operating budget. Income last year was $10,931.94. The county contribution has been $1,000 each year for the past three years.

Individual solicitation has been halted "until the current problem is resolved," according to Walker, but several projects are under way. A fund drive will be conducted in downtown San Rafael on Nov. 19 by Job's Daughters, the Rainbow Girls and DeMolay Council. An offer of a benefit concert has been received from the Claudio Symphony Orchestra.

HOW WOULD CHILDREN VOTE ON FLUORIDATION?

● They Would Vote YES!

1. Because they don't like aching teeth.
2. Because they don't like having their teeth drilled and they don't like having their teeth pulled.
3. Because girls want a beautiful, shining smile without cavities.
4. Because they don't understand how their parents can deprive them of good teeth because of a fluoride deficient water supply.

HOW DO GROWNUPS VOTE When They Know the Facts?

1. 19 out of 20 people vote yes on Fluoridation when they know the real facts.
2. How can we claim this?
   They would know that the United States Public Health Service which has the health of the people of our nation at heart, urges fluoridation because there is not a possibility of even one person being injured.

   They would know that the American Medical Association and the American Dental Association both urge fluoridation because there is not a possibility of even one person being injured.

   They would know that the same opposition existed against chlorination. The opponents were not concerned when whole populations suffered and died from Typhoid. And today the opponents of fluoridation are just as unconcerned about our health and well-being.

AND WHAT ABOUT THE RIGHTS OF OUR CHILDREN?

1. They don't have the right to vote. And they don't have the right to pick their parents. They depend on us. We have the MORAL OBLIGATION to take enlightened public health measures to give them the strongest bodies possible. They will spend the rest of their lives living with teeth that are vitally affected by the minerals in our water. THEY RELY ON YOUR CONCERN AND YOUR VOTE.

Educators Lash View On Schools

By DOROTHY SIMPERS

A San Francisco State college educator last night sharply criticized the contention that the only function of the schools is to "train the intelligence and inform the mind."

Dr. Fred Wilhelm, speaking at the College of Marin, declared that the eight professors who produced the controversial report on the San Francisco School system "take too narrow a view of the function of the schools."

To "speak sneeringly of education for life in democracy is to substitute a rather supercilious judgment for what has been the eternal commitment of the schools," Wilhelm said.

The professor said he knew of no school system not charged with helping children grow up and educating them for life.

Dr. Wilhelm and Dr. Ted Treutlein, San Francisco State College history teacher, participated in a panel discussion on "what are they saying about the high school" in the fifth of a six-lecture series on "Public Education: Criticisms and Issues."

Dr. Richard Axen, associate professor of education at San Francisco State and moderator for the series, also spoke. All three agreed that the criticisms expressed in the San Francisco report were typical of most secondary schools in the United States.

Dr. Wilhelm said the eight professors (four from the University of California and four from Stanford) did a good job in some ways of pointing up issues and problems. "Then they shot off their mouths about things they knew nothing about," he declared.

He cited reading as an example of one of the problem areas the professors did a good job of selecting. "Then they go on to the most specious argument anyone could invent—phonics—and think of it as the sole and exclusive answer. It is stupid," he added.

Dr. Wilhelm said the report gives very valuable criticisms of the schools, "but if you go on to specify remedies which fly in the face of everything we know, you are not doing us any good." He said there were a number of such cases in the report.

The professor also said he was most critical not of the report itself but of the way it was being handled. He charged there had been a "bottling up of argument" about it.

Dr. Axen said the fundamental criticism of schools was that they were not putting sufficient emphasis on those activities that train the intellect. The critics point out that the road to improving intellectual content is the "avenues of the liberal arts subjects," but the schools have modified these subjects, eliminated them on occasion and provided vocational opportunities as electives in areas such as music and art, he said.

This is where critics claim secondary schools erred—by deviating from liberal arts subjects to provide for a wider group of students, Axen explained.

So they recommend a return to the liberal arts and requiring all students to take at least two years of foreign languages, algebra, some science, more English and a "rather strong dose of history," he said. For the college-bound, the eight professors recommend four years of mathematics, foreign languages, English and social studies, and three years of science.

Axen said the critics would add one more step, and make sure that students achieve a higher degree of excellence. They would do this by putting the administration of high schools in the hands of people with more academic background, insisting on a stronger subject background for teachers and developing a "system of coercion" to make sure students will produce. Among ways to produce excellence, they would insist on a tougher grading system and diplomas identifying the type of work the students did.

In ad iscussion of what to require of all students, Dr. Treutlein said he would favor some kind of "central core" rather than an "individual-centered approach." The idea of a child-centered approach has more chance of weakness than a basic program, he added.

Dr. Wilhelm urged that educators learn to be "uncompromisingly realistic about basic goals and stop being uncompromisingly realistic about ways to reach those goals . . . shy away from anything that says 'minimum essentials.'"

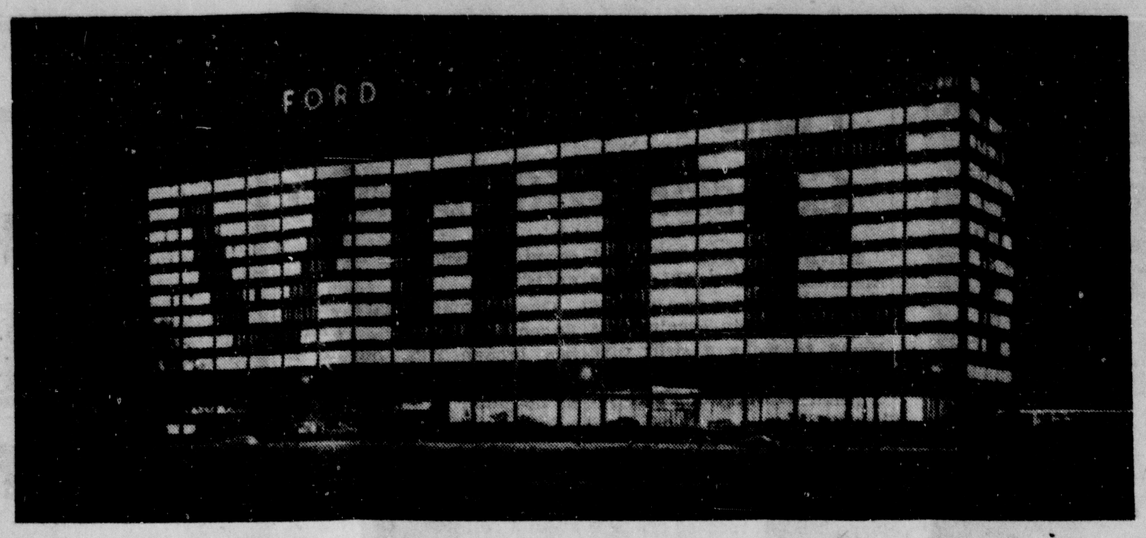
At the final session of the series next Thursday, Robert Smith, chairman of the division of education at San Francisco State, will lead a panel discussion on "who shall control our schools, train our teachers and administer our schools?"

Catholics Urged To Vote Tuesday

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Archbishop Edward D. Howard yesterday called on Roman Catholics of his archdiocese to vote in the general election Tuesday without allowing religious considerations to determine their choice.

Candidates should be weighed on the basis of "training, ability, and the public and civic welfare," he said in a statement published in the Catholic Sentinel, official newspaper of the archdiocese of Portland.

"The past many weeks have not been an easy time for Catholics," he said, "who have been the victims of innuendoes and falsehoods about their beliefs and whose loyalty even has been questioned."



REMINDER OF WHAT TO DO TUESDAY

This may be the largest sign ever set up to remind citizens to vote next Tuesday. Each night workers in the Ford Motor Co. 12-story central office building in Dearborn, Mich., see that the right lights are turned on and that blinds are pulled. A total of 1,140 windows on 10 floors are involved. (AP Wirephoto)

Mill Valley Council Favors Move To Streamline Fiscal Functions

The Mill Valley City Council, in an informal work session last night, voiced favorable opinions on city auditor Warren G. Lefort's recommendations to "streamline" the city's fiscal functions.

Lefort suggested the work be concentrated in the fiscal department and not under the treasurer. He favors new methods to stop duplication of efforts and an ordinance creating the office of finance director.

The council could take no action since it was not meeting as an official body.

The "streamlining" could be done, Lefort said, for about $2,000 and the new system implemented by next July. Lefort said he would agree to do the work.

Lefort, in recommending that treasurer Wiliam G. Rutherford be relieved of many of his duties, said the city would concentrate all the accounting system in the fiscal department. He said assessment district bonds as well as general obligation bonds could be handled by the fiscal department.

Coucilman George D. Monardo, administrator for a San Francisco hospital, put most of the questions to Lefort regarding "streamlining" and the auditor's report. He suggested the city look into the possibility of using services of a company which processes data on electronic computers. "Then all you have to do is collect the money," Monardo said.

John Hoopingarner, present head of the fiscal department but without a title, agreed that more efficency and better internal control could be realized by "streamlining" and said he favors it.

Asked by Mayor Robert D. Huber, "How does this strike you?" Rutherford said "I'm beginning to enjoy the job. I hated it at first. I think that efficiencies can benefit the city . . . I'm for avoiding duplication 100 per cent. I think the change has got to be done in a slow manner and not just jump in overboard."

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said there is an ordinance creating the office of fiscal director. As of now, he said, City Manager A. E. Almcrants is called the chief accounting officer. Nelson said "we ought to get some kind of ordinance which would declare we are creating the office of finance director, and then, in skeleton form, declare his duties."

Huber asked past fiscal director H. A. Tomlinson his views on the matter. Tomlinson said, "I heard this for 21 years. It was done in 1943, busted in 1945. In '47 it came back in, was busted in 1949, was brought back in 1950. What you have is a re-establishment of the original." He said the changes were made due to having three city managers but under the present city manager "we have not been oscillating like this."

Mill Valley Opens Meeting To Public

The Mill Valley City Council reversed itself last night to change a scheduled closed meeting on acquiring land in the small craft harbor to an open one.

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said he originally suggested a closed meeting when he thought "details" would be discussed regarding condemnation proceedings. "In the last couple of days," he said, "I detected there would be nothing coming up tonight but things of a general nature."

The matter before the council, meeting in informal session, was whether to buy .96 of an acre from John Alexander and Associates with provision that the firm have a 50-year lease.

The council unanimously opposed granting an advance lease. Councilmen said it would be premature to consider a lease. The land is south of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substation.

With regard to other properties being sought for the small craft harbor, Nelson said condemnation procedures have been filed. Pre-trial of the suit for land owned by C. I. Dowd and Adolph and Emily Biggio will be in superior court Nov. 14, he reported.

Councilman Michael Wornum suggested the city might indicate "which way it is going to go in the small craft harbor development." Nelson said the city will spend $300,000 and then be in a position to invite bids from anyone who wants to bring in an idea to operate a harbor with all facilities.

City Manager A. E. Almcrants said, "It will take three years to develop and once you start dredging you will hear lots of offers."

Mayor Robert D. Huber said: "We're fighting to hold onto the loan. Almcrants has some applications already from people who want to run things on a private basis but we can't talk terms to them now."

The city is offering prices ranging from $1,400 to $2,100 per acre for the land. The total land involved in condemnation is about 11 acres.

About 17 million of America's workers are covered by some sort of private pension or retirement plan.

Marin Republican Party Workers Meet Their Candidates At Rally

Almost 500 Republican party workers braved showers last night to attend a pep rally in San Rafael's Bermuda Palms.

They met the three candidates from Marin County, Fred G. Dupuis for Congress, State Sen. John F. McCarthy for re-election to the 13th state senatorial district and William T. Bagley for the 7th state assembly district.

Joseph Martin Jr. of San Francisco, GOP national committeeman, and former Lt. Gov. Harold J. (Butch) Powers, who recently resigned as deputy administrator of the General Services Administration in Washington, D.C. urged precinct workers to continue to get out the voters.

Martin said the last four days before election could mean the difference between victory and defeat. He said Marin party workers should get at least 97 per cent of the Republicans to vote.

The national committeeman said the newspapers have cast a pall of defeat around the Republicans. "It's not true," he asserted. He declared that Republican polls indicate that it will be Nixon and Lodge on Tuesday.

"The Democratic ticket was plastered together for political expedience" Martin said.

Powers told the gathering that modern government needs trained men like Dupuis, Bagley and McCarthy.

Also attending the rally was John Krehbiel of Los Angeles, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

David Winslow, chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, related a telephone message to the audience from the office of Vice President Richard M. Nixon praising the job being done by precinct and area workers.

The three candidates from Marin, introduced by master of ceremonies Gordon Ness, endorsed each other and urged continued precinct work during the remaining days.

"It could spell victory for all of us," said McCarthy.

Skits were provided by three of the sponsoring organizations, the Marin Republican Council, Federation of Republican Women and Pro-America.

The Marin County Republican Central Committee was also a sponsor of the rally.

Magazine Smashes Idea Girls Silly

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The popular idea of teen-aged girls as scatterbrains more interested in comics than world affairs is strictly wrong, according to a national poll.

"Teen Magazine reported today its poll of teen-age girls across the country showed that 36.8 per cent of them read the front page and general news first when they pick up a newspaper. Comics were second with 23.3 per cent and, in order, came society, advice columns and entertainment sections.

Should the Public Water Supply cease to provide the people with pure and natural water, unadulterated by medical prescriptives?

Throughout the history of mankind the people have been given pure and natural water from the public water supply. During recent years, a new ideology, which seeks to impose medical treatment on all, has been introduced in certain sections of this country whereby the public water supply ceases to provide the people with such pure and natural water. This ideology, which would promote mass medical regimentation, would reverse the order of the ages, so that the public water supply would provide MEDICATED water instead of NATURAL water.

Advocates of Proposition "B", providing for the fluoridation of Marin Municipal water, say that if this measure is enacted, no one will be compelled to drink medicated water; that if one wants NATURAL water, unadulterated by medical prescriptives, one can obtain such natural water elsewhere than from our public water supply. We say that if one wants medicated water, one should be able to obtain SUCH water ELSEWHERE than from the public water supply.

Proponents of fluoridation of the public water supply point out that for many years chlorine has been placed in water, but they do not point out the vital distinction between chlorine and sodium fluoride. That distinction is this: chlorine is placed in water, as a disinfectant, to treat or affect the WATER; whereas sodium fluoride is placed in water as a medicament, to treat or affect a particular part of the HUMAN ANATOMY, children's teeth.

That fluoridation is medicine is admitted by proponents of fluoridation. In their "Argument for Fluoridation Initiation," which officially accompanied our ballots last June, a group, calling itself the "Children's Dental Health Committee of Marin County," which then, as now, is advocating the fluoridation of our public water supply, stated that "Fluoridation is preventive medicine."

That fluoridation constitutes unsolicited and involuntary medical treatment was indicated in a recent St. Louis court decision. According to a United Press release, which appeared in the October 14, 1960 issue of the Independent-Journal (San Rafael), a St. Louis court, "tossing out a law calling for fluoridation, said: 'The County Council cannot compel everyone in the County to submit to dental treatment.'"

If you are opposed to the substitution of medicated water for pure and natural water in our public water supply, you should . . .

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Motel Owner Wraps Up A Neat Plate Of Spaghetti All Around

Dave Bellucci, owner of the Sky Lark Motel opposite Hamilton Field since last December, had seen operators of his coffee shop come and go. It was, he reflected on their passing, no place for a coffee shop but a specialty dinery without counterpart in the county.

And so came into being Bellucci's Spaghetti House last week under his own operation with remarkable initial success, for it seems that people do often like a plate of spaghetti, or spaghetti and meatballs without being sidetracked into other, more costly menu variations.

Dave's menu is simple: Spaghetti served with sauces made from his mother's favorite Italian recipes. There are, of course, soup, salad, toasted cheese and garlic rolls and desserts, but the piece de resistance is semolina, traditional in classic Italian cuisine. Prepared also to go out.

Prices are quite reasonable, the place is neat and clean as a pin. For dining only—4 to 10 p.m. week days and 3 to 10 on Sundays; closed Mondays. Well worth an initial trip; from there on return visits will become automatic.

THE PEACOCK GAP Country Club opens it restaurant, bar and golf facilities to the public beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Schedule is now: Breakfast 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays; lunch 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. every day except Monday; dinner 5:30 to 10 p.m. daily except Monday; bar open 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The location is in the Marin Bay development near China Camp—go out Point San Pedro Road from Third Street, San Rafael and you'll find it.

Add this to your list of deluxe dineries for first class traveling.

KELLY'S ALLEY, an appurtenance to the Cellars, San Rafael, is the new venture of Ken Kelly, one time waiter at the Alta Mira Hotel and more recently proprietor of Kelly's Corners.

Ken has taken over the cocktail lounge of the Cellars for breakfasts, lunches and dinners, accessible either by the Cellars door or from the side alley which suggested its name. He and wife Colleen have set up a nice little menu with reasonable prices and quick service.

Breakfast hours are 2 a.m. to 6 a.m., making it a retreat for night owls and early birds seven days a week; lunches are served 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. all week long, and dinners Tuesdays through Sundays from 6 to 10 p.m. Ken is contemplating carrying breakfasts on to a later hour on Sunday mornings.

IT NEVER RAINS but pours, and the pouring in this case is being done from a wine bottle at El Paseo Restaurant, Mill Valley.

Hard on the heels of recommendations for a Gourmet Guide listing, Mary and Earl Harkins have received an on-sale wine and beer license, believed to be the first new license in that category issued in Marin since the middle 1930s. Applicants for many years have only been able to acquire them by transfer and purchase from another county holder—usually at a fancy four-figure price.

Recent quotas adjusted to 1960 population figures gave Marin County eight new ones. El Paseo's was the first to be validated because in crusading for just such an occurrence Mary had a prior application on file.

El Paseo's dining room has been dressed to suit the occasion, with the best of imported and California vintages available.

FROM FLAPJACKS to cracker barrel, beer and food suitable to its new look—this is the course Eugene's Restaurant, San Rafael will take this weekend.

Gene Lackenbach's rear patio is the showoff spot—a combination of sidewalk cafe and beer garden, augmented by props reminiscent of a haunt for cracker barrel politicians to argue the fate of the Union, which in fact they may do before or after next Tuesday's election outcome.

Featured dish to be introduced, says Gene, is his cracker barrel special, "a man-size chopped steak sandwich barbecued to taste—one-half pound of meat on a split French roll with cheddar cheese."

Gene's application for a beer license has just been validated, giving him cause to stock up on both imported and domestic labels of the brewer's art.

FASHION SHOWS are on again at Bob's of Marin—every other Thursday. Next showing is Nov. 10 when some of the same bevy of beauties that modeled last year will display dresses from Sarrae's in San Rafael at lunchtime.

The style show is under the supervision of Sara Campbell of Sarrae's. Sara has handled many of these affairs before at Bob's.

College Club To Help Voters Go To Polls

Circle K, College of Marin service club, will provide transportation to the polls Tuesday for residents of San Anselmo, Ross and Kentfield who need it.

Persons who wish transportation may notify Roy Beck at 222 Crescent Road, San Anselmo, on Saturday or Sunday, or telephone the college Monday or Tuesday.

FILMS OF MARIN

New Rafael Picture Features Jungle Cats

By LES DARD

Marin filmgoers guide to the weekend fare:

RAFAEL THEATER

The jaguar is perhaps the most beautiful—certainly it is the most deadliest—of the killers of the Amazon jungle.

Two jaguars, one spotted and one black, are the stars of Walt Disney's latest True-Life Adventure film, "Jungle Cat," which opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

Three Disney naturalist-cameramen spent two years following these jaguars from the snarls of their mating battle to growling tenderness with their offspring.

The color cameras capture an extended battle with a boa constrictor, a crocodile and a wild pig. The jaguars don't lose any battles, although on occasion their prey does escape.

The animals provide their own humor; Disney has kept a rein on the tricksters who hyped up earlier True-Adventure films.

LARK THEATER

"Carry On, Nurse" is a new British comedy which establishes, beyond a doubt, that the male animal cuts a pretty sad figure when bereft of his pants. It has been held over in Larkspur for yet another week.

The men's ward of a hospital serves as the setting for this romp. There is no story as such. Rather, the audience follows the day and the night antics of the patients, a zany lot at best.

The crowd enjoyed this film the night I saw it.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

At first, he appears willing the accept the community's regrets. But all the time he's waiting for an opportunity to pay back the town; specifically by robbing the bank when it's full with cattlemen's receipts, thereby bankrupting the locals.

There aren't too many fisticuffs in the film, but there's more than a fair share of shooting. In fact, Ladd and his cronies—Don Murray, Sam O'Herlihy and Barry Coe—practically depopulate the community before the film ends.

Dolores Michaels also is in the cast as Murray's love interest. Love, in fact, is a key to what happens to Ladd and his cohorts.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"Ocean's 11" (Panavision color) is the intriguing title of a new film about a monumental Las Vegas crime caper. It opens Sunday in Mill Valley.

Ocean is Danny Ocean (Frank Sinatra) and the 11 are pals from a wartime commando unit. And what do veterans do when they get together? Well, Danny and his pals (acting on a suggestion by Akim Tamiroff) decide to rob five casinos at the same time—New Year's Eve.

Among the 11, for the record, are Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., Peter Lawford and Richard Conti. And their plot is ingenious, indeed. They get the money and they cache it well.

MOTOR MOVIES

"Strangers When We Meet" (color, wide screen) is an account of how two people drift into an affair in a plush suburb. It opens Sunday.

The participants are Kirk Douglas, as an architect somewhat bored with his wife (Barbara Rush), and Kim Novak, a beauty wed to a rather cold fish.

Douglas is working on a house for an author (Ernie Kovacs), and as the home rises, so does romance. When the place is nearly finished it's time for a decision: Douglas can break up his home or wreck Miss Novak's dreams.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Two highly popular films of several seasons back—"Country Girl" and "The Bridges at Toko-Ri"—have been put back in circulation (must be a new generation of movie-goers on hand). Both offer Grace Kelly and both picked up some Oscars.

Bing Crosby co-stars in the first, as a once-great singing star turned lush who gets a second chance with the help of stage director Bill Holden. Miss Kelly plays Bing's wife, tempted by Holden's growing admiration, but recognizing that Crosby needs her on the way back.

The co-feature (in color) is an excellent war drama. This time, Holden stars as a young lawyer yanked back to the Navy for flying duty during the Korean War. Miss Kelly plays his wife, Frederic March is cast as a carrier boss and Mickey Rooney portrays a 'copter pilot.

Estimate: Two first-rate films well worth seeing.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"The Story of Ruth" (color, Cinemascope) is based on what has been called the greatest mother-in-law story in history.

Elana Eden, a Hollywood newcomer, plays Ruth, the Moabite priestess who renounces her graven gods to follow her mother-in-law (Peggy Wood) to Israel ("Whither thou goest . . . ") after her husband is killed.

NOVATO THEATER

Samuel Goldwyn Jr. is the producer of the fourth film version of "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" (in CinemaScope, Metrocolor), opening Sunday.

Boris Karloff Loves Frankenstein Anyway

By BOB THOMAS

"It's amazing! Imagine me, at my age—73—still active in my profession and commuting 12,000 miles to work! I must be the luckiest man in the world."

That's Karloff, one of Hollywood's nicest paradoxes. The archtype of horror ever since he played the tall-browed monster in "Frankenstein," he has remained the gentlest of gentlemen. I caught him in a reflective mood at Universal Studios.

His reflection was not due to his golden anniversary as an actor, which he mentioned only casually. He reminisced because he was working on the Phantom Stage, so named because "Phantom of the Opera" was filmed on it.

"I worked on this stage many a time," he recalled. "Most of the 'Frankensteins' were shot on Stage 12, but some of the scenes were done on the Phantom Stage. This lot holds many memories for me."

I wondered if all the memories were pleasant ones. After all, he was and is a polished performer, yet the general public sees him in the image of the hulking, brainless monster.

"Me worry about type casting?" he asked. "Good heavens, no! The monster was the best friend I ever had. I only played him three times, so I wasn't stuck with him.

"Certainly I was typed. But what is typing? It is a trade mark, a means by which the public recognizes you. Actors work all their lives to achieve that. Companies spend millions of dollars to establish trade marks. I got mine with just one picture. It was a blessing."

The Karloff trade mark made him the logical candidate to host the new NBC series, "Thriller." To perform his duties, he engages in a rigorous schedule for any person, much less a 73-year-old. He lives in London, works in Hollywood.

After living 50 years in the New World, Karloff has returned to live in his native land.

"I think every person feels the urge to return to his homeland after he has been away a number of years."

Karloff left England in 1909, eager for an acting career instead of the family tradition in civil service. He started in amateur theatricals in western Canada, came to Hollywood in 1919—"But my presence here was a well-kept secret until 1931."

That was the year of "Frankenstein," and the making of him.

Protecting Your Dog

A new vaccine immunizing dogs against distemper now is on the market. The canine vaccine also contains modified live virus of infectious hepatitis, giving the puppy protection against both diseases with one injection.

Education Council To Meet In S.F.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's new coordinating council for higher education meets in San Francisco Monday to discuss state aid for junior colleges, graduate students and undergraduates and proposals for new state colleges.

It also will consider selection of a director.

Tam School Bonds Issue Due Board

Tamalpais Union High School District's three-million-dollar bond proposal—which lost by 900 votes Oct. 11 — probably will be resubmitted to the voters with no change.

A citizens advisory committee is expected to recommend that action to the board of trustees at 8 p.m. Monday, in the district office at Redwood High School.

The bond issue would provide funds for new classrooms and other facilities at Redwood, a new science building and remodeling at Tamalpais High, and some additional facilities at Drake.

The board also will hear a recommendation from Robert B. Torrey, director of instruction, that the district drop sponsorship of the science fair and ask the county schools office to sponsor a Marin science fair for all schools.

In the past few years the Tamalpais district science fair has become the official elimination for the Bay Area Science Fair.

Demo Incumbent Record Opposed By GOP Nominee

A Corte Madera landowner and a Tiburon insurance investigator are pitted against each other for the U.S. House of Representatives member from California's First District, which runs from the Marin shore of the Golden Gate to the Oregon line.

The incumbent Democrat Clement W. Miller, of Corte Madera, lists his non-political occupation as landscape consultant.

Opposing Miller for the second time is Fred G. Dupuis, Republican, chief special agent for the National Board of Fire Underwriters' San Francisco office. Miller defeated Dupuis two years ago after veteran Rep. Hubert B. Scudder retired from Congress.

In the campaign for election next Tuesday, Miller is running on his record. It is a straight party-line record on national and international issues. He points to numerous efforts on behalf of local issues for his congressional district.

Dupuis is attacking that record principally on the basis that Miller has voted to squander the taxpayers' money and to intrude the federal government further into the lives of American citizens. Dupuis has labeled his opponent "Spending Clem."

The candidates have taken opposed positions on various issues, some of which are:

Point Reyes National Seashore: Miller is a strong advocate of the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore, and introduced a bill for the government to acquire 56,000 acres of the Point Reyes Peninsula for the project—upped to nearly double the 29,000 acres at first suggested.

Dupuis claims the introduction of this bill "confused the issues involved," since an earlier bill calling for acquiring 35,000 acres had been introduced. He calls the 55,000-acre proposal "so grandiose in scope it is doubtful that it would ever be passed by Congress." He ridicules Miller's statement that part of the land could be acquired for $125 an acre. He would return to the earlier 35,000-acre park proposal.

CLEMENT W. MILLER
He runs on record . . .

FRED G. DUPUIS
. . . that he derides

Foreign Relations: Dupuis calls the course in foreign affairs advocated by Miller one which "means eventual international disaster." He claims Miller's proposals would play into the hands of the Communists.

On this issue, Dupuis claims his 13 years service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation—before he became an insurance investigator—has given him an insight into Communist workings.

Miller has accused the Eisenhower Administration of "abject failure to pursue disarmament objectives" and being "woefully unprepared at Geneva." He advocates a continued moratorium on nuclear weapons testing, strengthening the United Nations, and "reopening channels of communication and negotiation with Red China."

Welfare State: Miller favors compulsory health insurance, a government-operated medical program for the aged, and federal aid to education.

Dupuis calls these programs, in the forms Miller advocates, unwarranted intrusion of the federal government into the private lives of citizens and projects which would result in huge additional federal spending to the detriment of the free economy.

Neither Miller nor Dupuis was born in the First Congressional District, although both are longtime Marin residents.

Miller was born in Wilmington, Del., and educated at Williams College. During the Truman Administration he was a veterans representative for the War Assets Administration and hearing officer and field examiner for the National Labor Relations Board. He served as an Army captain in Europe in World War II and was awarded the Bronze Star.

He and his wife, Katharine, have five children. The family home is at 433 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera.

Dupuis was born in Helena, Mont. He was orphaned when 2 years old and reared by adoptive parents. He is a graduate of Northwestern College of Law at Portland, Ore. He started with the FBI in 1935 as a night clerk in Portland and later served as an FBI agent in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and Washington, D.C. He became a special agent for the National Board of Fire Underwriters in 1949.

He and his wife, Marybelle, have three children. They reside on Ridge Road, Tiburon.

Sales Tax On Medicine Is Just One Thing Too Much

McCarthy, in announcing he would introduce legislation at this year's session of the Legislature to eliminate the tax, called it "an unconscionable burden on people least able to pay."

We'll certainly second that sentiment. Anyone who has had illness in the family knows enough about the high cost of sickness—hospital bills doctors' bills, medicine bills—to wish even a small escape.

Under McCarthy's plan, which would exempt drugs and medicines from the 4 per cent sales tax, the state would lose $5,000,000 annually in revenue, according to an estimate by the state legislative auditor.

Looking at this another way, the exemption would save $5,000,000 per year for the people paying the cost of illnesses. Those little four per cent additions certainly do add up. They represent a medicine-drug bill of 125 million dollars a year in California.

With Gov. Edmund G. Brown already predicting surpluses for the next fiscal year of 70 million dollars or so, it seems an ideal time to give a little break to someone who could use it.

The cost of medicine is high enough right now, as recent congressional studies have emphasized. Adding another four cents to each $1 the medicines cost is, as the senator said, unconscionable.

We hope Governor Brown picks up McCarthy's suggestion and incorporates the [illegible] in his own budget

"The prospect of a budget surplus of at least $70,000,000 — and more probably in excess of $100,000,000 — in the first place." makes it a first order of business, in my opinion, to repeal a tax which imposes an unconscionable burden on people least able to pay — those already hard-pressed with medical and hospital bills," McCarthy said. "Medicines are as essential as food, which always has been exempt from the sales tax."

Attacking the traditional governmental tendency to increase expenditures rather than reduce taxes when there is a tax surplus, McCarthy declared:

"It is bamboozling the taxpayer to collect more money than is needed, then look around for new ways to spend it. The honest and fair thing to do is to cut taxes when the budget is in surplus.

Exempt Drugs From Sales Ta

ANOTHER fight to exempt prescription drugs and medicines from State and local sales taxes will be undertaken in the Legislature at the forthcoming budget session.

Doubtless with the blessing of an overwhelming majority of Californians, State Senator John F. McCarthy will introduce an exemption bill in the hopeful belief that prospects of a budget surplus will overcome objections that have consistently defeated its predecessors.

In the past, it has been pleaded that exemption of drugs and medicines would directly deprive the State of substantial sales tax revenues—now estimated at $5 million a year—and that it would open the door for exemptions on numerous other kinds of goods and merchandise.

Marin Landmark Dedication Set

LORD AND LADY OF BIRDS' NEST GLEN — "Lord" Charles Snowden Fairfax (right) and his wife left their names implanted in Marin history when they resided in what is now the Marin Town and Country Club. The clubhouse, seat of Fairfax's "Birds' Nest Glen," will be dedicated as an historic monument Sunday by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West. (Photos courtesy Stuart Rasmussen)

The Fairfax site of the home at which luncheon was served the antagonists in the last of California's duels of honor will be dedicated as an official historic landmark Sunday afternoon.

It was the home of "Lord" Charles Snowden Fairfax, a descendant of the Scottish barons of Cameron and the Fairfax family of Virginia, who became speaker of the California Assembly and clerk of the California Supreme Court during his short life of 40 years.

The public dedication, sponsored by the California State Park Commission and the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, will take place at 1:15 p.m.

Lord Charlie, lord of the 40-acre estate which is now the Marin Town and Country Club, was born in Virginia on March 8, 1829. He settled in California in Grass Valley at the age of 20. By the time he was 23 he was representing his district in the Assembly and at the age of 25 he became speaker. By 1856 he was appointed clerk of the supreme court.

In that same year he received a land grant to the 40 acres and buildings which became known as Fairfax Manor, giving two Marin communities their present names.

Lord Charlie gave his home the name Bird's Nest Glen.

It was here, in 1861, that he served luncheon to Charles W. Piercy and Daniel Showalter, two Democratic assemblymen with opposing political views, shortly before California's last "affaire d'honneur" in which Showalter was to leave his opponent dead on the field with a rifle bullet through his heart.

The duelists, forced out of San Francisco because that city was weary of "legal" killings, chose Bird's Nest Glen as their field of honor. Both friends of Lord Charlie, their luncheon proved to be the last either ever ate with him. The Marin County Grand Jury indicted Showalter for murder and he fled the state to escape trial.

The Showalter-Piercy duel was not the first time Lord Fairfax had come face to face with violence.

On March 25, 1859, a political rival, Harvey Lee, ran a sword through Fairfax's chest on Fourth Street in San Rafael, after Lord Charlie slapped his face.

Fairfax, seriously wounded, drew a derringer, looked Lee in the eye and said:

"Recollect, I have your life in my hands. I spare it, not on your worthless account, for you are an assassin and a coward, but because of your wife and children."

From that time on, the fortunes of Lord Fairfax were on the wane. A Southern sympathizer in a state which had sided with the Union, his personal popularity remained high but the aftermath of the war left him the defender of a lost cause.

His last gesture to his party, the then-morinund Democrats, was to lead the California delegation to the national convention in New York to nominate Horatio Seymour for president.

Seymour was overwhelmed in the election which swept Ulysses S. Grant into the White House in 1868.

Soon after, Fairfax moved to Baltimore, where he died on April 16, 1859, one month after the inauguration.

The dedication of the site of Lord Charles Snowden Fairfax's home will mark the fifth major historic site in Marin County marked and dedicated by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West. The previous markings are the Pioneer Paper Mill in Samuel Taylor State Park, St. Vincent School for Boys, the Old Mill in Mill Valley and the Little Red School House in Nicasio.

'Pillowcase' Pair Indicted By Grand Jury

Two San Francisco suspects in the "pillowcase" burglaries were indicted last night by Marin County Grand Jury on seven burglary counts.

Ben Harrison Wadington, 42, and Lloyd Frederick Wendelbo, 44, both ex-convicts, will be arraigned in Marin Superior Court next Monday. They are being held in county jail in lieu of $10,500 bail each.

ESTIMATE OF LOOT

Ross Police Chief Joseph Regoni, who cornered the pair, said a diver would be sent to the San Francisco waterfront to recover more of the estimated $100,000 in loot taken from some 60 Marin homes since last June.

Items already recovered were put on display at a "sheriff's store" which opened yesterday so victims could claim their jewels, appliances and other household effects.

Inspector William Bradley reported this morning that "business was excellent" at the "sheriff's store" yesterday as 32 victims arrived to claim their wares.

"About one-half the inventory is gone, but we're expecting another truckload today to replenish the stocks," said Bradley. About 30 more victims have not showed up as yet to look over the display of loot.

John Painter, Upper Road, Ross; Paul Vredenburg, 125 Cloudview Road, Sausalito; Mrs. Victoria Kelleher, 7 Crescent Drive, Corte Madera; David K. Mayer, 15 Woodside Drive, San Anselmo; Edward W. Johnson, 15 Elinor Street, Mill Valley; Merle S. Greenblat, 640 Hilary Drive, Tiburon; and G. A. Gast, 20 Tamalpais Avenue, Belvedere.

District Atty. Roger P. Garety, who prepared the complaint, picked out the seven burglaries, one from each community, because it was impractical to list all 60 breakins, he said.

No Excommunication Threat In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI)—a source close to Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan said today the Roman Catholic Church has no intention of excommunicating voters who ignore a church ban against voting for the Popular Democratic Party of Gov. Luis Munoz Marin.

However, the source said those voting for the Munoz candidates will commit a sin.

The source added that this does not mean that the struggle between the church and the Munoz party has ended.

"It has just been joined," he said. "It promises to be a long, drawn-out affair."

Archbishop Davis and Bishops James E. McManus and Luis Aponte Martinez issued pastoral letters which were read at Masses throughout the island on the past two Sundays. The letters condemmned the Munoz party and ordered Puerto Rican Catholics not to vote for it.

Marin Medical Society Names New Officers

Dr. Joseph J. Arons, San Rafael internist, was named president-elect of the Marin County Medical Society last night at its annual meeting in the Meadow Club, Fairfax. He will become president in 1962.

Dr. Russell Klein, San Rafael proctologist, becomes the 1961 president in January. He was named president-elect a year ago. The president-elect serves one year of training as aide to the president and chairman of the program committee.

Others elected unopposed last night were:

Dr. Calvin Plumhof, San Rafael pathologist, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Dr. William Edwards and Lee Cecil, both of San Rafael, and Muriel Bennett, Kentfield, to the board of directors.

Named as California Medical Assn. delegates were Drs. Ira Degenhardt and John H. Manwaring of San Rafael, with Drs. Lyman Hurlbut, Kentfield, and Roger Hedin and Robert West, San Rafael, as alternates.

The society by the near unanimous vote of 148 to 3, adopted a complete revision of its constitution and by-laws and by a 142 to 12 vote approved a "principles of professional conduct" for members of the society.

In his annual report, outgoing president Dr. Dallas Wagner, presiding at the last formal meeting of his term, reported the society had grown from 178 to 194 members during the year. He said the single most important accomplishment had been the formulation of the Marin Medical Plan for pre-paid health care (see story Page 1).

Dr. Edwards, chairman of the Professional Relations Committee, which investigates charges lodged against physicians, either by patients or other physicians, reported that 29 complaints, involving 22 doctors, had been handled during the year. Only one had been between two doctors.

Nineteen of the complaints dealt with over-charging. Most of them "were misunderstandings of the services given," Dr. Edwards said, but a reduction in the fee was recommended in seven of the cases.

Two charges of unethical conduct were settled in conference as were six for "poor service." Two possible cases involving litigation were threatened but solved by the committee, he said.

Dr. Arons, chairman of the Legislative Committee, warned the doctors that "regardless of who wins the presidential election," there will be an increase in the amount of legislation proposed which would affect medicine. He urged increased activity on part of the members in keeping themselves and each other informed.

Dr. Arthur Ablin, chairman of the public relations committee, stressed the need for disseminating information about medical care programs endorsed by the doctors, particularly those which deal with medical problems of the aged.

Other committee chairmen reported.

Wife Arrests Mate, Relents

Donald D. Fields, 24, of 9 Warner Court, San Rafael, was treated for a stab wound in the chest and placed under a citizen's arrest by his wife, Barbara, last night.

Mrs. Fields called San Rafael police at 6:30 p.m. and said her husband had punched her in the face. Police Officer Gerald Souza said the woman had a two-inch laceration above her left eye.

Accompanied by the officer, she arrested her husband at the Cavalcade bar at 813 Fourth Street, San Rafael. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a stab wound in the chest and released. He told police he was stabbed while fighting with his wife.

Fields was taken to the county jail to be booked on charges of assault and battery, but his wife changed her mind and declared she would not sign a formal complaint, police said.

The husband was released after signing a waiver which released the police from any responsibility.

Marin's High Academic Standards Reason For Low Gridiron Turnout

The dark clouds that rolled over the skies of Kentfield seemed bright compared to the mood in the College of Marin conference room yesterday afternoon.

For 90 minutes four top level figures of the college faculty pondered a troubled situation and finally agreed the college should cancel its three remaining football games.

With only 10 healthy players left, there was no sense trying to compete with the 35 and 40-man squads of future opponents.

The decision was particularly bitter for Harry Pieper, the coach, who as player and mentor was noted for his courage, talent and enthusiasm. Feeling perhaps like a manager forced to throw in the towel for his battered fighter, Pieper agreed the situation was hopeless.

In a school where football deteriorated in recent years, Pieper has agonized through living hell and yesterday's decision was just as much additional torture. The decision was Pieper's and he is to be commended for the sound judgment in placing the well-being of his players above all else. Someone, somewhere inferred Marin and Pieper were scared to complete their schedule but that statement was as ridiculous as it sounds and not worthy of publication.

At the start of the season Pieper greeted 26 football candidates from the school's male enrollment of 555. Yesterday he had 14 left and only 10 of those were healthy.

Why the disinterest in the sport? Why don't excellent players turn out for the team?

Pieper answers: "This is a fine academic institution. The kids tell me they don't turn out for the team because they don't want to jeopardize their education. And you can't argue with them for that—after all, that's the reason they're here.

"Being keenly interested in this situation I've taken a survey and have found that during the season football players get better grades than they do in the off season. That's because of the stiff eligibility requirements we have here and the incentive provided by the football participation.

"We don't put much time into football—only two hours a day. No quarterback meetings or any other extra work.

"Football does not interfere with the academic department. The only trouble is we have such a small squad that if only one player is ruled ineligible it hurts the team a great deal."

Does the cancellation of the remaining games mean Marin will drop football entirely? "It certainly does not," said Pieper. "We're looking forward to next season with the enthusiasm we always have. A few years ago Napa (College) dropped football completely, but they came back with excellent schedule and a 48-man squad. We'll do the same thing."

Pieper had one last word of praise for his 1960 team. "We started out with a small group of players who had very little, if any high school experience," he said. "Yet last week they outplayed that Napa team with as much spirit as I have ever seen. It's a credit to the team, not the coaches. I'm deeply sorry for this concellation, but I feel responsible for the well-being of the players and I will not expose them to a situation that may hurt them in any way."

IN LAST week's rundown of Marin County boys who made it to the major leagues we omitted one very important one—Tony Freitas, a pitcher who went from Tam High to the Philadelphia Athletics in 1932-33 and later to Cincinnati in 1934. He also spent more than 15 years with Sacramento in the Coast League.

In his rookie year with the Athletics Freitas won his first eight straight games! Among those who called in to chide us for the oversight was Manuel Azevedo and G. T. Wendering, both of Mill Valley and Al Hausle of Kentfield.

THE PROUDEST man in the north bay area this week must have been a Mr. George Davis.

He is the coach of the St. Helena High School football team and he must be popping the buttons on his vest after his players scored an 80-0 victory over Tomales.

Mr. Davis permitted his outstanding halfback Tom Blanchfield to play virtually the entire game, scoring touchdowns in all four quarters so that by the end of the game the busy boy had personally scored 55 points.

It was obvious that Mr. Davis wanted Blanchfield to become the individual scoring champion of northern California. He now has 141 points to his personal credit. Should Blanchfield win the championship, it will be tainted by the downright unsportsmanlike methods used by Coach Davis—and I hesitate identifying him as a "coach."

Milt Castleberry, the Tomales coach, shrugged off the walloping with a "That's their business," but he admitted Davis kept his first string in most of the game. "I suppose he could have substituted more," said Castleberry.

This appears to be one of the most flagrant cases of "pouring it on" we have seen in 14½ years on this job. St. Helena school authorities had better have a talk with Mr. Davis about his ruthless tactics before some outclassed boy on an opposing team is seriously injured.

If Mr. Davis is looking for more setups, we'll try to arrange a game for him against the Dominican Convent.

Marin Trustees Ponder Football Future

The college announced yesterday it was cancelling its last three games of the season due to a shortage of players. Crossed off their schedule were games with the University of Santa Clara, American River College and Shasta College Due to injuries and ineligibility, the college was able to field only 17 able bodied players against their last game with Napa College. Yesterday only 14 players were left and four of them were nursing bruises.

Last night trustee George G. Washburn, over the opposition of the other four board members, proposed the college think about dropping football altogether.

"I have talked to students and they are ashamed of the team," Washburn said. "I suggest we drop football next year if we don't do any better."

"I am wholeheartedly opposed to the idea," trustee Rupert E. Kempf said."

Board Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy also came for retaining the sport and said that although she was sorry to see the games cancelled, she was "proud of the wisdom shown in not sacrificing the minimum team we have simply in order to keep a schedule. I think our coach showed excellent judgment."

Washburn said good football players were coming to the school and refusing to go out for the team.

"It doesn't help the kids' school spirit to cheer for a losing team. We want to attract youngsters from Marin and then we threw out a football team they are ashamed of."

"And because we are going to sit down and discuss the problem doesn't mean we are throwing in the sponge," she added. When we field a championship basketball team, I don't see these diehards packing the gym to support the boys."

Yesterday's decision to cancel the remaining games was announced by Head Coach and Director of Athletics Harry Pieper after a 90-minute conference with Dr. Stephen Epler, director of the college, Paul "Dutch" Clymer, dean of instruction, and Irwin Diamond, dean of students.

Said Pieper: "With only 14 players left, and four of these limping, we didn't have enough to make up a healthy team. We felt the players were vulnerable to further injury and we don't want to expose them to that."

The Tars have lost all six of their games but the last one was close, Napa J.C. taking it 14-12.

"The kids never lacked for spirit," Pieper said. "Although we were down to a mere handful of players, we outgained Napa 358 yards to 237."

Dark Puts Giants Under Microscope

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There's a new field administration for the San Francisco Giants and already Manager Alvin Dark is saying "Let's look at the record."

The Giants' new skipper has plenty of ideas about managing, says he's learned a lot from the six major league managers he's played under but intends to utilize statistics to a large extent.

Dark has already told John Taddeucci, Giants statistician, that he wants a complete statistical report on every Giant on the roster.

Dark's request goes beyond the routine batting, pitching and fielding statistics that are compiled by the league. He wants specifics:

"I want to know how Orlando Cepeda batted against Don Drysdale . . . How Sam Jones did against Eddie Mathews . . . Take if from there. Give me a complete rundown."

He's also got a statistical job for Frank Bowman, the Giants' trainer.

SCALE REPORT

"I want the weight at which everybody reported for spring training this year, and how many pounds he eventually peeled off to reach his playing weight," Dark declared. And he wants to know how long it took each of 'em to do it.

Dark has played under Billy Southworth, Leo Durocher, Fred Hutchinson, Bob Scheffing, Gene Mauch and Charley Dressen — and learned from each of them.

"Southworth had great patience . . . Durocher was quick and alert—in the ball game all the time. . . .Fred Hutchinson knew how to handle pitchers . . . Mauch is something like Durocher, quick and aggressive . . . Dressen's baseball knowledge is astonishing in its depth . . . Bob Scheffing has great patience, especially with youngsters."

But, Dark says, although he hopes to have some of the qualities of each of his former skippers, he doesn't plan to be exactly like any of them.

"As problems arise, I can't say to myself, 'How would Billy Southworth solve this?' or 'What would Leo Durocher do?'"

Dark shakes his head and continues, "I must say, 'Dark this is up to you. Do it your way.'"

It sounds as though Alvin has the mark of a manager already. He's talking to himself.

A COSTLY ERROR

Ref Admits Mistake, Apologizes To Tam

An official in last week's crucial Tamalpais-Redwood High School football game this week apologized to Tam Coach Jim Hanretty for what he admitted was a "big error" in a crucial penalty against Tam.

The official is John Hattala of Napa and he apologized to Tam in the form of a lengthy letter.

Hattala acknowledged that he was wrong on one play when he assessed a 15-yard penalty against Tam on a fourth down punt situation. The yardage was correct, he said, but instead of giving Tam a first down after the penalty, as rules state, he left it at fourth down. Tam eventually lost the game, 13-6.

Here is Hattala's letter to Hanretty:

"Dear Jim:

"This may seem to be an unusual letter to be writing, but I haven't felt right since I got home from your game of Saturday afternoon. I do hope this isn't reminding you of something you would like to forget as George Cammarota told me you felt pretty bad after the game. I thought your kids didn't get any breaks, but honestly I felt the two teams played as well as any I have seen in a long time. It was a pleasure to have had the opportunity to work the game as the kids of both teams were real gentlemen and did want to win as you and Bob (Troppman of Redwood) did.

"I have always felt confident of all my rules interpretations and have felt that my errors were at a minimum. On Saturday you got a tough break on the holding call on the muffed punt by Redwood. Things were a little confused at the time and everyone wanted an explanation which I rightly feel is deserving if the coach or captain desires. When I asked Joe Grove when the holding occurred he stated that it was during the loose ball. The first thing I thought of was the loose ball situations and that meant 15 yards from the previous spot. Redwood had the choice of giving you the ball where it was recovered or 15 yards back of the previous spot (snap). This was about the 50 yard line. After marching off the penalty I made it fourth down again.

"Jim, I was wrong and am sorry as this is a fundamental rule. It should have been first down for you on the 35 and not the fourth down on your own 35. The rule book states—after R has touched a scrimmage kick, regardless of what happens and whether a penalty is accepted or declined a new series will be awarded. It should have been your ball first and 10 on your own 35 yard line. If people are being critical of you for losing this game, I feel that you can tell them my error could have been a reason.

"I am very conscientious of the type of game I work and when I make an error, as I really did, my feelings get pretty low. This is really the first time that I can recall ever making such an important error. I am really sorry. Perhaps there may have been other things missed by the officials, but that was the way it looked to us.

"It's hard to write this to you, but I feel better getting it off my chest. I know it won't help now but it may help to explain that this call could have hurt the outcome in some way.

"Again I say this is an unusual letter, as an official, to be writing. You may feel that I am trying to cover up my error. I am not as no one questioned the decision I made (not even my fellow officials). Jim, you have a right to be critical of this big error.

"Sincerely yours
John Hattala"

Tam-Drake, Novato-S.R. Top Local Grid Slate Tonight

The next to last big weekend in the Marin Athletic League's football schedule starts tonight with two contests on the agenda and continues tomorrow afternoon with another important game scheduled at Kentfield.

Tonight Tamalpais and Drake renew their colorful rivalry at Kentfield, and Novato, which owns the best record in the county but is second to Redwood in league standings, invades the San Rafael stadium. Bothe games start at 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow afternoon Redwood's Giants hope to nail down at least a tie for the league championship and are favored over Marin Catholic. This is a 2 o'clock game at Kentfield.

Tonight's Drake-Tam tussle appears to be a tossup. Although great things were expected of the Pirates, they have dropped two of their three league games while Tam, rated for second division in pre-season forecasts, has won two of three and seems to improve with every game. Tam's lone league loss was a close 6-13 contest to unbeaten Redwood last week.

DRAKE FIRED UP

Drake comes off a 6-25 upset to San Rafael and probably will be fired up to redeem themselves against their southern cousins from Mill Valley. Scott Moriarty at fullback leads the Pirate ground attack while quarterback Sam Johnson is the Pirates' ace passer.

Tam's best runner is Pat Morgan who has averaged about 100 yards gained per game. Last week Redwood became the first opponent to prevent Morgan from scoring.

Over at San Rafael, meanwhile, Novato is favored to improve its 6-1 won-lost record at the expense of the Bulldogs. With their great end, Lu Haas, back for full-time duty after an injury, the Hornets will be tougher than ever. However, this week they lost the services of their other starring end, Ron Grayson, with a broken leg.

San Rafael could upset Novato, an ability they showed last week in the surprisingly easy win over Drake. If quarterback Jack Sovereign is able to pass as sharply as he did last week and if the Bulldog defense keeps up its rugged work, San Rafael will be tough.

Tomorrow afternoon's contest favors Redwood, but the scrappy Marin Catholic team has been tough all season. The passing of John Jones, the all around ability of Jerry Crowe at fullback and the linebacking of Crowe and Tony Giusti have kept Marin in the thick of all its games.

Redwood has never lost a Marin League game and with such stalwarts as tackle Mike Hoffman, quarterback Roger Siemens and halfback Mike Alessio the Giants aren't about to lay down tomorrow.

TV TO COVER HIGH SCHOOL GRID ANTICS

Halftime ceremonies at tonight's Novato vs. San Rafael high school football game on the San Rafael gridiron will be filmed for future showing on television.

The filming will be done by a KGO-TV (Channel 7) crew headed by Jimmy Lederer.

The films will then be shown next Monday night on Channel 7's Shell News show which starts at 6:30 p.m.

KGO-TV officials said the Novato-San Rafael game was selected "because we have been hearing so much this year about the colorful halftime ceremonies which are being presented at Marin high school games. We are told they compare most favorably with college game ceremonies."

All six junior varsity teams will play, too, including Novato at San Rafael and Tam-Drake at Kentfield, both starting tonight at 5:45 o'clock, and Marin Catholic at Redwood this afternoon.

The starting lineups for the varsity games:

REDWOOD—Ends Herbe Schrieber and John Whitney, tackles Mike Hoffman and John Keppel, guards Ralph Wood and John Clum, center Mike Walsh, quarterback Roger Siemens, halfbacks Keith Norton and Mike Alessio, fullback Ned Griffith.

ENTERTAINMENT DOLLAR SCARCE

Cal Saturated With Sports And Promoters Are Worried

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The battle for the entertainment dollar in California is getting serious and some sports officials are starting to wonder if the saturation point has been reached.

"Look at this crowd," wailed Chuck Taylor, assistant athletic director at Stanford as he pointed to the estimated 29,000 fans in the stand for the Stanford-Southern California game last Saturday.

"Ten years ago we would have had 60,000 or 70,000 here — no matter what the team records. There's no doubt about it, the professionals are cutting a big inroad on the entertainment dollar."

The other night UCLA played North Carolina State to an even smaller crowd. California has been playing to groups of 30,000 to 35,000 — against the usual run of 50,000 to 60,000. Washington State College got more money as its share of the gate when it played Arizona State in Tempe, Ariz., than it did playing California at Berkeley.

Cities in Oregon, Washington and Arizona often out-draw Los Angeles and San Francisco for amateur sports. University of Washington plays to capacity houses of 55,000 for its home games.

The cities in other western states haven't had a taste of professional sports. And they don't have as many events to choose from.

L.A. LOADED

Los Angeles now has two major league baseball franchises, two major football franchises, professional basketball, etc. San Francisco has pro football, baseball — and is supposed to get two professional basketball franchises in 1961-62.

"It's going to take real, top-flight promotion to make a buck in the sports entertainment business in the future," said one promotor. "There was a day when all we had to do was open the gates and the fans would pour through the turnstiles. Now they can be choosy.

"I think there's just as much money around as ever, but there are more places to spend it. For instance, this winter there will be a half dozen rich professional golf tournaments in the state —against only two or three big ones in previous years.

"It means that the colleges, to keep up the pace, are going to have to do a bit of promoting to get fans out for their games. So are the professionals.

"The novelty of big league baseball will wear off in another year or so and then Horace Stoneham and Walter O'Malley will have to scratch for the dollar just like the rest of us. I know the giants have just about killed boxing here. And the Dodgers aren't helping the game any in Los Angeles. We can't get any publicity. Professional baseball and football get it all."

If the American Baseball League plays in the Coliseum this coming summer some of the southern newspapers are talking about sitting up a sub-office at the Coliseum. Some of the sports writers will spend all their waking days and nights there. In addition to daily baseball, there'll be the pro football (two leagues), college football (UCLA and USC), rodeos, fireworks, etc.

It would take a rich man to attend everything in just this one stadium.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington's Huskies gun for a victory over the Southern California Trojans Saturday at Los Angeles in a football game that could decide the Rose Bowl race.

Both clubs are 2-0 in the Big Five Conference but, while the Huskies have whipped a top contender in UCLA, the Trojan triumphs have been against Stanford and California.

Recalling last year's 22-15 loss to USC, the only setback suffered by Washington's 1960 Rose Bowl champion club, Coach Jim Owens declared "We'll be up for this game. And we'll be at something more like full strength."

Tackle Barry Bullard, who started in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, was expected back in the Huskie lineup this week. He has been out since the Oct. 1 Navy game with injuries.

USC has lost co-captain Mike McKeever who was operated on this week for a blood clot on the brain, but some say his ordeal will inspire his team.

The West Coast football weekend could again bring its share of surprises. UCLA invades California. Washington State hosts Oregon State. Oregon meets Stanford at Portland. San Jose State plays College of the Pacific in a night game at Stockton and Idaho hosts Arizona.

HUSKIES FAVORED

Should Washington beat USC, and it's favored, the Huskies would have only California still in its path toward the Big Five title and Rose Bowl bid. Should USC win, the later meeting between the Trojans and Uclans could prove the decider.

California's 14-6 upset victory over the single wing Oregon State Beavers raised Berkeley's hopes in the meeting against the favored Bruins of UCLA who also use the single wing system.

To win, the Bears of Cal must stop Bill Kilmer, the Big Five's total offense leader rated one of the best if not the best tailback in UCLA history. On offense, California banks on the passing of sophomore quarterback Randy Gold, a young fellow gaining maturity rapidly in this rugged season.

Oregon State with its great sophomore tailback Terry Baker, the nation's total offense leader, aims to come back against a WSU team that thumped COP and San Jose.

Oregon's speedsters Cleveland Jones and Dave Grayson plus the able quarterback Dave Grosz should prove too much for the Indians of Stanford who have yet to post a 1960 triumph.

San Jose State needs to rebound from last week's 29-6 defeat by Washington State if the Spartans are to beat COP in their traditional rivalry. San Jose fullback Johnny Johnson, who was injured in the WSU game, is expected to play.

Fired Up Bears Set Upset Sights On UCLA Tomorrow

But after the Bears surprised Oregon State 14-6 for their first victory, the complexion underwent a decided change. The Bruins still rate as favorites as off their 3-1-1 record, but the Californians have proven they can stop a single wing team.

Whether they can stop tailback Bill Kilmer, the Uclans' All-America candidate, remains to be seen in this game with its 1:30 p.m. kickoff in Cal's Memorial Stadium.

Also, if the Bruins beat California and Southern California defeats Washington, then UCLA will be right back in the middle of a three-way scrap with USC and the Huskies of Washington for the Big Five crown and Rose Bowl bid.

Many rate Killmer the best tailback in Bruin history, a triple threat senior who leads the Big Five not only in total offense but also in punting.

He has accounted for 923 yards in five games—709 passing and 214 rushing—to go far in the total offense lead and he's averaged 41.2 yards punting.

California's biggest offensive weapon, sophomore quarterback Randy Gold, has 658 yards through the air. As California won its first 1960 contest with the surprise over Oregon State, the Bears also showed some strong running with fullback George Pierovich crashing through the line. Senior halfback Steve Bates leads in rushing with 235 yards and a 4.52 average.

Last week's most spectacular Bruin performance, in a 7-0 victory over powerful North Carolina State, came from senior end Marv Luster. On the touchdown drive he caught four Kilmer passes for 63 yards including a diving catch of the touchdown toss.

In their five games, the Uclans have defeated Pittsburgh, Stanford and North Carolina State, tied Purdue and lost by two points to Washington.

Coach Bill Barnes has plenty of insurance in the tailback post and last week Bobby Smith, who had been seeing mostly defensive duty because of an injured knee, led the team in rushing with 53 net yards on nine carries.

California also had good news this week with the return of halfback Jim Burress, a fellow who can help out both on offense and defense.

Oregon Warned: Beware Of Stanford's Norman

PORTLAND (AP) — Oregon takes its 5-2 record onto the football field here tomorrow against a Stanford team that has been beaten seven times in a row this season.

Newspapers here said Oregon was a two touchdown favorite. However, at Eugene yesterday, Oregon Coach Len Casanova cautioned his players against looking at Stanford's record.

Norman looked sharp in practice at Palo Alto yesterday as he connected repeatedly on passes as Stanford drilled confidently. If he gets 149 more yards he becomes the leading passer in Stanford history. Last season, he led the nation in passing.

As it has done most of the week, Oregon spent much of yesterday's drill on defense, trying to quell freshmen running Stanford plays. The varsity had a reasonable amount of success.

The game will start at 1:30 p.m. A crowd of about 20,000 was expected in Multnomah Stadium. The forecast was for morning fog and afternoon sunshine.

Stanford scheduled on afternoon workout in the stadium after its arrival here today. Earlier at Palo Alto, Stanford Coach Jack Curtice said: "We haven't been able to put everything together this year. Maybe we will Saturday."

Stanford probably will pass frequently. And at fullback, Stanford has a top runner, kicker and pass receiver in Skip Face.

Oregon, too, has a deft passer, quarterback Dave Grosz. With him in the backfield are two fleet little halfbacks, Dave Grayson and Cleveland Jones.

Jones and another halfback, Ben Brown, spent part of the week practicing field goals. Oregon last week was edged 7-6 by Washington.

Stanford will be the second team to bring a winless record into the state in a week. Last Saturday, California came north and upended Oregon State 14-6 for its first triumph of the season.

Qualifying Dates Set For 'Lucky' Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Qualifying will be held Dec. 1at the Lake Merced Club in San Francisco, Del Rio in Modesto and Northridge in Fair Oaks for amateurs seeking to play in the pro-amateur preceding the International Open Golf Tournament here Jan. 25.

Club champions and golfers holding a Northern California Golf Association handicap card of 12 or less are eligible to shoot for the 91 spots available.

Qualifying will be over an 18-hole route. Robert A. Roos, chairman of the pro-amateur committee, said entries must be received here by 5 p.m., Nov. 21.

Games, Owners, Players Et Al Make This A Crazier World Of Sports

CONNOLLY

The more I see of the crazy world of sports the crazier it seems to get. And that goes for the games, the owners, the participants and the writers.

Take the New York Yankees, f'instance. First of all, old Casey Stengel was fired after winning his 10th pennant in 12 years. Owner Dan Topping will tell you that Casey wasn't fired, he just refused to quit!

Next to feel the axe was General Manager George Weiss, the man who is more responsible than any other for the tremendous success of the Yankees for the past 29 years. Topping will tell you that Weiss wasn't fired, he just semi-retired. George doesn't know what his new job is and doesn't have any office hours, but he will be paid.

Yankee mogul Del Webb, whose construction companies have made money faster than a counterfeiter, has a real feud going with the Los Angeles Dodgers because he did not get the contract to build the new stadium in Chavez Ravine. Gossip has it that this is one of the reasons the American League moved into Los Angeles so fast. Spite.

AND NOW comes it the American Football League in general and our friend Eddie Erdelatz in particular.

After the University of California passed up one of the greatest coaches in the country because he didn't have a Phi Beta Kappa key, Eddie was grabbed by the new-born Oakland Raiders on a two-year contract.

Everyone knows what Eddie has done with the team that was picked as the doormat of the new league. No champs are they, but they have won half their games and have looked good doing it.

So what happens? Already the rumors are around that Erdelatz is on his way out because he doesn't like his bosses and because his bosses don't like him. Furthermore, a story out of New York City has it that owner Harry Wismer of the Titans cracked off on the radio during the New York-Oakland game last week blasting Erdelatz as a man who has done the new league no good and should get out of it.

WHAT A pleasure it must have been for Erdelatz to nose out Wismer's team by one point. Wismer has never been noted for tact. Unless he packs a good punch he would be wise to stay away from the husky Raider coach in the near future.

Incidentally, the New York press is almost completely boycotting the AFL games. Seems that none of the reporters care to waste their time at the games. What goes?

CLOSER TO home, the wolves were beginning to nip at the heels of Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers after his poor eastern trip. "His players hate his guts," went the story. When Phil Bengston left the 49ers for Green Bay he was quoted as saying, "I'd rather work for the worst team in the league than serve under Hickey." Now all is roses again.

And the San Francisco Giants? Quote and unquote.

All we can do is wish the best of luck to Eddie Erdelatz and his Raiders against the Boston Patriots this afternoon; to Red Hickey in his game against the Detroit Lions this Sunday at Kezar; and to Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants against terrific odds.

San Rafael Whips Unbeaten Tamites In Cage League

San Rafael, which dumped Marin Catholic 26-9 on Tuesday, thus kept its championship hopes alive. Tam leads the standings with a 10-1 record while San Rafael is 9-2 and Marin Catholic 8-2. Marin Catholic plays Tam next Tuesday in the final big game of the season.

Yesterday Coach Angelo Colombo's defensive-minded Bullpups held Tam to only five points in the first half. Leading the offensive unit was Greg Bailey with 13 points, followed by Tom Massip with 6. Tam's leader was James Bell with 7.

Mrs. Babson Wins Marin Golf Event

Mrs. Aubrey Babson won low gross honors with an 84 and Mrs. Scott Graham was low net winner with 92-21⅞—70⅛ in the Marin Golf Club's two-day ecclectic golf tournament which ended yesterday.

Other results:

Good Hitting Pitcher

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Walker of the Baltimore Orioles, a .169 hitter in 1959, led all major league pitchers in batting with a sizzling .368 average in 1960.

Walker, a switch-hitter, collected 14 hits in 38 times at bat, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Harrison Regains Starting Linebacker Job With 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Middle linebacker Bob Harrison and offensive end Dee Mackey have been named to start Sunday for the San Francisco 49ers in their Kezar Stadium tussle with Detroit.

Harrison was slated to start the season at the key defensive post, but was demoted by Coach Red Hickey, who tried various other players there and finally settled on Ed Henke.

But Harrison has been a standout in recent contests and has earned his first-string slot again. Henke will be used both to back up Harrison and as a defensive end.

Mackey, the team's 24th draft choice from East Texas State, has been battling number one draft choice Monte Stickles for the starting tight end spot. Both are 235-pounders who can block with the best of them and handle short passes besides.

Mackey was given the starting nod once before over Stickles when he opened against the Green Bay Packers. On the first play, he was knocked out while trying to block and had to leave the contest.

The FISHIN' FOOL

I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

Prospects for a mess of fish over the weekend look good from where we sit. Provided, of course, no high winds develop to brand us a false prophet.

After a rather slow week, the Marin side of the San Pablo Bay has come to life. The general size seems to be somewhat smaller than two weeks ago, but still some nice fish have been taken. Off China Camp, California City, Red Rock and Racoon Strait bass fishing has been quite productive. In the area of buoys 5 and 7 skiffs and party boats have been doing very well. The Suisun Bay has produced some very good limits and out of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia Slough, Joe Nerviani told us the last weekend yielded better than 300 fish, with Sunday's catch the better of the two days.

Joe himself went out with two of the regulars, fished about two miles out and were back in the harbor by 12:30 with limits on Tuesday morning. Fish ran to eight pounds and were taken with small hooks (3/0s) and small chunk sardine baits. Joe also reported the taking of five good-sized flounders. Among those who made the grade out of Joe's Launching spot were Roy Mornington and wife, limits to 10 pounds—Joe Mello, a limit of four and five pounders—Al Barsotti, wife and son, three limits to 12 pounds.

WE QUIZZED Nerviani about ducks in his area and learned that the well-known William Cuneo is up to his old tricks—taking limits of bluies every time out, which is almost daily. Joe also mentioned Harry Fankie of San Rafael who collected his legal limit of bluebills on Monday. The local lads are pulling their hair and gnashing their teeth at the influx of flocks of big beautiful canvasbacks which they can't shoot.

WE SPOKE to Game Warden Russ Ild and learned that few, if any, quail have been taken. Ild claimed the local terrain too brushy to do much successful quail hunting, but informed us that some ducks have been taken in Tomales Bay. No dope on halibut, but a few silver salmon have entered the bay; none taken by anglers as yet.

NOT MUCH time left for salmon fishing in the local ocean waters (closes Sunday, Nov. 13) and not much doing at the present writing. But some of the oldtimers speculate that there is still a chance for some fast action.

In Tomales Bay and all points north it will be legal to take salmon after the 13th and, of course, in inside waters the winter season got under way on Nov. 1.

ONE OF the most delectable fish dish is a fillet of flounder. Try using very small hooks and very small pieces of bait and get yourself a mess. Fry the fillets just long enough to brown on each side. They are delicious.

Luis Rodriguez To Fight In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Luis Rodriguez, the NBA's top-ranked welterweight contender, will meet veteran Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland in a 10-round bout here Nov. 28.

Matchmaker Bennie Ford of the San Francisco Boxing Club yesterday announced the bout between Gonsalves and the classy Cuban battler.

Rodriguez is undefeated in professional action since he began to battle for pay in June, 1956. Gonsalves is a ring-wise veteran who has been fighting professionally since 1946.

Rodriguez is already considered to be in line for a title shot with the winner of the Dec. 10 go between champion Bennie Parent and Frederico Thompson.

Raiders, Boston Tilt Rated Even Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—Oakland sends its twin aerial gunners Tom Flores and Babe Parilli to bring down the besieged but revamped Boston Patriots tonight in American Football League action.

Enough of the Boston wounded has recovered that despite the Patriots' three straight losses and the Raiders' earlier 27-14 conquest on the coast, this meeting is rated a tossup.

Flores, who threw two touchdown strikes against Boston before also tossed a pair at New York last week in the 28-27 squeaker over the Titans settled by Larry Barnes' conversion kick.

Boston, loser of three straight capped by last week's 45-16 crushing by Los Angeles, is out of contention for the Eastern Division with a 2-5 record. Oakland is only half a game back of Western Division co-leaders Denver and Los Angeles.

In the latest AFL figures, Oakland has the better offensive record while the Patriots have the edge on defense.

One of the features of the contest will be the return to his collegiate home playing field of ex-Boston University end Gene Prebola. The Oakland receiver has caught 22 passes for 309 yards and two touchdowns, one of them against Boston.

POPE JOHN'S ANNIVERSARY

This is an official Vatican photograph showing Pope John XXIII yesterday on the eve of the second anniversary of his coronation. He is standing in front of his throne, wearing his tiara crown and his most formal robes and he raises his arm in the sign of the blessing. Highlight of the observance today was a pontifical mass in the Sistine Chapel attended by 33 cardinals, many archbishops, bishops and members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican. State Predicts 85 Per Cent Of Voters Going To Polls

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A heavy California vote—85 per cent of the record registration — was forecast today by veteran Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

This is in keeping with the state voters' tradition of flocking to the polls to help decide the presidential race — but of being relatively unexcited about strictly state elections.

If Jordan is right—and usually he doesn't miss by much—the turnout next Tuesday will fall slightly short of the 1952 and 1956 presidential elections.

California came up with a vote of 86.85 per cent—an all-time high—in 1952 and then fell off slightly to 86.56 per cent in 1956. President Eisenhower won both times with pluralities exceeding 600,000.

Ballots are waiting for the 7,464,626 people eligible to have their say not only on the presidential contest but also on 15 state propositions, 30 congressmen, 80 state assemblymen and 20 state senators.

Democrats lead the Republicans in registration by 1,368,922. But both parties are going all-out in their efforts to get out the vote.

Democrats and the California Federation of Labor have teamed to muster a force of 8,000 volunteers in Los Angeles County alone to accommodate the voters.

In Los Angeles and elsewhere, motor pools have been organized. Party workers will look after youngsters while mommy votes. Special phones have been installed to reach voters at home. There'll be sound trucks as well to carry the urgent message: Vote!

Thursday was the final day for absentee ballots to be issued. Preliminary figures indicate the total, in line with the bounding state registration, will reach an unprecedented number.

Berton Boon, editor-publisher of the nudist magazine Sunshine and Health says he wants to know.

Boon said yesterday he wrote to both presidential candidates asking their views on the practice of nudism but received no answer.

America's 250,000 nudists will be disappointed by the lack of response, Boon said.

Revenge Plane Missing On Way To Bomb Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — A stolen airplane, loaded with homemade bombs and piloted by two young adventurers burning with revenge against Fidel Castro, is missing after leaving Florida on Halloween to bomb Havana, the Miami News reported today.

The news said the men were pals of three Americans executed by Castro's firing squads recently. The News printed a photograph of the men arming the bombs. Each bomb bore the name of one of the Americans shot by the firing squads.

The News said in a copyright story that it was not known whether the airplane crashed at sea, fell into Castro's hands, or landed in a remote area of Cuba. The border patrol, which has been looking for the stolen airplane, said this morning it was still missing.

Aboard the airplane, The News said, were man-without-a-country Paul Hughes, 31, and Jay Hunter, 28, a former U.S. Marine. Hughes, whose home is in Atlanta, lost his American citizenship because he fought in Castro's revolutionary air force against former President Fulgencio Batista. Later, Hughes broke with Castro and returned to the United States.

The News said Hunter was a former demolition-explosive expert in the Marine Corps from somewhere in California.

Mill Valley Parents To Mull School Problems Next Week

A group of Mill Valley parents will attend a series of "kaffee klatsches in private homes next week — American Education Week — to discuss school problems. They will hear speakers from the Tamalpais Union High School District and the Mill Valley Elementary District.

Topics to be discussed informally include school programs, quality education, financial problems, teachers, local control of schools, validity of criticisms and other issues.

So great has been the demand for the meetings that they will be extended beyond American education week and continued as long as there are requests, a Tamalpais district spokesman said. More than 40 have been scheduled so far.

Mrs. Arne Anderson of 93 Woodbine Drive, Mill Valley, may be contacted by persons who want to attend or be host to such groups.

HOW TO PAMPER YOUR PELTS

1. DON'T comb or brush furs; shake them out.

3. DON'T put fur near heat. Both fur and leather will become britle.

Fashion Has Never Gone Quite So Fur

Fashion has never gone so fur before.

This winter it will be the rare woman who isn't swathed to the chin in fur, flaunting either precious pelts or the frankly fakes.

For those who invest in the real thing, the choices are staggering in both silhouette and skin.

Foremost among the silhouettes are:

The Cape Coat—with cape fullness in back, cut in one with short sleeves.

Collars range from none to deep cape collars that can be pulled up into hoods, while sleeves are generally short, wider and uncuffed.

In lengths, jackets are coming to the fore, ranging from hipbone to bolero cut just at the waist. Stoles are being replaced by mobile capetlets and global capes.

As for the fur itself, if she doesn't select the still ranking favorite, mink, she might see spots—ocelot, leopard, cheetah or jaguar; or stripes — tiger, civet cat. For the fluffy, bulky look there are oppossum, foxes and Norwegian blue fox.

For the sleek, slimming look, South American otter dyed beige or natural brown; Southwest African Persian lamb, dyed black or in new shades, Alaskan fur seal—and most unusual of all, natural white Southwest African Persian lamb, a rare collection of skins sufficient to make only 10 garments, which one manufacturer is rationing to his key states.

For added glamor and evening wear, mink—natural, both wild and dark, plus all the shades found in the mutation mine the course of democracy sable and fitch, both in garments and in trim.

And don't be surprised to see unusual fur styles in ponchos, dresses, vests—and yes, even dinner trousers.

Cocktail Suit

Fashion long has decked women in the cocktail dress. Now it is giving men the cocktail suit. An Italian manufacturer, Petrocelli, said the suit can "effectively" carry a man through the business day and into the evening."

The suits, called "just this side of black tie," are made in black, gray and olive, worsted or mohair, in both single and double-breasted styles. Edges are finished with narrow braid.

Marin Women

Kickoff Tea Sunday For Homestead Chamber Music

A tea to be held Sunday from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Mill Valley home of Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Schlesinger will be the opening event in a unique chamber music program planned by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club, of which Mrs. Schlesinger is president.

Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt, series chairman, explained that the program consists of a series of three evenings centered around chamber music for the entire family to be held in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

The audience will be seated cabaret style at candlelit tables, and refreshments will be available during intermissions and after the program. The atmosphere should be one of mutual enjoyment and fun for listener and musician alike.

Performers, former members of the San Francisco Little Symphony, will be Raymond Duste, Mary James and Robert Block of San Francisco Symphony, Raymond and Margaret Fabrizio and Helen Stross. They are known for outstanding chamber music concerts given at Nepenthe, Big Sur, and elsewhere.

These artists are dedicated to the promotion of the wealth of Bach to Mozart music, written for just such evenings that originally enjoyed "Royal" patronage in the 18th century. In this venture community patronage will replace the royal, and performance will be in more modest "chambers."

Sunday's tea is for all those who are interested in selling the very inexpensive tickets to the series of three programs planned for the entire family of both children and adults.

Mrs. Goldschmidt is being assisted by Mrs. William Glazier with art work, Mrs. Philip Heyman with publicity and public relations, and Mrs. John Dennis with ticket sales.

Sponsors included, in addition to the Goldschmidts and Schlesingers are Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Adler, Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa and Messrs. and Mesdames Barry Boland, Charles Meacham, Philip Heyman and Gregory McCaughan.

New Looks In Stadium Sweaters

Sweaters were never more popular—and girls who like a custom look in their cardigan or pullover are taking up the fine art of knitting it themselves.

New looks in stadium sweaters, for football or any outdoor activity, include handsome sweater-coats of all lengths to top off skirts or trousers. Bulky demi-coats knit straight down to the thigh in an easy-to-do pattern stitch or a simple stockinette stitch are often topped with their own hoods. Some jackets have shawl-collared necklines that can be overcollartd with raccoon.

The ever-popular pullover now is designed for outdoor wear as well as by-the-fire lounging. The classic pullover goes offbeat in broad horizontal bandings of varied colors.

University Women Hear Discussion On Water Bond

The controversial water bond proposition No. 1 was analyzed for the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women at its recent general meeting in the Mill Valley Community Church Parish Hall.

Mrs. Courtland Mudge and Mrs. James Rubey of the League of Women Voters presented the facts and answered questions. They were introduced by Mrs. Robert E. Eddy.

New members introduced by membership chairman Mrs. Frank Smith were Mesdames C. Bruce Moyer, University of Maine; William T. Broderick, Montana State University; Ross Alexander Smith, University of California; Lloyd A. Clarke, University of Santo Tomas; Charles L. Cutting, De Pauw University; John Lyon Gardiner, Ohio State University; Richard S. Newman, North Central College, University of Minnesota; and Stephen P. Reinertsen, St. Olaf's College.

EVEN THE KINDERGARTEN children are brushing up on Winnie the Pooh characters in anticipation of their parents buying them a copy for Christmas at the Strawberry Point School Book Fair to be held today from 3 to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Reading the story to them is Roxanne Nilan, daughter of Book Fair chairman Mrs. Edwin Nilan. The little listeners are, from left, Lista Britt, Alice Cole, Steven Gallagher and his twin Scott. The painting of Pooh is by Janet Sullivan.

Strawberry Book Fair Opens Today

Winnie the Pooh, Eeyore, Piglet and all their friends will be on hand today at the Strawberry School for the Book Fair from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m. this evening, and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. tomorrow.

The A A. Milne characters have been used on eye-catching posters and flyers as a theme for this year's book fair, emphasizing the fact that the books featured at the fair, like these beloved stories, will appeal to all age levels. Besides a complete selection of Milne books (including brilliant new, oversized coloring book on Pooh), there will be over 300 pre-selected books to appeal to all tastes, ages and pocketbooks.

Chairman Mrs. Edwin Nilan emphasizes the ease of one-stop Christmas shopping at the fair. Purchases cost no more than at a book store, can be paid for either at the fair or when they are received, and will be delivered to the buyer's door well before the last-minute Christmas rush. To make things even easier for shoppers, the book fair committee will be happy to help browsers make the right selections, or order any book in publication even though not on display.

House Builder Is Certain The 'Extras' Are Worth It

He moved into one of the first houses he built in 1957 and found it less than the ultimate in comfort.

But there's nothing wrong with the house that a covered, recessed front door, entrance foyer, larger kitchen and bedrooms, a door between the garage and house, a family room and lower windows wouldn't fix.

Riley accordingly put these extras into the 1960 model homes he's showing in a 532-home subdivision in suburban Arlington Heights. The new homes cost more for the extras, but Riley's sure they're worth the money.

"One of the first things I learned is that it's a nuisance to have to walk through the dining or living room to get to the bathroom when you're coming from outside or the kitchen," he said. "And kids can make an awful fess traipsing through the front rooms to the bathroom with their boots and rubbers on."

A party at his home started him thinking about the advantage of an entrance foyer. Everyone who came in walked directly into the living room and chilled the guests with a blast of cold air.

Riley put a door between house and garage in his new homes because he doesn't like putting on his coat and going around his house to the garage whenever he has to fix something.

The new homes have higher windows because the low windows in his own home stymied furniture arrangements.

He put a large family room beside the kitchen in his new homes to reduce the clutter of the open plan design of his own living room, kitchen and dining area.

Should A Girl Object When Mother Makes Her Clothing

By VIVIAN BROWN

One girl writes:

"I am 17, a high school junior. I am very popular in school, but I must refuse many interesting parties because of my clothes. Every girl in our group wears clothes that are bought. I'm the exception. I wear homemade clothes. I've begged my mother to pool all the money she spends on fabric, to buy just one pretty dress that looks up-to-date, but she thinks this is ridiculous. I would not embarrass any boy by wearing a dance dress she makes for me. Don't you think she should permit me to buy a dress occasionally?"

The idea of wearing a homemade dress may offend you, not the dress. Aren't you more in fear of the attitude of the girls toward your homemade dresses?

Boys never give them a thought. They like girls to look attractive, and dressed in good taste. If your mother's choice of patterns or fabrics can be improved upon, then you can solve the problem by asking to accompany her when she buys them. Dresses that are made at home often are prettier, and especially fit better than those bought in shops. Many girls prefer dresses made by their mothers to those they could purchase.

Are your girl friends snobbish, and do you want to accommodate their pettiness? The proper spirit would be to make a special point of praising every dress made for you.

A letter from a girl wonders whether it is fair to keep "lots of boys on the string":

"The girls who go to my school have steady beaus. I don't. I am 16 and I got out with quite a few boys, all of whom want to go out on this one-boy basis.

My mother has explained the disadvantages of going steady. She feels I will not be able to make a good decision about marriage unless I go out with a great many boys. Do you think it is fair to tell these fellows that I will give some thought to their suggestion of going steady, if I know that I don't plan to? My mother says 'All's fair in love and war. What do you think?"

A good idea would be to avoid discussing the question. Shut off the conversation by telling them you do not think you will be interested in one-boy date arrangements until you are engaged. Any boy should understand that. If he isn't willing to stay in the race, you haven't put your time on the right man anyway.

A letter from an 18-year-old girl has weekend problems:

"I have been invited away for a football weekend at a college about a four-hour trip from my home. Parties will be after the game, and my date wants me to spend the night at the local hotel where other girls who plan to attend the parties will stay. My mother says that I can. My father says no. What do you think? He insists that he would rather pick me up when the last party is over than have me spend the night away from home in a situation such as this."

Your parents must solve this. Your mother must persuade your father.

Lagunitas School Groups Discuss Future Activities

The Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds in the Lagunitas School area opened their fall activities with a recent rummage sale in Woodacre. All groups participated in the sale.

They are using their profits to carry out many interesting and worthwhile projects through the rest of the year. Plans include Golden Jubilee celebration, sewing project, tree planting, Christmas caroling and poppy seed planting.

The Camp Fire Girls, organized this fall and as yet without a name, have for their leader Mrs. F. Van Midde and assistant leader, Mrs. M. E. Umphenour. The group is still growing and to date has the following girls: Sue Bechtel, Mary Lynn Covey, Linda Dawson, Diane Dingman, Maureen Daly, Marie Hayes, Karen Hollman, Sharen Hollman, Shirley Helberg, Elizabeth Haas, Rebecca Kendricks, Sherry Lawson, Carol Ann Mangan, Ginny Lou Smart, Lindy Tarrs, Patty Lou Van Midde, Victoria Wilson and Penny Willets.

Knitted Look

Paris designers loved the knitted look for fall and winter. The house of Christian Dior showed hand-knit sleeves on wool suits. Turtleneck collars looked like knits but actually were the result of a shirring process of the fabric itself. One short coat in mink came with wool knit sleeves—perfect for the woman who already possesses all sorts of mink coats.

'O HONORABLE MASTER, When you last visited the Kasbah, we met, remember?' Mrs. A. C. Horner, right, the Femineers first president, and Mrs. Robert Lawson, left, current secretary, appear amused at the enticing letter to their husbands from Scheherazade bidding them to meet with her at The Femineers annual benefit on Nov. 12.

Arabian Theme Set For Femineers Dance

Final preparations are being made for The Femineers gala "Golden Fleece" dinner dance benefit Nov. 12 at the Jack Tar Hotel.

The theme of "Arabian Nights" will be carried out with table candles in the shape of Aladdin's lamp, an Arabian flying carpet swooping over the dancing couples, and a huge sequin and ribbon silhouette of an Arabian city forming the bandstand backdrop. A wandering swami will predict the future of the men guests, and even Ali Baba himself will appear in a dramatic puff of smoke to announce the award.

A Thieves Den filled with bags of booty will be staffed with costumed "Thieves" selling the wrapped prizes ranging from the ridiculous to the elegant to benefit The Femineers Engineering Scholarship for Bay Area undergraduates of the University of California.

Many Marin members are reserving tables for this annual event. Among these are Mr. and Mrs. Les Graham, Mr. and Mrs. William Keener of Belvedere; Messrs. and Mesdames H. M. Engle and J. J. Gould of Ross; William Brewer of Sausalito, Fred Madigan, Robert Lawson of Mill Valley, William Swain of San Rafael; Messrs. and Mesdames Edward McKeon, A. C. Horner and William Enkeboll of Greenbrae, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nicholson of Corte Madera.

Reservations may still be made by telephoning Mrs. Marvin A. Larson of Redwood City.

Sea Point Parlor Fetes President

On Tuesday evening Sea Point Parlor No. 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West, of Sausalito celebrated the birthday of its organizer and president, Mrs. Sadie M. Oliver, with a pot luck dinner.

After the meeting a birthday cake was served to 22 members and guests from Marinita and Fairfax Parlors.

The evening was a complete surprise to the president, who was the recipient of many gifts. To help celebrate the occasion were two other chapter members, Mrs. Manuel Garcia and her sister, Mrs. Laura Kibbee.

Other guests were supervising district deputy grand president of Marin County Mrs. Frank Faustine of Sea Point Parlor, Mrs. William Faber and Mrs. Albert Ferrari of Marinita and Mrs. Georgiana Gabb, chairman of the history and landmarks committee of Marin.

She has completed the program for the dedication of the "Bird Nest Glen," the site of the residence of "Lord" Charles Snowden Fairfax, Sunday afternoon at 1:15 p.m., where a marker will be placed.

On Nov. 15, after the meeting of the parlor a game party will be held at which time a Hope Chest with many fine articles will be awarded. The public is invited to attend.

St. John's Fair Planned On Dec. 7

"Better than ever" has been the slogan heard at the Tuesday workshops that have been held weekly throughout the past year by the "Episcopal Churchwomen" of St. John's Church, Ross, in anticipation of the traditional "Oldtime Christmas Fair" which will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 7, in the Parish House from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Sponsoring the fair this year, in addition to the St. John's League and the St. Mary's Chapter of the "Episcopal Churchwomen" will be the Altar Guild and the Young People's Fellowship.

Homemade baked foods, jams and jellies, festive foods for the gourmets, Christmas gifts for adults and children, white elephants and costume jewelry will be ready for the patrons. There will also be a silent auction of the "best elephants."

The traditional "ham luncheon" wlil be served as well as "tea."

Cleaning Leather

Cleaning leather in either your wardrobe or the household is made easier with a treated tissue which the makers say wipes away surface soil and many spots. The tissues come in a small foil package.

'MAIS OUI'

French Women As Eager To Stay Young As U.S. Gals

PARIS (UPI) — Are French women as anxious to stay young as American women?

If you look thorugh the current copy of the leading women's magazine in France, the answer is "mais oui," followed by a loud "yes" for good measure.

Exhibit A: an article promising a "forme olympique en bon magique." There are four contraptions which promise this olympic form:

— Two chains which resemble either dog leashes or the kind of clothes lines apartment dwellers string seven stories up. These are to be fixed to your bedroom wall and you pull at them daily, "to straighten your vertebral column." Cost—39 francs.

—For nine francs, there's a little gadget that looks like a small edition of a paint roller. And that's exactly what it does —rolls on the paint. It also facilitates "penetration des cremes." But you use it on your face. As efficient as doing a wall.

—Then there's a marvelous thing which looks like 13 empty spools joined at the top and bottom by two chains. This is supposed to "elasticize important parts" of the body. It's used on the hips in the same way a shoe shine boy uses the cloth when he buffs the boots. No price given.

—Two baseball bats. These are to be swung together, "to give grace to the arms and a lovely carriage to the head." All this for 12 francs, plus taxes. Not tax. Taxes.

If you're interested in any of these items, the line forms on the right at a Champs-Elysees address. But you'll have to allow three weeks for delivery after you pay your francs.

The evidence of mademoiselle's naivete is increased by comparing standards of living. Roughly, a franc means to a Parisienne what a dollar means to a New Yorker or a Californian. For Americans, the exchange is five francs to one dollar, but francs are much harder to earn in France than dollars in America.

All this proves one thing. French women, renowned the world over for their sophistication, are just as easily sold—perhaps a soupcon more so — as their sisters in Boston, Kansas City, or Los Angeles.

Calorie Counter

The latest in waistline watching aids can be tucked into your purse or set on a shelf or desk for easy reference. It's an automatic counter which totals caloric intake in 10's, 100's and 1,000's. Built into the back is a magnified calorie guide to some 300 foods. At the bottom is a saccharin compartment with room for a month's supply. The counter is made of cream-colored plastic, decorated in gold.

Hard sauce for winter's steamed puddings may be flavored with vanilla, lemon, orange or molasses.

Dupuis Can Represent Marin Better Than Miller Has

Marinite Fred G. Dupuis is trying for the second time to defeat Marinite Clement W. Miller for the honor of representing the seven counties of the First Congressional District in Washington, D. C.

Dupuis has been waging an uphill battle. He must counteract not only the 4½ per cent edge by which Miller won in 1958, but overcome an additional 10 per cent which automatically attaches itself to an incumbent candidate.

He has been trying to do this with a strong attack on Miller's record as a spender in Washington, with a warning that continuing tax increases are harming the little taxpayer more than they are the big, and that continued inflation is catastrophic to those with savings and fixed incomes.

Dupuis has good grounds for his attack on Miller. The congressman, who has earned the nickname "Spendin' Clem," voted for practically every spending bill put before him in his two years in the Capitol. He's proud of it. He calls federal spending "an investment in America" and appears to think that it really doesn't cost the local taxpayers anything at all.

Miller seems to feel that every ill can be cured in Washington, that the best way to attack a problem is with a new or an existing federal program. And he says it really won't cost anyone anything because the Democrats are going to increase the gross national product so much that the huge increase in federal spending will be absorbed by the great increase in taxes without increasing the per centage of income each taxpayer will pay.

The way the Democrats propose to increase the gross national product is by spending more federal funds—and that money is 100 per cent tax money.

Miller launched his campaign on the basis of his determination to influence our international policies. What Congressman Miller seems to forget is that he was elected to represent the people of the First Congressional District in our national legislature. He is the only man in the House who is supposed to give a personal gosh darn about what is happening or what can happen to and for Marin County.

Miller's extravagant, big government outlook has not represented the thinking or the feeling of the people of Marin.

We think that Dupuis' "sound economy, stability and responsibility" much more represents the feelings of the people of this county than does Miller's "pie in the sky" approach.

Therefore, we urge you to vote for Fred G. Dupuis for Congress on Tuesday.

Poetry In Dead Leaves

The streets are littered with dead leaves. They blow here and there at the whim of every vagrant breeze. Brown and withered, they are in a way symbolic of life and death.

Omar Khayyam wrote, "The leaves of life keep falling, one by one." He meant this as an exhortation to live life fully.

Other poets of a more religious turn of mind see in dead leaves the ideas that everything dies, but in the spring there is a reawakening.

We find brown leaves quite beautiful from an artistic point of view. Especially those with unusual shapes or prominent networks of intricately designed ribs.

Dead leaves serve an important purpose in Nature, molding and decomposing, they add valuable humas to the soil. This in turn nourishes other plants and is in itself a kind of immortality.

Some Wives Feed Their Husbands Big Breakfasts Every Single Day

So today I'd like to salute my late aunt-in-law, Lucy Gray Crawford, a lady I never saw. But because of her inspiring example I have had more than 8,000 fine breakfasts over the last 23 years.

When I was a bachelor I was rarely ever able to smile at life before noon, because my morning meal consisted of a sack of salted peanuts and a bottle of cola. I thought everybody ate like that.

But the morning after I was married late in 1937 I awoke to find my bride, Frances, was up before me. She was in our tiny kitchen fixing a big breakfast of orange juice, toast, jam, bacon and eggs and steaming tea.

In sickness and in health, she has done this practically every day since.

The other evening at a small dinner party in our home the subject of breakfasts came up.

I was startled when two men, married to nonworking wives, remarked it was their custom to get up first, fix some hot coffee and toast, and bring it to their wives in bed.

"It really isn't much trouble," said one husband.

When I told the two husbands I had been served a daily big hot breakfast—not just skimpy toast and coffee—by my wife for 23 years they looked at me, I thought, with an air of awe tinged with masculine envy.

"Frances insists on doing this," I explained. "I don't beat her with a whip."

Later, after they had gone, I asked my wife where she had learned her old-fashioned sense of marital duty.

"When I was a young girl," she said, "I had an aunt I admired very much for her character and her sense of fun and her femininity.

"AUNT LUCY and Uncle Clem had two children and were the happiest married couple I had ever seen.

"Aunt Lucy had her own theories about marriage. Many times she told me, 'Always get up and cook your husband's breakfast. Show him the face he's working for all day.'

"ANOTHER OF HER theories was that a wife should never sit at the breakfast table with her hair in curlers. 'I don't want my husband to carry that picture of me in his mind,'" she said.

Aunt Lucy spent 50 devoted years with Uncle Clem—and never once did she let him see her with her hair in curlers.

Suppression Of Report Hit

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Every four years the Boy Scouts of America, in cooperation with the Freedoms Foundation of America, do a national good turn of distributing door-knob Liberty Bell get-out-the-vote reminder hangers to every home possible in the United States.

In Marin our Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers under their capable community volunteer leaders enter enthusiastically into this "good turn." Not only do we in Scouting feel that this is the spirit of the "good turn" as exemplified over many years of Scouting in our country, but we also feel that it is good character and citizenship training for growing youngsters, who will be our future leaders and voters.

There have been some instances reported of materials, favoring certain political candidates, being distributed at the same time by school-age children, which in turn has caused interpretation that the Scout movement in Marin has also been distributing specific candidate material at the same time.

This certainly has not been our intent.

There are undoubtedly some cases of over-zealous community members or campaign workers giving a Scout, who was intent on doing his national good turn in Scouting, materials to be distributed; and the boy has done so in good faith. Should this be the case in your neighborhood, we would appreciate knowing about the circumstances.

It is not fitting, nor is it good taste, for the interest of a singular group to use a character and citizenship program such as Scouting, to serve their individual wishes.

On a national and local basis, the policies that govern Scouting activities are set out in the charter as granted by the Congress of the United States. It is the intent of the Marin Council to uphold these policies and maintain the Scouting program so that each boy, and family, may use the program as their own, without being prejudiced politically, spiritually, or racially.

1960 is Scouting's 50th Anniversary in America. It has become a heritage in "growing up," for a boy to enter into a program which he derives personal benefits to the extent of his own interest, talents, and abilities. Each citizen of Marin can help maintain these precepts for boys, by not asking them, in the name of the traditional "Scout good turn" to enter into affairs, whereby their Scouting relationship is jeopardized.

We appreciate the understanding and enthusiastic support of Marin citizens to these traditions of Scouting.

10 YEARS AGO

Getting into and out of San Quentin Prison was to be facilitated—provided you use a barge. The Army Corps of Engineers reported the state had applied for permission to dredge and channel and docking area to make it easier to handle barges with prison consignments.

Following its recent establishment of a Novato branch, San Rafael's First National Bank prepared to open a Tiburon-Belvedere branch for service to "the growing Tiburon-Belvedere area," according to president William P. Murray.

Vittorio Desica is not only Italy's great matinee idol and film director, but an accomplished linguist. He speaks English and French as eloquently as he does Italian, and can rattle off a polite phrase in German and Spanish with facility, too. "English is absolutely required," he explains, "for discussing contracts. I need French to make time with a beautiful girl. As for Italian—that I need mostly these days when I cut myself shaving."

An anthology entitled "Letters to Sons and Daughters" contains this particularly touching note from Robert G. Ingersoll to his daughter on the occasion of her thirty-fourth birthday:

"Dear Eva: Thirty-four years of unbroken kindness, of cloudless sunshine, of perpetual joy, of constant love! Thirty-four years of happy smiles, of loving looks, of gentle words, of generous deeds! My love to one who has grown from a faultless child to be a perfect woman, wife, and mother."

John Fuller suspects that a pro-Yale secretary has been tampering with a New Haven newspaper's stencil for Harvard's distinguished daily. It reads: "The Harvard Crumson." Fuller made another noteworthy discovery in New Haven: a Chinese piano player named Wong Keye.

A boss who gets to the office every morning and opens the mail himself," opines Bill Feather, "has something to conceal."

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

MILLION WAS HIS BUT NOT TO SPEND

A man who inherited more than $1,000,000 died recently at the age of 75 without seeing a single penny of it.

What made it all the more frustrating was that he had just won a difficult, two-year court battle to prove that he was the legitimate heir of the woman who left the money.

Others who devote their best years to the quest for power, pleasure and riches never seem to get their fill of it. Pursue these objectives as they will, they never seem to lay hold on them.

What matters is how well he has developed the eternal power of his heart, mind and soul.

Nearly 1,700 years ago the great Augustine said: "You have created our hearts for Yourself, O God, and they will not rest till they rest in You."

"What does it profit a man, if he gain the whole world, but suffer the loss of his own soul!"

(Matthew 16:26)

Grant, O Lord, that I may keep everything firmly in second place to the knowledge and love of You.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

You Can't Judge The Political Winner By Those School Polls

I am in despair.

From the looks of things, I don't think Calvin Coolidge has a prayer of swinging the upcoming presidential election. Despite the "Keep Cool With Coolidge" sticker on my windshield.

One reason I am sos ure of this is the overwhelming majority that Nixon polled last week in the eighth grade elections at the Adeline E. Kent School.

Exactly what his majority was out of the two classes of 28 and 30, respectively, I am not sure. This is because the kids operated under the electoral college system and, frankly, the way those 527 votes are arrived at in December is beyond me.

I VAGUELY RECALL being told many years ago by one of my teachers—Miss Pittsin, I believe it was, with whom I struggled through the fifth grade—that it was not really the peoples' votes which elected the President, but the electoral college.

At that point I think I left the room for a drink of water. At least, I don't recall having the matter explained to me.

ALMOST WITHOUT exception, Marin's elementary and high schools are holding mock elections, debates, plastering their classrooms with political cartoons, attending campaign gatherings and generally taking part in the election as if they were thinking adults. Which is more than you can say for some adults I know.

One of the schoolteachers with whom I discussed this matter said it was amazing how the youngsters took the opposite side from their parents. That is, if the old man is for Nixon, then Junior leads the panel discussions in favor of Kennedy.

He pointed to this fact with educational pride. It was his belief that the boy had taken the opposite side because he had approached the question with diligence, honesty, clear thinking and analysis.

Obviously, the educator who told me this is childless.

Otherwise, he would know that if, at the last minute, Daddy switches to Kennedy, the chip off the old block will go door to door swinging the tide to the vice president.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS and child psychologists notwithstanding, this is merely a part of growing up. It is not deep, vital, clear, constructive thinking on the part of the kid.

Any normal, healthy boy (or girl) over the age of 13 (I believe that is the turning point) is going to go against his old man at the drop of a hat. He will even drop the hat personally, just to get the show on the road.

I must admit, however, that today's kids know more about politics than I did as a growing boy in Tennessee. I was half-grown before I knew anyone but Democrats ran for public office.

THESE DAYS, what with national TV hookups and the power of the press, word has leaked out to large sections of the country that there are two major political parties.

I've often meant to write and tell the news to my cousin Felicia down in Winchester (Franklin County).

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

EN ROUTE WITH KENNEDY — There is unquestionably an atmosphere of victory in the Kennedy caravan as it moves furiously through the final days of the campaign. You can see it, you can hear it, you can feel it.

This does not prove that he is, for sure, going to win. The senator himself says that he counts it to be "very close." But it does mean that Kennedy, after the longest and hardest campaign in modern politics, has proved himself equal to the best pro the Republicans could offer, Vice President Nixon, and is coming thunderingly down to the day of decision on Nov. 8 touching 17 states in this final week.

KENNEDY HAS COME from behind in this campaign. In the judgment of the majority of those who have covered both sides, he is not behind today. He has overcome his two conspicuous handicaps—his relative youthfulness and the fact that he was not a nationally known figure at the time of his nomination. He has done so well on the television "debates" that he wishes there were more.

I have recently traveled with each of the candidates for several days. Judging by the throngs of people which Kennedy has been attracting in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and from their ecstatic response to his staccato appeal that the U. S. must "get moving," I find that one of the repeated judgments of the Nixon camp is not being borne out.

THE NIXON MANAGERS have been basing their confidence in part on the view that the senator touched his peak 10 days ago and that the Kennedy tide has lately been receding while Nixon's has been rising.

No such evidence is visible to the reporters accompanying the Democratic nominee. Nixon's stock may be rising. I found it was all along his latest forays into Ohio, Michigan, and Illinois. But the other part of the Nixon victory-formula is lacking—that the Kennedy crusade is slowing to a stop, and that his stock is declining.

The signs are the other way. The pace of Kennedy's campaign is not slowing, nor is the audience response fading. It appears to be getting ever stronger.

There is no doubt that as a person Kennedy grips his audiences and evokes an excited reaction, at times even a shrill and strident reaction. His audiences are not merely cordial and receptive; they are clamorously responsive and there is no sign that they are becoming less so.

I DO NOT CONCLUDE that the election is over, that Kennedy is in and Nixon out. What I do conclude is that the senator's campaign, far from grinding to a halt, is racing to the finish line. If Nixon is to win, it will not be because Kennedy's stock is sliding but because his own could be rising faster.

At this win or lose stage in the view of those close to the Democratic candidate, Kennedy's greatest anxiety is not the campaign skill of Nixon, but the unmeasurable influence of President Eisenhower, who is now intervening actively and forcefully for his Vice President.

How many of those several million registered-Democratic voters, whom he persuaded to vote for him in 1952 and 1956, can he persuade to vote for Nixon? There is no way to tell.

High School Football Game Can Be Fun For The Parents Too

Want some fun? Then take your kids to a high school football game. Talk about excitement!!

Watch the cheer leaders. They're perpetual motion personified. They gyrate madly all evening long, leading a horde of screaming maniacs, never getting tired. How do they do it?

Listen to the band. Each musician has been practicing on his instrument for years, and the group has spent long hours rehearsing. Watch their intricate maneuvers; the band is a masterpiece of human cooperation. Look at the members' faces. They're having the time of their lives. You'll envy them.

The game matters most, of course. I have my reservations about football, and have printed them in detail. But I know that many boys learn important lessons in this game. They learn to work hard, to subordinate themselves. They learn to restrain their anger and to lose as well as win. Football demonstrates our teenagers' advancing maturity.

Watch a game, and you'll see.

When the game ends take your kids to a drive-in restaurant. Pick a good one, for some drive-ins are centers for hoodlums and should be avoided. Get your children their shakes and hamburgers and eat something yourself. You'll go home refreshed. You'll feel your years, but you'll be happy.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Would it be possible to substitute a less dangerous sport for football?"

H. M. T.

(A) Physical education specialists have been looking for such a game. They've tried soccer, for example, but it didn't catch on. They've tried modified football and that didn't go over. The regular game of tackle football is by far our most popular American sport.

Group Discusses Marin Pleasure Boating Directory

Four representatives of the boating industry in Marin County showed up for a luncheon meeting with San Rafael Chamber of Commerce officials in Corte Madera yesterday.

Under discussion was a proposed boating directory labeling Marin the "Pleasure Boating Center for the Bay Area."

A preliminary 12-page blue, black and white brochure has been prepared by the Graphic Arts Assn. of Sausalito. Chamber President Burton Kirchner said 10,000 copies would cost about $900. Yesterday's meeting was called by the chamber to acquaint the 60 businesses in Marin's boating industry with the brochure.

The group attending suggested expanding the directory to include real estate agents, marine insurance and financing agencies, yacht clothing and paint stores, etc. Chamber manager Richard L. Shirley said he would canvass the suggested businesses.

PORTLAND'S PREPARED FOR DISASTER

Portland, Ore., has completed a civil defense emergency center, buried 10 to 30 feet deep in a hillside, designed to prevent breakdown of government and communications after a nuclear attack or other disaster. It has its own power and water supply and enough stored food to support 250 emergency workers for two weeks. Above is shown the center's map room.

Nevada Sees Record Vote

RENO (AP)—A record election vote is expected from Nevadans Tuesday, despite a lack of major state contests.

There are more Nevadans in this presidential year.

Also at stake is the lone congressional seat sought by two of the oldest pros still in Nevada politics and a chance for Democratic control of the state senate for the first time in 20 years.

Both parties and Secretary of State John Koontz figure 80 per cent of the 129,000 registered voters will cast ballots, topping the 1956 record of 96,000 votes.

Napa Journal Says Thirty

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tibbitts, owners, said the Journal name has been transferred to the Napa Register, the city's only daily newspaper, and expressed hope the name of the 105-year-old Journal would live on.

The Register said it has not decided whether the Journal would be continued as a weekly or whether the name would be added to the Register's masthead.

Missile Destroyer Contract Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy yesterday awarded a $29,190,000 contract to the Todd Shipyards Corp., Seattle, for the construction of two guided missile destroyers.

The vessels will be armed with Tartar surface-to-air missiles, anti-submarine rockets and torpedoes and five-inch guns.

Gov. Brown Wants Hospital Agency

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown plans to ask the 1961 legislature for money to set up a new state agency to help plan location of new hospitals.

He told the American Public Health Assn. yesterday that one estimate predicts better planning of hospitals to avoid duplication and gaps of service could save a billion dollars in the next 15 years.

Drunken Driver Draws Fine Of $158

Ronald E. Frauenhoff, 28, of San Francisco must pay a $158 fine and remain on six months probation for drunken driving.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal. Frauenhoff was arrested on Highway 101 Tuesday. His driver's license was also expired.

FIRST OFFERING OF RENOWN ESTATE APPROX. 4 ACRES DOMINICAN CONVENT
A page from out of the past with all its dignity and elegance. It's heritage for gracious living. Yet, marvelously adaptable for the ultimate in living today and for generations to come. It is light and sunny, not a dark corner to be found; has a warm, welcoming, lived-in atmosphere. Replacement cost on the construction alone would be astronomical. First floor contains a modern, huge kitchen and butler's pantry. The magnificence of the dining room, redwood and mahogany paneled and the specially designed ceiling must be seen. One enters the foyer into a living room and library separated by an enormous fireplace; the solarium is beyond. There are 5 bedroom suites, each with an ultra modern full tiled bath. On an upper story, there are 3 more bedrooms and 3 baths for domestic help, a billiard room and additional attic and storage space . . . an elevator shaft on each floor. Garages for 5 cars with living quarters above. The grounds include 6 lovely parcels which are recorded as such. More may be created without sacrificing either the setting or privacy of the manor. Maps and plans are at this office and will be shown by appointment. Phone, it will be our pleasure to arrange.

State Workers Claim Millions In Pay Lost

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Personnel Board was told yesterday that state employees have lost 35 million dollars in income since 1958 because of delays in bringing their salaries up to private industry standards.

Wilmer Morse, special counsel for the California State Employees Assn., asked the board to delay a recommendation on state pay raises this year until the spring survey is completed in March.

Morse, reviewing recent salary actions by the Legislature, said rejection of a proposed 3 per cent pay raise in 1958 cost state workers $19,760,348.

They lost another $15,798,334 last year when the lawmakers trimmed the board's proposed 7½ per cent raise down to 5 per cent, he said.

"The morale and attitudes of employees are adversely affected by such sustained salary inferiority," Morse told the personnel board.

New Hub School Board Member Will Be Named

A new member of the San Anselmo School District Board will be named prior to Monday "if at all possible," County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said today.

Seven candidates for the post were discussed Wednesday night by Hollis and the district trustees. Three of these will be interviewed by Hollis, he said, before a final selection is made.

"We were highly gratified that seven persons of such high caliber have indicated their willingness to serve as trustee," Hollis said.

Because of meeting schedules of the county board and the district board, the new trustee must be selected immediately to prevent his or her missing at least two months of meetings, Hollis said.

The county school board meets at 8 p.m. Monday.

Adlai Says Medics Hold Peace Key

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Knowledge and techniques possessed by American doctors have the power to win the cold war for freedom and peace as decisively as the atomic bomb ended the hot war 15 years ago, says Adlai E. Stevenson.

The former Illinois governor and the 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential candidate last night suggested exporting more doctors and health workers abroad, at an American Public Health Association convention here.

Hub Pair's Son To Aid Dr. Dooley

Sam W. Morris, son of Mrs. Lon C. Watson of 27 Cypress Avenue, San Anselmo, will start by air for Cambodia early next week to join Medico, a medical group started by Dr. Tom Dooley and engaged in hospital building and operation in Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam.

Morris formerly lived in Marin County and graduated from Tamalpais High School, attending the College of Marin before going to the University of California. He has been working for Bechtel and Co. in San Francisco for several years and was married last May but Mrs. Morris will remain in San Francisco for the time being.

During the war Morris served as surgical technician and medical corpsman in the Air Force, giving a basis of experience for the work he plans in the Far East.

Matzen Means Maturity

MATZEN ON OLD-AGE MEDICAL CARE—I am tired of seeing people "kicked out" of group insurance plans when they retire — just when their need is greatest. It is wrong to place all the blame on doctors or medical associations. The blame belongs to all of us. California must lead the way toward a pre-paid plan with the features of Social Security, affording adequate care with free choice of doctor and hospital

MATZEN ON THE FARM LABOR PROBLEM—Both sides of this vital controversy must meet together without bitterness. We must establish machinery that would resolve the differences between the farmer and his workers while preventing the waste of perishable foodstuffs—thus protecting the farmer, the worker, AND the consumer. "Ground rules" should be established guaranteeing no work stoppage during harvest.

FLUORIDIZATION

"The Crime of the Century"

By J. A. Campbell

Research and Development Engineer

Fluoridization of entire water systems is the biggest piece of skulduggery ever put over on the American people!

In order to fully comprehend the enormity of this crime, it is necessary to go back in time about 18 years to the little city of Hereford, County seat of Deaf Smith County, in the state of Texas. A dentist by the name of George Heard moved into the town and set up an office and started practicing his profession. He was amazed at the kind of teeth that all the people had. They were all badly mottled with spots in the enamel that could not be cleaned off even with emery. They were actually incorporated in the enamel. He was very much impressed with the fact that the children had very few cavities and that all the teeth were extremely hard and difficult to drill. He decided that there must be some factor in the locality that was responsible for this condition.

Having an inquiring mind, he did some research and called in some other researchers. They had an analysis made of the local water and found that it contained around 2 parts of calcium fluoride per million. In their research they found that there were other localities which had in their water supply the same chemical, calcium fluoride, and the people drinking this water showed the same dental characteristics.

Dr. Heard was so much impressed with what he had learned that he wrote an article for the American Dental Society's Journal outlining what he had found out. The publishers of Life magazine saw this article and immediately sensed that here was wonderful material for a feature story with pictures that would be of great interest to the American people. Life sent a reporter and a photographer down to Hereford. The reporter interviewed Dr. Heard and a lot of the townspeople and the photographer took pictures and Life put out a very interesting spread as they are certainly capable of doing. It was well brought out in this article that the mysterious agent that was responsible was calcium fluoride. It stated in great length how this wonderful chemical occurring naturally in the local water gave the children secondary teeth with very few cavities.

This article was read by some of the officials of the aluminum companies. Now, these companies have a waste product from the manufacture of aluminum that is largely sodium fluoride, but sodium fluoride is a deadly poison. They had been selling about ½ of one per cent of what they produced as rat poison and insecticides. Disposing of the rest of this waste proved an almost unsolvable problem. They could not dump it in the ocean because it killed the fish for miles around. They could not dump it in the rivers because people and cattle drink river water and it would kill both. They could not dump it on the ground or bury it in the ground because it poisoned the ground water. If they put it into steel tanks it was so highly corrosive that it ate through the steel and spilled out on the ground and concrete storage tanks were very expensive for storing a product for which there was no sale.

What was badly needed was some inexpensive way of getting rid of this foul stuff or better yet selling it at a profit. After all, it was a fluoride and that stuff down in Texas was a fluoride and wouldn't it have the same beneficial effects on the childrens' teeth?

So the aluminum companies started a campaign to sell this foul stuff to the cities and the water companies to dump into their water systems. But the American people just didn't seem to like the idea of rat poison in their water. It was necessary to do something drastic to change the attitude of the public.

The next move was to maneuver Oscar Ewing, who was Chief Council of the Aluminum Company of America at a salary of $70,000 a year, into the position of Security Director which put him at the head of the United States Public Health Service, at a salary of only $17,000 a year. We don't know what leverage he used but it must have been pretty powerful. He soon had the full backing of the Public Health Service and they got the foul stuff in the entire water supply of Washington, D.C.

But the racketeers, in order to really sell this nefarious scheme to the public, needed the services of some large group in which the American people had confidence, so what better group than the dentists?

The American Dental Association has a very strong hold on all its members, so in order to get the American Dental Association back of it they were offered strong inducements. These included generous dental scholarships, heavy endowments to dental colleges and well equipped laboratories, but there were strings to all this. The A.D.A. must strongly support fluoridization.

In all my work I use the term fluoridization. The word the racketeers and their henchmen use is fluoridation. This latter is a perfectly good geological term describing the state of rocks which have been impregnated by fluorine or some fluorine compound making them fluorescent under ultra-violet rays. So the racketeers purloined this word so that they could confuse the people because it was so much like chlorination. If you could put fluorine into water, which you can't, the term would be fluorination, but since you put a fluoride in the water, the correct word is fluoridization and the verb is fluoridize, not fluoridate. The racketeers do do not like that "die" sound in fluoridization.

It would be wonderful to get the doctors back of this scheme also, but they could never get the A.M.A. to fully endorse it. Many intelligent doctors strongly oppose it and the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons, with a membership of 15,000, in 1958 in convention in San Francisco, passed a resolution strongly condemning it and had copies sent to the President of the United States and to all members of Congress, and the governors of the various states and the mayors of our principal cities.

The U.S. Public Health Service started spending huge sums of taxpayers' money propogandizing this scheme all over the country. Even today the U.S.P.H.S. is spending $16,000,000 of our money each year to ship out this foul stuff to every location all over the world where U.S. troops are stationed and put it in their drinking water. This, even in spite of the fact that the most rabid proponents of fluoridization state that it does not benefit anyone over 12 years of age. Certainly we do not have 12 year olds in our armed services; at least, not yet.

This waste is typical. It is not the good it will supposedly do the children's teeth, but the huge waste occasioned by putting it in the entire water supply in which they are interested.

Economically this scheme is absolutely irrational and indefensible. It is so ridiculous that ridicule is a very effective means of fighting it. You would certainly reprimand or spank your child if he bought two bottles of pop and drank one and poured the other out on the ground, yet they are asking us to buy and waste 600 times as much rat poison all of us could drink. How silly do they think we are?

What would you think of a doctor who told you to buy 600 bottles of medicine, put a drop from one bottle in each glass of water you drank and pour the other 599 bottles down the drain? It is just that silly.

Do you know of any other medicine besides rat poison that your doctor will tell you to take with every drink of water? Of course you don't. The whole science of medicine is predicated on prescribed dosages. The consumption of water varies greatly with various individuals. Occupation causes a great variance. The average person drinks one quart of water per day. Welders, steel workers and laundry workers will drink as much as 2 gallons a day. Some diabetics drink as much as four gallons a day. The racketeers have set the proportion as one part of rat poison per million parts of water. That is just as high as they dare put it so as not to quickly poison people, but to waste as much as possible. In fact that is so high that 10% to 20% of the children drinking it will develop fluorosis which is that unsightly mottling of the teeth.

The U.S.P.H.S. admits this percentage but says that is not bad "considering the great benefits to be obtained." Suppose that that one is your beautiful daughter or your handsome son or even you, yourself? However, if the concentration gets up to 1.2 parts per million, one in five is a victim of fluorosis and when it gets up to 2 parts per million, practically everybody has it.

What about the person who drinks 2 gallons of water a day containing this cumulative poison? He is getting eight times as much rat poison as he is supposed to get and since it is a cumulative poison it is building up in his system eight times as fast as if he drank only the one quart average per day.

This hoax could never have been put over on the people 50 years ago because when I was a young man, anyone not having had two years of chemistry was not considered educated. Now, not one in 20 of our young people take chemistry. I use the word "take" advisedly. Now, under this fool system of "progressive" education, the young people can select the subjects they wish to take. Chemistry is too much like work, so they take basket making, fancy rope skipping and tumbling and get credits for these "subjects."

When I was working in Long Beach, California, in 1957, blasting this racket from a loud speaker on my car, some boys on their way to high school started razzing me. I stopped my car and asked, "Any of you boys study chemistry?"

"Yes, I do," one of them replied.

"Then," I said, "you know what sodium fluoride is."

"Sure," he replied, "it's common salt."

"Son," I said, "you may be 'taking' chemistry, but you are certainly not studying it."

The racketeers and their henchmen are taking advantage of this lack of knowledge of rudimentary chemistry in trying to perpetrate this fraud on the populace.

One of the saddest commentaries on our modern educational system is that the National Parent Teachers' Association has been suckered into sponsoring this racket. Even though very few of our present day grade and high school teachers have ever "taken" chemistry, at least they should know Americanism. Surely they have studied history and civil government and know that our government is a republic. In a republic, as in a democracy, the majority rules, but the distinction lies in the fact that in the republic the rights of the minority are respected and protected. In this country we have great freedoms but we must protect them or we will lose them. One of these great freedoms is freedom of choice. Those who choose to drink hard liquor can do so. Those who don't care to don't have to. There are millions who want pure, unadulterated water with no "medicine" in it. Is it the American way to force them to drink this water with "medicine" in it? Is it the American way to force them to drink this water with "medicine" in the form of rat poison in it? There are a vast number of P.T.A. members who will not follow the dictates of their officers and vote for this mass medication, just for this reason. There are other vast numbers who are open-minded and have listened to the sound and logical arguments against this practice and P.T.A or no P.T.A., they want no part of it.

Just because there are a lot of important sounding organizations back of a measure, it doesn't necessarily mean that it will carry at the polls. Many officers will sign up their organizations without polling the membership.

In Long Beach, California, the racketeers and their henchmen had been working on the City Council for six years trying to get them to put it in without a vote of the people, but the council wouldn't do it. So they lined up the dentists and most of the doctors and the P.T.A., a lot of service clubs, church groups, sorority groups, labor groups and just about every organization in town and set the election just six weeks ahead. They listed in the local paper 78 different organizations for fluoridization in one column and in the other column the one lone committee against fluoridization. They thought they really had it in the bag because we had so little time to get organized, but we worked fast and furiously and brought the truth to the people and they killed it deader than a poisoned rat, and that is pretty dead.

No, you don't have to worry about the organizations because most of them are very poorly organized. Get the truth to the people and the people will handle it very nicely.

I have nothing against the P.T.A. membership, but I think the officers need to be waked up and shown just how badly they have been duped. But how can we do this when they will not attend the meetings of the opposition and listen with open minds to the truth?

Recently I spoke at a mass meeting in Oakland, California, in which I very thoroughly went into the whole origin of this racket. I explained the chemistry in layman's language and went very thoroughly into the economics of the thing, showing that for $640 a year they could buy enough chemically pure sodium fluoride at $10.00 per pound, all that each child between the ages of 4 and 12 years would require for a year's supply, so why waste $400,000 putting it in all the water? The top officers of the P.T.A. were invited to attend this meeting, but they declined. They said they were committed to vote for it and it would be useless to attend. We have a right to expect our leaders to be open-minded, to get all the information on both sides of every subject that concerns them. Possibly that is asking too much.

If your organization has committed you to vote a certain way on a certain controversial measure, you are morally obligated to seek the truth and vote as your conscience dictates; that is the American way and that is what the average intelligent American will do if he has an opportunity to learn the truth, and it is the obligation of those who know the truth to spread it, so that we may preserve our American heritage.

One thing that should convince the American people that fluoridization is a racket is that you never see an article written by a dentist urging people to get the tablets and put them in their childrens' water or to buy the bottled water with the proper amount already in it. They are so insistent around election time that the children must have this wonderful benefit to their teeth put into the entire water supply. A poll taken three years ago showed that less than one per cent of the dentists in areas where it was not in the water were giving it to their own children. This shows that it is the tremendous waste in which they are interested.

The "Promoters" have a regular formula they adhere to in subjugating a community. First, they try to get the officials to put it in without a vote. If they are not successful in doing that they take pictures of the most horrible looking teeth they can find and start working on the groups and organizations. The dentists are so dominated by the A.D.A. that they have to support it.

Then, of course, they can depend on the P.T.A. Dr. Bull, of the U.S.P.H.S. told the employees in convention, "Let me tell you the P.T.A. is a honey when it comes to fluoridation. Give them all you have got."

He also told them, "Now in regard to toxicity—I notice that Dr. Bain used the term 'adding sodium fluoride.' We never do that, that is rat poison. You add fluorides."

Next, they get the local dentists and doctors to write letters which are published in the paper in which they enumerate all the fine organizations for fluoridization and state that those few against it are ill-informed, cranks and crack-pots. They say nobody objects to chlorination so why object to fluoridization? Chlorination is necessary. When you put chlorine in the water you treat the water, not the people. It is done to kill dangerous bacteria, especially typhoid. In Long Beach, California, 18 parts per million of chlorine is put in the water. This immediately kills the bacteria and then the water is aerated and exposed to sunlight and when it leaves the treating plant you can't detect by odor or taste the slightest evidence of chlorine. It is all dissipated.

Then, they claim that the "fluoride" will stop so many cavities that the dentists, those great humanitarians, will lose a lot of their business.

When the A.F.L. and the C.I.O. advocate "right to work" laws and the carpenters advise people to build their homes of concrete and the plumbers put out do-it-yourself instructions, I will believe that the dentists are great humanitarians. In Long Beach they stated in the papers that if the measure for which they were working so hard carried, they would lose 15% of their business. If they can figure this closely I think they are in the wrong business. They should be in the stock market. The people of Long Beach evidently didn't think they should make such a great sacrifice so they killed the racket.

They started a campaign in Riverside and had all the photographs of the bad teeth, but it backfired on them when somebody had the good common sense to have the Riverside water analyzed and it showed more natural fluoride than they intended to put in, in the form of rat poison. So the whole campaign blew up.

Of course, there is a small quantity of natural calcium fluoride in most of the water in this country. The Long Beach water supply contains 3/10 of one part per million of this natural calcium fluoride. What they proposed to do was to add .7 of one part per million of rat poison sodium fluoride to this to bring it up to one part per million. They called this "supplementing the fluorides already in the water." Notice the plural, fluorides. Well, you can supplement natural nonpoisonous calcium fluoride with rat poison sodium fluoride about as well as you can supplement whiskey with sulphuric acid or sugar with arsenic. Sodium fluoride is a horse of altogether different colored feathers from calcium fluoride. Both are horse feathers as far as providing any permanent benefit to the children's teeth. If your community can raise the money to put rat poison in your drinking water, you can spend this money to far greater advantage in removing the smaller proportion of natural calcium fluoride from your water.

Now, let's get into a little of the chemistry and biology involved, using the language of the layman. Sodium fluoride is a compound of sodium and fluorine. Sodium is one of the elements and is a very unstable metal. Fluorine, also an element, is one of the halogens. It is a gas and is the mad-dog of all the elements. It attacks practically everything and combines with more elements than any other known element. When these two elements combine to form sodium fluoride, the compound is one of the most deadly poisons known to man. Only 400 parts per million in water is a lethal dose. When taken into the human system, ingested as it is called, only a part of it is excreted. As more is taken in, it builds up in the system just as your savings build up in the bank if you put in more than you take out. It is like arsenic and cyanide. These are known as cumulative poisons.

Though calcium fluoride, which is nonpoisonous, is quite different in most respects from sodium fluoride, each contains fluorine which has the property of precipitating calcium. So either of these chemicals, when ingested will attack the bones and make them brittle. The incidence of broken bones in people, cattle and horses is much higher in areas having one part per million or better in the water. Also there is more arthritis because the calcium is precipitated and deposited in the joints and in the cartilage. Sodium fluoride builds up in every organ of the body and in the blood. It impairs the functions of the spleen, the liver, the kidneys and attacks the enamel of the teeth, causing a disease known as fluorosis, characterized by mottled teeth which reveal the first stages of fluorine poisoning. But what it affects most seriously is the brain.

A study made at the University of Wisconsin of the water all over the state of Illinois showed that in communities having one or better than one part per million, the number of idiots born was over twice the proportion as in districts having 0 to .2 parts per million. These tests also revealed that the percentage of idiots born was greater for older women and this was attributed to the fact that there was a greater accumulation of poison in their blood, due to longer accumulation and this more poisonous blood went into the foetus.

I had read in literature that the city of Grand Rapids, Michigan had a death rate 30% higher than the state average. Now, Grand Rapids was the second city in the country to fluoridize its water. The article went on to state that the death rate from diabetes was 47% higher, heart trouble 50% higher and mental diseases 80% higher. These figures startled me. Now here was something really condemning, if true. When I quote figures or make statements, I want to be sure they are accurate. So I wrote the City Health Department of Grand Rapids, quoted the above figures and asked if they were correct. I also asked, if they were correct, had it not occurred to the Health Department that it might be due to the fact that the populace was drinking a deadly poison in its water. They answered my letter, but not my questions as to the accuracy of the figures, so now I know they are correct. They wrote over a page in trying to convert me to the benefits of fluoridization and said the reason the death rate was so high was because there were so many old people in the city. In the very next paragraph they stated that they had asked the state for an appropriation of $50,000 to find out why the death rate was so high. Consistency, thou art a virtue.

The U.S.P.H.S. brags about how many people are now drinking fluoridized water. If they told the truth they would state that 94% of the communities that have it, had it slipped over on them without a vote of the people. When it comes to an election it has never carried in a community where there was live, intelligent opposition. In the past year where elections have been held, it has been defeated nine times out of ten.

The P.H.S. officials say, "Don't let it come to an election, because clever well-thought-up opposition will defeat you." The racketeers are trying desperately to get a toe-hold in Southern California where not one community is fluoridized. They had it in San Diego for two years, but the people arose and threw it out. Since they lost so decisively in Long Beach, where they thought they had it in the bag, they have desperately worked on several smaller communities trying to sneak it in, but public officials are wary and are afraid to take a chance because of liability under the civil code, the section relating to responsibility of public officials. The public is rapidly learning of this skulduggery and wants no part of it.

Secretary Flemming of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (what a name for a department that has teamed up with the racketeers to put rat poison in the drinking water all over the country) now admits that fluoridization is rapidly losing out.

Dentists refuse to debate the subject publicly with people who are well-informed on the economics, chemistry, biology, physiology and the corrosive aspects of the case. You can't debate against truth. I recently spent 3 days in the East Bay Municipal Utilities District of which Oakland, California is the principal city. My trip was arranged a month ahead and the East Bay Committee Against Fluoridization tried all that time to find a dentist or a Health Officer to debate the issue with me, but could find no takers.

Twice during the Long Beach Campaign I debated the issue with dentists who read their speeches. When the rebuttal started they were sunk. They had nothing written out for them and they were lost. One of them ducked out before the rebuttal was completed. After that they agreed to debate four different times, then failed to show up, thereby depriving me of the right to speak. That was part of their strategy.

The California State Department of Health recently, because they were losing so many battles and because the opposition was calling sodium fluoride rat poison all the time, which it is, changed their strategy and started talking about fluorine. Now, the only way you can get fluorine in water is in the form of a fluoride, because flourine will decompose water at even ambient temperatures. Much of it will bubble right through, escaping into the atmosphere as a very dangerous gas. This did not seem to go over so well so then they started deliberately lying to the people, stating that the fluoride that was added to the water was the same as occurred in nature.

I wrote to the head of the California State Department of Health and asked him how he could deliberately lie to the people by stating that rat poison, sodium fluoride, was the same as nature's non-poisonous calcium fluoride. He answered this by stating that the fluorine ion in calcium fluoride was identical with the fluorine ion in sodium fluoride. This statement is just as fatuous as stating that a Volkswagen is identical with a Chrysler Imperial because they both are equipped with Firestone tires. This is an attempt to drag in electrolytic chemistry to further confuse the public. Ordinary water is a weak electrolyte and we are no more concerned with cations and anions than we are with captions and onions. Anyway the fluorine ion is poisonous, but it is the molecule and not the ion that does the dirty work.

Another serious objection to having this foul stuff in the whole water system is the fact that it is highly corrosive and eats out the water mains, laterals, valves and house piping very rapidly even in concentrations of only one part per million. I recently completed a six months' test using two sections of steel pipe, one immersed in a well-known brand of bottled water, the other in the same water with only 8/10 of one part per million of sodium fluoride in it. That was the content stated on the cap of the bottle. To be sure, I had this fluoridized water analyzed and it was as stated. Both containers were covered so there was little evaporation. I added less than ¼ pint of water over the 6 months' period in kind to each container. These steel sections weighed exactly the same when immersed. At the end of six months they were removed and allowed to dry. The next move was to wire brush all the rust and incrustations off the sections, letting it drop into the water of its respective container. These were violently stirred and the water poured into bottles which were taken to a well-known firm of analytical chemists with instructions to analyze for iron content. The fluoridized sample showed one and 57/100 times as much iron as the non-fluoridized sample. The section immersed in the fluoridized water weighed appreciably less than the other and showed to a much greater extent the effects of rust and pitting. What do you think the effect of rust and pitting would have been, had a continuous supply of this poisonous water been forced through this section of pipe?

This is one reason why so many cities that have put rat poison in their water systems have thrown it out. Maintenance costs skyrocketed. Many cities have tried it for two years. At the end of that time the expensive equipment for getting it into the water was so badly eaten up it was dangerous to continue. So rather than buy all new equipment they threw it "out the window."

One reason why it is highly objectionable to dump this waste product in a water system is that it contains so many other impurities and at least one other cumulative poison, namely arsenic. It contains carbon from the wasted-away electrodes and silicon and many other components that are not soluble in water and which build up as a sludge in the whole system.

Concord, New Hampshire had the foul stuff in its water for seven years. Before putting it in they had made a practice of flushing out their water mains every six months through the fire hydrants. After putting the stuff in, the mains became so obstructed with this sludge that it was necessary to flush them out every six weeks. They caught some of this sludge and had it analyzed and it showed 8,000 parts per million of sodium fluoride. Now, only 400 parts is a lethal dose. Needless to say, they put a stop to fluoridization.

Another strong argument against it is that the general public is getting so disturbed over this vicious racket that I seriously believe that within three years it will be legislated out by Congress. Then what happens to all your expensive equipment? Sold for junk; poisonous junk at that.

— — — — — — — — — —

Eminent scientists have stated that anyone drinking water with sodium fluoride in it in a concentration of one part per million over a period of one year will never be the same again physically or mentally.

That statement alone should make people pause and do some really serious thinking. Can we afford to take a chance?

It is certainly unfair to say the least, to force all the people to drink this poison. Some people are much more allergic to it than others as is evidenced by the fact that even with 1 part per million they develop fluorosis. I had a man working for me who breathed a minimal amount of the dust. He was in a hospital for three months and was away from work for 1½ years. Even when convalescing he was so weak he could not walk a block without resting.

We have records of one case in a city that was fluoridized who broke out in a rash when she took a bath in the foul stuff. She has to buy distilled water at 60 cents a bottle in which to wash and bathe. Few people can afford that.

One of the first things a doctor does with a heart patient is put him on a sodium-free diet. Yet some doctors sponsor this sodium fluoride in the water supply. There are millions of people in this country with heart trouble. There are over 3,000,000 diabetics in this country and it is doubly hard on them. It not only attacks the pancreas which is the organ that produces our supply of natural insulin, but diabetics drink from 4 to 16 times as much water as non-diabetics.

Putting this foul stuff in the drinking water is establishing a very dangerous precedent. If the racketeers can get this in water systems all over the country, they can put all sorts of drugs in the water systems. Think of the tremendous waste and the colossal profits. That is why we must work so diligently to stop the spreading of this racket and at the same time work to free the captive cities and communities where people are victims of this skulduggery.

Here is something you should know. This same sodium fluoride that they want to put in our drinking water is the stuff they put into the drinking water of lions and tigers that perform at the crack of the whip of the trainer. It dulls their brains and makes them docile. You have undoubtedly seen these savage beasts sitting on their dunce stools and trying to growl and succeeding only in yawning. Once in a while a young beast, that has not had a sufficient build-up of this accumulative poison in his system, goes berserk and attacks and often kills another cat or even the trainer. The other cats just sit on their dunce stools and look on. Can you imagine two of a bunch of alley-cats getting into a vicious fight and the rest of the cats just sitting on their rear ends and looking on? Not if you know your alley-cats! And lions and tigers are cats. Don't let them put this foul stuff in your drinking water. A long time build-up of it will affect you just as it does the big cats. Don't let them retard your spark!

In view of all these things, if you want to tear your house down in 10 years so as to replace all your water piping and plumbing; if you relish the possibility of you or your children having mottled teeth; if you want to shorten the life span of all members of your family; if you like the possibility of having an idiot as a child or grandchild; if you think having arthritis is a pleasant experience; if you are looking forward to having a dull brain at middle age, by all means vote to have rat poison in your water hole.

SOME ADDITIONAL THOUGHTS

If putting sodium fluoride in the whole water supply is good for the children's teeth, let's put in baking soda, aspirin and tranquilizer pills and help everybody.

We don't have to shoot the rustlers who are trying to poison our water hole; we can stamp them out by stamping NO after the fluoridization proposition.

Remember that with the terrific quantity of this water soaking into the ground, it will be only a few years until the ground water is poisoned and you won't be able to even buy pure water from wells in your locality.

The air we breathe is continually becoming more and more poisonous. The foods that we eat contain more and more poisonous preservatives and are contaminated by more and more poisonous sprays. The only way in which we can dilute and wash these poisons from our systems is by drinking lots of pure, uncontaminated water. In the name of all that is pure, don't let them poison that!

Just a little rat poison in your drinking water is like just a few bed-bugs in your bed, only worse. Both are highly undesirable. The only difference is that the individual can exterminate those few bed-bugs but once the rat poison is in he can do nothing about getting it out.

Don't let them dump into our drinking water what we would not let them dump in our city dump. Let's dump the rat poison proposition.

They blatantly ask, "Don't you trust your doctor and your dentists?" The answer is, "Certainly I don't, nor do I trust anyone else who is teaming up with the racketeers who are trying to sell poison to be put in our entire water supply. I wouldn't trust my own wife if I caught her putting rat poison in my drinking water or my coffee."

How would you like to drink 4 to 8 rat-poison cocktails a day and then take a bath in the foul stuff?

The dentists, some of the doctors and the Parent Teachers Association are very soon going to have to do a lot of explaining to the American people about how they happened to line up with the racketeers to help them sell their excess rat poison to go into our water.

Remember that if the fluoridization measure carries, no matter how badly you want it, you will not be able to draw a glass of unpoisoned water in your whole district.

The manufacturers of baby foods refuse to put this foul stuff in their products. When they fluoridize their water supply they drill their own deep wells in order to get pure water. Their chemists know it is not fit for anyone to drink, much less young babies.

Since the first printing of this booklet two months ago we have won a tremendous victory in the East Bay District. Three California counties, Alameda, Contra Costa and Marin, defeated fluoridization June 7, 1960. Thirty-five cities and towns were involved including Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Richmond. This is the most populous area ever to vote on fluoridization—1,300,000 people. Chicago and Philadelphia have the foul stuff in their water but they did not get to vote on the issue. It was sneaked over on them.

In the East Bay District it was a bitter fight with no help from the newspapers. It was especially bitter in Marin where a hard core of unscrupulous die-hards phoned people that the Ku Klux Klan was putting up the money to defeat it. As a matter of fact we had very little money and some of the hard working members on the committee dug into their own pockets until it hurt. The promoters spent a lot of money (over $3,500.00) in big ads full of lies and insults in the paper of Marin in one week.

On June 9th, the San Francisco Chronicle, in an editorial headed "Tooth Decay Wins," said that the election was a victory for ignorance and stupidity over reason and common sense. They called us nuts, neurotics and know-nothings. Had the issue been a vital school bond approval, they undoubtedly would not have used such vituperative language. Even a dog would not have yelped so loudly unless someone had stepped on its tail.

Surely intelligent people must see that, with all the money spent, the lies told, the epithets and insults hurled, the furor and the frenzy, there must be something back of all this besides "helping the children's teeth." There is! It is the biggest piece of skulduggery ever put over on the American people!!

IT WAS DEFEATED ONCE IN THE JUNE PRIMARY

NOW

AGAIN!

The effort to contaminate Marin's Pure Water Supply continues. It will go on until defeated so thoroughly that diehard proponents are convinced that more Marin residents prefer to choose their own medicine, than those who would elect mass medication through the public water supply.
